CHICAGO WOMEN JOIN IN BATTLE OF PRODUCTION

Work Day and Night in Big Fuse Plant.

(This is the first of a series of articles on Chicago's women in war industries, who are playing a great part in America's march to victory.)

BY MARCIA WINN.

The manager of a big defense plant on Chicago's north side tries to make the whole story clear as he leads the way into what four months ago was a warehouse. He does it in two sentences. "We haven't stopped work for an hour since we got the new machinery in place," he says. "Sixty per cent of our employés are women."

This writer, the manager's companion, is the first woman other than an employé to enter the plant since it abandoned its output of peacetime luxuries for the necessities of war. Permission from the Chicago ordnance district was necessary to enter. A barrage of passes also is necessary. One of them, a bright orange placard, hangs on the visitor's dress and is inspected carefully at every barrier.

Lesson in Patriotism.

The manager and his companion walk into a hall as long and vast as the Chicago stadium. Machines rumble and roar in the distance. Conveyors loop overhead like giant roller coasters. A dull red freight car, armed guards at either end, is being loaded on a siding. A 40 foot pennant, red and white stitched in blue with the words, "Remember Pearl Harbor," hangs from the rafters.

Before them stretches a lesson in how to win a war. It is a lesson in patriotism and work, a stirring verse in the saga of America at war. It is gay and heartening, for it looks like a vast hall of picnic tables, each flying a brave little line of American flags. At the tables, their hands moving with fast, delicate precision over shining objects of aluminum, steel, brass, and copper are countless hundreds of women.

Many Hired Recently.

Many of these women worked here in peacetime, but an equal number have been hired in recent months to replace men called into the armed forces. They have come to work bearing as feminine arms for victory only good vision and manual dexterity. As forerunners of the women's industrial army of 3,500,000 which the government expects to see in action before the year is out, they are of transcendent importance in America's march toward victory.

Here sits a gray haired woman who 12 days ago was a seamstress. Now she is one of the fastest workers in an assembly line which depends for success on nimble, sensitive fingers. Watch her work. All she does is to run a delicate finger over a cylindrical steel tube. If she senses any roughness around the little hole bored in its center she rejects it.

Will Be Part of Fuse.

Now, this may seem a trivial undertaking, but on the contrary it is vital. Before this day is out that little piece of steel will be part of a fuse rumbling by train as certainly as tho drawn by magnetic force toward a 105 mm. shell of which it will become an integral part. One flaw in it, or in any of the other 44 tiny parts which go into making the fuse, and some day a bombardier, gunner, or cannoneer in Malta, Australia, India, or New Caledonia will have a dud shell in his gun. A single flaw here and 3,000 miles away a battle may be lost.

Here sits a blonde girl in a black silk dress and flowered chintz apron, her lunch in a brown bag beside her. A tiny American flag waves proudly from the sanding machine which she uses to remove burrs from a drilled hole. Her nails are a brilliant red, her hair a mass of careful curls. Not long ago she was a stenographer. Watch her dexterity. With one hand she puts the mechanism in the machine. With the other she reaches for a new one. Her speed is astounding.

"I used to be able to type 120 words a minute," she says.

There sits a plump middleaged

Pins, Pepper, and Car Hoods Are Curtailed

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 7.—A wide range of consumer goods was affected today by new orders issued by wartime government agencies. The decrees imposed the following limitations:

1. Prohibited the use of copper and its alloys in 100 civilian supply items, including common pins, cutlery, flashlights, fountain pens, garden tools, lamps, and electric razors. [A complete list will be found on page 10.]
2. Reduced sharply the production of replacement parts for passenger automobiles and light trucks, halting the manufacture of fenders, bumpers, doors, hoods, and many accessories.
3. Restricted spice packers' distribution of white pepper, allspice, cinnamon, cloves, nutmeg, ginger, and mace.
4. Banned grain shipments on the Great Lakes except by special permit so carriers may be used for iron ore deliveries. [Story on page 29.]
5. Ordered licensing and registration of dealers in waste, scrap, or salvage materials. [Story on page 29.]
6. Halted deliveries of rubber tires for use on hand trucks except for most essential purposes.

COPPER

The common household pin was hit in the War Production board order which included it among 100 civilian supply items to be added to lists of articles for which copper and its alloys cannot be used.

In 1940 and 1941 a third of the pins were made of brass—a copper alloy—and two thirds were of steel wire. The production of steel pins previously was curtailed.

Certain equipment used in the manufacture of pulp and paper also comes under the new copper ban. WPB officials have previously said that this might reduce the supply of newsprint. This paper mill equipment consists of beater bars and beaters, head boxes, Jordan bars, refiner bars, save-alls, and stock and water lines.

Order Effective at Once.

Effective immediately, manufacturers may not further process copper, brass, or bronze to make any of the items on the prohibited list. Items must not be manufactured, assembled, or finished after May 31.

The announcement said that altho the United States has control of approximately two-thirds of the world's copper production, there is a growing shortage for war production, aggravated by disruptions in shipments from South America. A conservation order issued on Oct. 21, and thereafter amended several times, halted use of copper in the manufacture of many items on March 31.

AUTO PARTS

The WPB order sharply cutting the production of replacement parts for passenger automobiles and light trucks for civilian use permits only specified functional parts to be pro-

HEAR FRANCE PLANS TO MOVE GOLD CACHE FROM MARTINIQUE

LONDON, May 8 [Friday] (AP).—The Daily Sketch declared today the Vichy government is preparing to move "nearly a billion dollars" in French gold reserves to Venezuela from Martinique. The Sketch reported that two French submarines are en route to pick up the treasure and that they would relay it to four neutral cargo boats chartered to take it to Venezuela.

"Vichy fears," the Sketch said, "that Martinique might be occupied by the United States if relations deteriorate because of the [British] occupation of Madagascar."

[It has been reported from time to time that millions of dollars in French gold—but less than half a billion—have been cached at Martinique since the fall of France. The latest report from Vichy sources was that Adm. Georges Robert, commander at Martinique, had orders to "blow up the gold" rather than surrender it to any other country.]

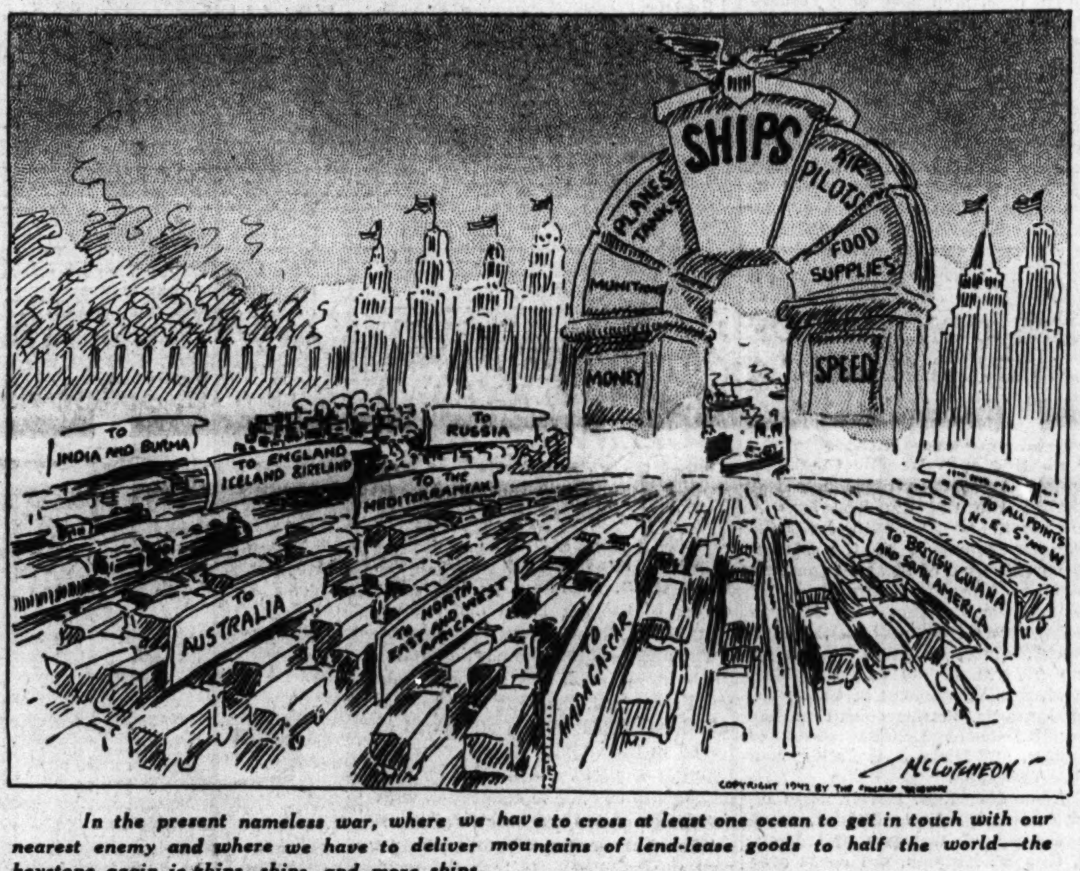
WITHOUT MONEY, WE CAN'T HAVE FOOD— WITHOUT FOOD, WE CAN'T HAVE MEN— WITHOUT SHIPS WE CAN'T USE ANY OF THE FOOD, MEN, ARMS, MUNITIONS OR SUPPLIES ——
—AND WITHOUT SPEED THERE MAY NOT BE ANY TRIUMPHAL ARCH.

In World War I., when we had only part of Europe, Archangel, and Siberia to supply, this was the keystone of our triumphal arch.



In the present nameless war, where we have to cross at least one ocean to get in touch with our nearest enemy and where we have to deliver mountains of lend-lease goods to half the world—the keystone again is ships, ships, and more ships.

LA GUARDIA STIRS BLACKOUT FUROR

Fifth Column Hoax Brings Deluge of Police.

New York, May 7 [Special].—Mayor Fiorello La Guardia staged a spectacular "incident" as a feature of a 20 minute blackout of upper Manhattan starting at 9:30 p. m. tonight, while air raid wardens armed with sawed-off billiard cues patroled Harlem.

"There is an attack by fifth columnists at the High Bridge water gate," the mayor telephoned Police Commissioner Valentine. "The water main is broken there. People are injured. Mobilize all of your available forces and assume command."

But when the mayor arrived at 174th street and Amsterdam avenue—location of the "bombed" water gate—at 9:32, all was quiet. Angrily he jerked the lever in the fire alarm box on the corner. And then it happened.

Came the Deluge.

Two fire companies, comprising 13 pieces of apparatus, and a rescue company—in all about 30 firemen.

Seventy-five motorcycle policemen with sidecars.

One hundred seventy-five radio patrolmen.

Two police emergency squads, each armed with a submachine gun and three rifles.

Two catastrophe units, each containing 16 nurses and 8 doctors.

Four patrol wagons.

They Avoid Accident.

How they all managed to reach the same spot without serious accident nobody could explain. But they did, and they were standing at attention for inspection after it was all over.

In addition the mayor telephoned the control center that an incendiary bomb had set fire to the New York Vocational High school,

Bataan Navy Hero Back to Tell of His Torpedo Boat Exploits

San Francisco, Cal., May 7 (AP).—Lieut. John D. Bulkeley and three fellow torpedo boat officers, who spirited Gen. Douglas MacArthur away from Corregidor, reported in person today that their mission to the Philippines had been completed at a cost to Emperor Hirohito of four ships, including a cruiser, four planes, and two armored landing boats. The boats they manned are fast 77 footers, studded with multiple torpedo tubes and heavy machine guns and known as PT boats.

Bulkeley, whose home is on Long Island, N. Y., told how on one occasion they came upon a heavily armored enemy cruiser in the dead of night. Result: "The ship sank completely in approximately 20 minutes."

The torpedo boats found Japanese armored landing boats attempting to sneak up behind Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright's men. Result: "We let 50 Japanese drown after one boat sank because they opened fire first and wounded one of our officers.

Kneeling Jap Surrenders.

"We took two prisoners, a Japanese captain and a private. The captain was on his knees, his hands in the air, crying: 'Me surrender! Me surrender!'"

Bulkeley did the reporting at a press conference with Lieut. Robert Kelly, New York City; Ensign Anthony B. Akers, Beverly Hills, Cal., and Ensign George E. Cox, Watertown, N. Y., standing around him. They had just been flown back to the United States.

His story of the cruiser sinking off Cebu Island follows:

"At approximately 3 p. m. the army furnished us information that a Japanese destroyer was proceeding down the Cebu coast. We planned to attack south of Cebu Isle in a narrow strait at midnight. PT 41, with Squadron Comm. Bulkeley and Ensign Cox, and PT 34, commanded by Lieut. Kelly and Ensign Richardson aboard, proceeded to the point and arrived at 11:30 p. m.

Both Boats Strike Twice.

"We met the Jap cruiser at this point, with one destroyer close by and three additional destroyers in the nearby vicinity. PT 41 attacked first and struck twice. PT 34, under heavy shellfire and illumination, attacked and struck twice. The cruiser, engulfed in heavy smoke, began sinking by the stern, finally going under in approximately 20 minutes.

"One enemy destroyer chased PT 34 to Cebu, where it [PT 34] was dive bombed by four seaplanes at dawn. Lieut. Kelly shot down one seaplane.

"PT 41 was chased to north Mindanao, where it lost its pursuers in a fast burst of speed."

"After the first attack," Bulkeley said, "the officers and sailors were cool and calm in action. They felt that in making the attack they were avenging Pearl Harbor and Cavite. All felt they did what was expected of them and no more. They were doing their job."

JAPAN INVADES INDIA! REPORT ALARMS BRITISH

Cross Burma Border

BERLIN, May 7 [from German broadcasts] — (AP). — The Tokio radio today said that Japanese forces from Burma had crossed the Indian border west of Paletwa and penetrated to within 62 miles of Chittagong. Earlier the Berlin radio broadcast a Tokio dispatch reporting the Japanese had seized Akyab, at the mouth of the Kaladan river, by driving over the steep Arakan mountains from the Irrawaddy valley to the east.

[Paletwa, about 80 miles north of the west Burma port of Akyab, is on the Kaladan river on the Indian-Burma frontier. It is about 70 air miles from Chittagong.]

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 7.—A report from the Burma front caused great anxiety here tonight. It was that the Japanese invaders, after occupying Akyab, west Burma port, had crossed the India-Burma frontier and were heading toward Chittagong in Bengal. The report served to emphasize the Japanese threat to India.

Chittagong is the second biggest seaport in Bengal and possesses excellent airdromes flanked by hills and valleys as well as a good harbor for submarines and light naval units. Its strategic importance is heightened by the fact that it is the southern terminus of the Assam-Bengal railway from which the new route from Assam to Chungking, Chinese capital, is projected. All land routes connecting India and Burma emanate from centers on this vital line. Capture of Chittagong would constitute a gigantic flanking move to isolate Burma and China from India by land.

Big Drive Against China Seen.

CHUNGKING, China, May 7 (AP).—The Japanese armies which have raced into China proper on the Burma road brought up artillery today in an attempt to break the Chinese defense lines, amid ominous indications of a general offensive against China.

Driving so hard and fast that the defenders were unable to conduct planned demolitions along the great supply road, the Japanese forces from Burma were known to have forged ahead at least as far as Chefang, 25 miles behind the fallen border town of Wanting.

[To students of Japan's military intentions it appeared the invaders may plan to synchronize a drive northeastward thru Yunnan toward Chungking with a new offensive from the old Japanese-Chinese fronts in Shansi, Honan, and Hupeh provinces, northeast and east of Chiang Kai-shek's capital.]

Jap Forces Turn East.

On the Burma road some 100 miles deeper into Yunnan from Chefang lies Paoshan, which has been bombed so heavily as to suggest it is an immediate Japanese objective.

On the west in narrow upper Burma the Japanese army which has been pursuing retreating British forces up the Chindwin valley toward India was said to have turned east, apparently to cut off Chinese units which are still fighting near Mandalay, which fell last week.

[Japanese forces have reported the occupation of Bhamo.]

Executions Charged to Japs.

CHUNGKING, China, May 8 [Friday]—(AP).—Scores of Chinese soldiers serving the Japanese puppet régime of Nanking and civilians as well have been executed by Japanese firing squads in several eastern provinces for suspected complicity in the widespread Chinese guerrilla activities that began April 20, the Central News agency said today.

HERE'S SUMMARY OF DEVELOPMENTS ON WAR FRONTS

Latest war developments:

The fall of Diego Suarez, Madagascar naval base, to the British after two days of fighting was admitted by the French government. A message to Vichy said the French would continue the fight to hold the remainder of the Indian ocean island. London said occupation of Diego Suarez and the harbor area cost the British 1,000 men.

The war department said it had an unofficial and unconfirmed report that the Japanese required surrender of American and Filipino forces still fighting in the Philippines as a condition for ending their attacks on Manila bay forts. A communique said a broadcast from a Japanese radio station in Manila asserted that Lieut. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright had acceded to this condition and issued orders to his field commanders.

Report India Invadad.

Japanese troops invaded India, according to reports, as other forces driving into China along the Burma road were bringing up artillery to attempt to break Chinese defense lines.

A great naval and air battle now is under way in the southwest Pacific area, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's spokesman announced. The spokesman indicated that it was a continuation of the battle, fought May 4, in which eight Japanese ships, seven of them warships, had been sunk near Solomon Islands and four others damaged. America lost three planes and the Japanese six, it was announced. The sinking of three enemy ships in the Pacific by submarines also was disclosed.

British Cruiser Sunk.

Loss of the 10,000 ton cruiser Edinburgh and four merchant ships taking supplies to Russia in a four day attack by German naval and air forces in the Arctic was announced by the British.

West of Leningrad the Russians reported they were driving a wedge between two German armies and encircling one detachment in an important sector.

6 Army Flyers Die as Bomber Crashes, Burns

Alexandria, La., May 7 (AP).—Six army flyers from nearby Esler field were killed late today when a bomber crashed and burned 12 miles east of here.

The dead were identified by army officers as follows:

Second Lieut. Thomas S. Gillam, 27, born Appomattox County, Va., father, H. S. Gillam, Statesville, N. C.

Staff Sergeant Thomas R. Numbers, 26, father, William D. Numbers, Glendale, Cal.

Milwaukee Cadet Killed.

Victoria, Tex., May 7 (AP).—Richard E. Jacques, 23 years old, Milwaukee, Wis., a Foster field aviation cadet, was killed last night in a trainer plane crash. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Jacques, Milwaukee, and was a graduate of the University of Chicago.

FLEETS FIGHT ON AFTER U. S. SINKS 12 ENEMY SHIPS

BULLETIN.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, May 8 (Friday)—(AP).—The sinking of a Japanese aircraft carrier and a heavy cruiser and badly damaging of another aircraft carrier and another heavy cruiser in new American successes in the great southwest Pacific naval battle were announced today.

(Map on page 5.)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, May 8 [Friday]—(AP).—A great naval and air battle is now under way in the southwest Pacific area, a spokesman at Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

The spokesman indicated the battle was a continuation of the action announced yesterday in a Washington communique, which reported that heavy damage had been inflicted on Japanese naval units off the Solomon Islands Monday.

Attack Enemy Shipping.

His statement followed swiftly the disclosure that allied bombers yesterday had attacked Japanese shipping in the Louisiade Islands, off the southeastern tip of New Guinea, sinking one transport. The spokesman did not give any additional information on this action or the naval battle he said still was under way, and did not indicate whether they were directly linked.

[The presence of Japanese transports, however, in the Louisiades might mean the beginning of the long expected assault upon Port Moresby, vital allied outpost some 300 miles to the west on the southern shore of New Guinea. It might even mean a thrust directly at the eastern coast of Australia itself.]

The regular communique from MacArthur's headquarters also reported that eight Japanese Zero fighter planes had attacked Port Moresby and that one had been shot down.

Shoot Down Japanese Plane.

Allied reconnaissance planes flying over Lae on New Guinea island were reported to have shot down another Japanese plane trying to intercept them.

Washington's announcement that an American naval force sank eight Japanese ships, damaged four, and destroyed six planes at a total American loss of only three planes was greeted with cheers in Canberra's house of representatives.

INTERCEPT JAP SHIPS

Washington, D. C., May 7 (AP).—A United States naval force, intercepting a Japanese squadron apparently striking at the flank of the supply line to Australia, sank eight enemy vessels, damaged four, and destroyed six planes at a total American cost of only three planes, the navy announced today.

The sea battle, regarded here as possibly the first in which strictly American forces have engaged the Japs in a general naval encounter, took place last Monday near the Solomon Islands, lying northeast of Australia and northwest of the supply route bases of New Caledonia and the New Hebrides Islands.

The naval communique reporting the results of the battle also disclosed that United States submarines operating in the western Pacific had sunk three more Japanese ships.

Summary of Foe's Losses.

IN THE SOLOMONS:

IN SUBMARINE OPERATIONS:

The sinkings raised the unofficially tabulated total of Japanese ship losses inflicted in united nations operations to 250, including 195 war-

Army Seeks Space to House 20,000 Cadets.

While word was awaited last night on the army's decision whether to buy or lease a group of Chicago hotels as a reception center for 20,000 air corps cadets, more details were learned of the plan and the reasons that led to its being proposed.

A group of air force officers, headed by Maj. Richard Daley and including several from Chanute field, spent more than a week in Chicago surveying various areas of the city that it was hoped would fulfill all the requirements. A group of hotels on the south side were studied, another group on the north side, and several in the loop. But the Michigan avenue group, these officers decided, filled the bill. Maj. Daley has returned to Miami, Fla., and the other officers have departed.

Three Being Considered.

Three of the Michigan avenue hotels under consideration by the government are the Stevens, the Congress, and the Auditorium. The Blackstone also was understood to be under consideration, but officials there would not confirm it. The Palmer House and the Lake Shore Drive hotel also were surveyed. Joseph P. Binns, managing director of the Stevens, said:

"It is common knowledge that such a survey was made. What the recommendations were by the air force officers we do not know. We have nothing more from them or from Washington."

Some of the problems were the feeding, housing, transporting, and drilling of the projected 20,000 recruits. Transportation offered the biggest hurdle. It was found that the Illinois Central suburban system could bring the men to within a few blocks of the hotels.

Drill Space in Grant Park.

Another problem was the finding of a park or other vacant area of sufficient size for the huge drill fields necessary. This was found right in the front yard of the Michigan avenue hotels, Grant park.

The hotel idea came to the fore first in Miami Beach, Fla. The army, up to April 29, had taken over 57 of the 329 hotels in that city. The air force was faced with the difficulty of providing training facilities when its prospective size was boosted suddenly from its present force to between two and three million men. And it's about as big as the rest of the army now. It was found it would take 90 days to build even temporary barracks, without considering special buildings such as kitchens, lecture halls, supply warehouses, and such. The hotels offered the solution to most of these problems, with huge kitchens already in, ballrooms for lecture purposes, basements for storage, and rooms for barracks.

Favored for Central Location.

The reason Chicago was favored for a reception center, it was learned, was its central location and its position as the hub of the nation's railroad system. Both east and west coast sites were surveyed and dropped in favor of the Chicago site, it was said.

The plan contemplates the receiving, inoculation, outfitting, and preliminary training and screening of some 20,000 men a month.

Awaiting the decision of the secretary of war is the final detail in the plan, whether the government shall lease or buy the properties under consideration. First thought on the subject by the war department was that it would prefer to lease, but the owners of the properties preferred to sell under an arrangement to repurchase after the war, because the property owners expect the buildings and equipment to get the hardest use they ever have had.

Present plans call for an air force of two million men by the end of this year. No goals have yet been set for 1943, but another million has been mentioned repeatedly in army circles.

See Increased Hotel Business.

Hotel men said yesterday that the location here of the proposed induction center would swell the city's transient hotel trade. Other hotels than those involved in the government's plans would be called upon to handle the transient business which would develop as a result of the location of the induction center here. This trade, hotel men said, would include thousands of relatives and friends who would visit recruits. They voiced the opinion that this new business would more than offset any loss of convention patronage that might result from the establishment of the proposed induction center.

New Flag Proposed

Constellations of the proposed flag, in order of states' admittance. Key: 1—Vt., Ky., Tenn. 2—O., La., Ind., Miss., Ill., Ala., Me., Mo. 3—Ark., Mich., Fla., Tex., Ia., Wis., Cal. 4—Minn., Ore., Kas., W. Va., Nev., Neb. 5—Colo., Mont., N. D., S. D., Wash., Wyo., Idaho, Utah. 6—Okla., Ariz., N. M.

A proposed new design for the field of the American flag was urged on the Daughters of the American Revolution at their meeting in Chicago yesterday by Miss Dolly Breitenbaugh of Independence, Mo. Miss Breitenbaugh's flag would have the 13 original colonies in a circle with the other states grouped in constellations around them, in the order of their admittance. One advantage, Miss Breitenbaugh held, was that this would provide a place for Alaska's star when, as, and if it is admitted. Anyway, she said, congress never had approved the design of the present flag.

U. S. MAY WANT AUDITORIUM; END FUND CAMPAIGN

Activities on behalf of the Auditorium Music Foundation, a nonprofit organization to raise $400,000 by public subscription to save the old hotel and building at Michigan avenue, Wabash avenue, and Congress street from the wreckers and establish a music center, will cease for the duration of the war, it was announced yesterday by Robert Hall McCormick, president. The trustees said:

"In view of the publicity given to the probability of the government taking over the property and inasmuch as the trustees realize that this property would be ideal for governmental purposes and probably will cost less than any other building of equal size, facilities, and advantages, they have decided to terminate their activities on behalf of the Auditorium Music Foundation for the duration of the war.

"They are, however, confident that the citizens of Chicago want a music Foundation and when the government is ready to relinquish the property they will continue their efforts."

WCTU TO LAUNCH DRY ARMY DRIVE ON MOTHERS' DAY

Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith, head of the W. C. T. U., announced in her Evanston headquarters yesterday that a campaign to impose wartime prohibition on the armed forces would be undertaken Sunday, which is Mothers' day. She said all pastors and rabbis are being asked by the W. C. T. U. to urge their congregations, at the end of their services, to write or wire their congressmen and the President to back legislation which would end the sale of beer in the training camps and any sort of intoxicants within 25 miles of them.

Springfield, Ill., May 7 (AP).—The state division of correction announced today that 131 prisoners in state penitentiaries had been ordered released on parole after hearings in April. A total of 441 applications were heard during the month. The division announced that 34 parolees who are serving with the nation's armed forces had been granted final discharges from their paroles.

BROOKS PRAISES AVIATION SCHOOL PLANS AT U. OF I.

Willard Findings Back Up Senator's Proposal.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 7.—Sen. Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.] today commended and placed in the Congressional Record a report favoring a program of education and research in air transportation, including a university airport, at the University of Illinois.

The report was prepared for the trustees of the university by President A. C. Willard and Dean M. L. Enger. Gov. Dwight H. Green has been requested to include in a call for a special session of the state legislature an appropriation of $200,000 for the acquisition of land for the proposed airport. The airport would cost about $1,750,000, including $800,000 for grading, runways, etc., and $750,000 for buildings. The project contemplates assistance from the Work Projects administration and the Civil Aeronautics authority.

Report Backs Brooks.

Sen. Brooks told the senate that the report "emphasizes my recent recommendations for the training of young men in the public schools, the colleges and the universities in flying."

"One of the most important services of a university airport," states the report, "would be to provide flight training for civilian units, as well as for military and naval aviation units. The Civil Aeronautics authority is continuing and expanding its program of civilian pilot training [CPT] at colleges and universities where suitable, approved flying fields are available.

Favor College Flying.

"The navy has a greatly expanded aviation program [known as V-5] for college men, and the navy recommends that men enlisted in the V-5 aviation cadet program get flying experience while still in college by enrolling in the CPT course at their own universities. An airport at this university would make it possible to establish a Reserve Officers' Training corps for the air corps for the army. This branch of the service will be very important in the future, and an aviation unit should be included in the university's ROTC brigade."

WOMAN LAWYERS DINE CONSULS OF LATIN AMERICA

Consular representatives of seven Central and South American countries and their wives attended a dinner meeting sponsored by the Women's Bar Association of Illinois last night in the Chicago Bar association's room at 29 South La Salle street. The purpose of the session was an exchange of ideas on common problems of the Americas.

Among the speakers were Ricardo G. Hill, consul general of Mexico; E. da C. Souza, Brazilian consul; Ignacio Algarra, consul of Cuba; Edorica Morias, vice consul of Cuba; Ernest Lecointe, acting consul of Bolivia; R. Carlos Lebret, consul of Uruguay, and Diego José Fallon, consul of Colombia.

Commander H. R. Harris, legal officer of the 9th naval district, made the address of welcome and Lieut. Col. Guy M. Kinman, 6th corps area judge advocate general, made the closing remarks.

SHOOTS BANDIT MENACING HIM WITH REVOLVER

When a Negro yesterday poked a gun into his back and attempted to rob him in a hallway at 5634 South Park way, Emil Agostino, 26 years old, a laundry driver, drew his own gun and shot the bandit in the abdomen and thigh. The gunman, William Leavelle, 22, of 722 Liberty street, was taken to the Bridewell hospital, where physicians said he may die. Agostino was released after a statement to the police that he carried a revolver for his own protection in making deliveries.

ANNOUNCE NAVY PLANS TO EXPAND GLENVIEW BASE

Plans for a considerable expansion of the aviation training facilities at the United States Naval Reserve aviation base at Glenview, have been approved by the navy department, Capt. R. D. Spalding, public works officer of the 9th naval district, announced at Great Lakes yesterday.

The new program includes additions to the flying field, new personnel and buildings. Capt. Spalding said several additional fields will be purchased or leased in the vicinity of Glenview for training of pilots, and that much new paving will be done in connection with expansion of the air base's facilities.

The announcement confirms in part unofficial reports that the navy plans to establish in the Chicago area what may become its largest inland pilot training base. According to these reports, the plan calls for expansion of the Glenview field to 1,000 acres, creation of a new base on 1,100 acres near Arlington Heights, and clearing of six to eight small practice airports between the two larger fields.

CAMERA RECORDS WOMAN'S SUICIDE LEAP IN MIDAIR

Buffalo, N. Y., May 7 (AP).—Photographer I. Russell Sorgi made the shot of a lifetime here today when his camera caught the midair flight of an unidentified woman who leaped to her death from a downtown hotel window ledge. The dramatic picture reached the far corners of the country through Associated Press wirephoto.

Sorgi, 30 year old Courier-Express-News photographer, was returning to his office after a routine assignment when he saw a police car and ambulance racing toward the downtown section.

He followed the machines to the Genesee hotel and saw a small crowd gathered to watch a woman on an eighth floor window ledge, her hair and dress blown by the wind.

Sorgi made two shots as she clung to the window's edge, then put a fresh film holder into his camera.

As he pulled the slide from the holder, Sorgi recounted, he heard screams from the crowd and saw the woman slide forward, and an instant later plunge downward. He snapped the picture with the lens wide open and the shutter set at 1,000th of a second.

PORTRAIT OF RED AGITATOR WHO ASSAILS TRIBUNE

Morris Childs an Alias; Born in Kiev, Russia.

Various individuals and organizations have attacked the Chicago Tribune because of its insistence on an all-out American war effort. In the belief the public should know the background of these attacks, The Tribune will print factual stories about its detractors from time to time. The first in the series is presented below.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

Under cover of the Russian war effort, Communists in the United States are waging a propaganda campaign against champions of the American way of life.

The Red objective today, as it always has been, is to force communism on the American people. THE TRIBUNE, as an unswerving exponent of Americanism, has become a principal target for the local Communists to shoot at.

Fires May Day Broadside.

Morris Childs, Illinois secretary of the Communist party, heaped venom on THE TRIBUNE at the May day rally in the Civic Opera house a week ago. He followed the new party propaganda line to the effect that this newspaper "sabotages the war effort." He attacked the Tribune editor as "high priest of the 5th column."

"A favorite theme is that midwesterners have different things to defend than do the 'moneyed interests' of the east," said the No. 1 Illinois communist leader. "This is an attempt to drive a wedge in the unity of the nation."

This is the story of the career of the short, thin, dark, curly haired Red agitator who goes by the name of Morris Childs.

Much of Past Veiled.

State department records show that Childs was born in Kiev, Russia, 40 years ago. Like so many of his comrades he has drawn a veil of secrecy over his past.

But Childs was forced to pull back the veil a trifle in 1940 when he applied for a passport to go back to confer with his bosses in Moscow. He had to reveal to the state department that his real name was "Chilovsky." He had been masquerading under the Childs alias for years.

What called him back to Moscow on that occasion has not been disclosed. The Chicago police were told Childs was known in Moscow as "Morris Summers" and that he had business with the OGPU, the dreaded soviet secret police.

Police Figure Since 1933.

Childs first came to police attention in 1933 when he was an organizer for the Communist party in Milwaukee. He wrote for the Daily Worker, newspaper organ of the Reds, and figured in building up the Young Communist league. Childs was the Communist candidate for governor of Wisconsin in 1934.

Transferred to Chicago in 1935, Childs became "agitprop" [director of agitation propaganda] in communist district No. 8, which embraces Illinois and Indiana. He immediately took an active interest in the affairs of the communist front organization, American League Against War and Fascism, which later became the League for Peace and Democracy. The league folded up after exposure by the Dies congressional committee investigating un-American activities.

Backer of Nazi-Red Pact.

In 1935 Childs ran as the Communist candidate for congressman at large from Illinois and in 1938 he was the Reds' nominee for United States senator. He participated in many peace rallies, especially after Russia and Germany signed their nonaggression pact which heralded the outbreak of the war in the fall of 1939.

Childs and his comrades were violently opposed to the "imperialistic war" in Europe before Hitler finally attacked the soviet. During this period the Communists in Chicago and thruout the country translated their opposition to the war into a number of subversive actions. They fomented slowdown and sitdown strikes in American plants which desperately were expanding the production of airplanes, tanks, and guns. The Reds are masters at the art of sabotage.

Opponent of "Imperial" War.

Childs, the Russian born Chicago Red, who currently is attacking the Americanism of Americans, subscribed to the United States Communist party platform adopted on June 1, 1940. The platform opposed national defense measures, called for support of the "peace policy" of the soviet union, and read as follows:

"Not a cent, not a gun, not a man for war preparations and the imperialist war! Resist the militarization and armaments program of the administration and congress!"

It will be recalled that Earl Browder, national secretary of the communists, was arrested by federal authorities for passport fraud soon after the Reds enunciated this "peace policy." He was sent to federal prison for four years.

Childs is currently occupied with the campaign to free Browder "as a contribution to national unity." He is a member of the national executive committee of the Communist party in this country. The committee is the supreme council of the party.

In spare time Childs lectures in the Workers school at 64 West Randolph street. This is where young revolutionaries are injected with communist doctrine and sent forth to agitate for making a soviet out of the United States.

May Queens

Mary Blake, 20 years old, a junior in the college of liberal arts, was the Northwestern queen. She was formally crowned last evening on the campus meadow. Miss Blake is a member of the women's athletic association of the university and is treasurer of the Delta Gamma sorority chapter. Her home is at Wooster, Ohio.

George Gets a Birthday Gift; U. S. Gets a Marine

Rockford, Ill., May 7 [Special].—George M. Hodge Jr., East High school senior, had tried for months to gain permission from his mother to join the marine corps. Today he celebrated his 18th birthday anniversary. His gift from his mother was permission to enlist. George, a six footer, immediately rushed to the marine corps recruiting office. "Now we're getting some place," he said. "I hope I get into combat duty soon."

CHICAGOANS GIVE 17 MILLIONS TO CHARITY DRIVES

Collectors to Raise Quota for This Year.

Chicago last year contributed $8,396,691 to war relief thru 32 agencies. In addition the city donated approximately $8,466,883 to local charitable organizations, bringing total gifts for the year to $16,863,574.

This is without taking into account various of the more informal benefits to which some unhappy Chicagoans contribute with a willingness no more spurious than that of a man who surrenders his wallet with a gun at his back. The current version of this form of philanthropy is the Sheriff O'Brien Benevolent hall. It is to be held in the Morrison hotel, May 29, and tickets are $1 a copy, but there are not likely to be any counterfeits as the employés of the sheriff have been furnished them in bunches of 25. No one would think of returning any unsold. One way or another, it's a sure sellout.

Leaders of drives for the war relief organizations estimate the demand for aid will be doubled in 1942 and that the city's requirement will remain virtually static. Thus Chicago will be asked to contribute approximately 26 million dollars to various funds this year.

Red Cross Leads.

Three American organizations, and five principal foreign groups and 24 miscellaneous organizations registered with the department of state to collect money for transmission to belligerent countries got the $8,396,691 collected in Chicago last year.

The largest sum was collected by the American Red Cross—$4,072,228. The United Service organization obtained $668,649 and the amount given to the Navy Relief society is undetermined.

Among the foreign organizations the Jewish groups collected the largest sum—$1,614,537. The British War Relief Society, Inc., was next with $800,000 and the Greek War Relief Association, Inc., third with $282,473. An additional $75,000 went to United China Relief, and Russian War Relief, Inc., obtained $11,190.

Organizations for the aid of Poland accounted for more than half of the $841,614 contributed to the 24 fund collecting agencies registered with the state department.

Some Drives Fail.

During the last year the Polish American council, 1018 Noble street, collected $295,877 in cash and relief in kind valued at $118,500, a total of $414,377. Norwegian Relief, Inc., 135 South La Salle street, collected $224,166 in 1941.

Other fund drives for foreign countries were not so successful. Sums collected ranged from little more than $1,000 up to the $79,743 obtained by the Czecho-Slovak Relief, 4049 West 26th street. One organization, registered for Polish aid, received only $2.55. It has done better, however, in 1942, collecting $209 in the first two months.

Five hundred forty-one organizations to raise money for relief of persons in wartorn countries were registered with the state department in Washington in 1941 and, according to their reports, collected $27,943,781 in cash and $10,061,269 in kind. Chicago's $841,614 contribution represents 3 per cent of the national total.

Virtual failure of many of the fund collecting drives is attributed to the rapidity with which one has followed the other. Often several drives were being conducted simultaneously, and altho they usually were aimed at different groups of nationals, there was some interference.

Campaigns Are Numerous.

The American Red Cross campaign was ended March 15. Two weeks later, on April 1, the Navy Relief society, the United Service organization, United China Relief, and Russian War Relief, Inc., started fund raising drives. In addition, the Queen Wilhelmina Fund, Inc., to aid Dutch sufferers is just getting under way with a $50,000 campaign.

The USO is asking for $1,750,000; United China Relief seeks $700,000, and the Navy Relief society wants $330,000. The miscellaneous foreign groups carry on a continuous appeal for funds.

These campaigns hardly will have been completed by July when the Community Fund, which supplies part of the budgets of 186 Protestant, Catholic, Jewish, and non-sectarian charities, starts its 1942 campaign for approximately $3,500,000. Because this sum provides for only a part of the budgets of the 186 organizations, they will in addition thru individual effort try to collect another $4,800,000.

Hit Chicago Hard.

Public spirited Chicagoans who have devoted a large portion of their time to various fund raising campaigns believe directors of national relief agencies overload Chicago because it is a large industrial city.

"There is a wide difference of opinion on this subject," said Pierce Atwater, executive director of the Community Fund, who has had many years of experience in fund solicitation. "Chicago's equitable portion of any national goal should be about 5 per cent. In metropolitan Chicago we have about 3 per cent of the population and about 4 per cent of the buying power of the nation and all sorts of other calculations show Chicago ranging from 3 to 5 per cent.

"We believe that when the national agencies assign us quotas beyond 5 per cent there is a large question of equity involved."

List Registered Groups.

In addition to the larger organizations which conducted successful drives the state department permitted the following organizations to solicit relief funds in Chicago in 1941 for transmission to belligerent countries:

Polish Welfare Association of the Archdiocese of Chicago, 203 North Wabash avenue. [Poland.]

Polish National Alliance of the United States of North America, 1514 Division street. [Poland, Canada, and England.]

Norwegian Relief, Inc., 135 South La Salle street. [Norway.]

Czecho-Slovak Relief, 4049 West 26th street. [Czecho-Slovakia, Great Britain and dominions, France, and Belgium.]

American-Polish National council, 4055 Melrose street. [Poland.]

Ethiopian Redemption Committee, Inc., 120 South La Salle street. [Ethiopia.]

Albanian War Victims Relief association, 205 Wacker drive. [Albania.]

Lithuanian National Relief fund, 134 North La Salle street. [Germany.]

Les Filles de France, 453 Fullerton parkway. [France.]

French War Veterans Association of Illinois, care of Marcel Garancher, 2306 Grace street. [France and Germany.]

The International Hebrew Christian Alliance, 4919 North Albany avenue. [England, Hungary, and Poland.]

Friends of the RAF Comforts committee, 5514 Blackstone avenue. [England.]

Registration of the Polish Welfare association, the Albanian War Victims Relief association, and Friends of the RAF was canceled by the state department at the request of the organizations. That of the Ethiopian Redemption committee and Callard of London was canceled by the department for failure to comply with regulations of the 1939 Neutrality act which required the registration.

Wins Divorce

ANN SOTHERN.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 7 (AP).—Blonde Ann Sothern won a divorce today from Orchestra Leader Roger Pryor after she told the judge that Pryor's insistence on flying constituted cruelty. "We separated twice before our final separation," the film actress testified in Superior Judge Harry R. Archbald's court, "and all three breakups were due to the same thing—airplanes. I am terribly frightened by airplanes and begged him not to fly. But he kept on and would make cross-country trips in his plane, despite my protests."

Escaped Nazi Flyer Back in Custody of Canadians

WINDSOR, Ont., May 7 (AP).—Lieut. Hans Peter Krug, Nazi air force prisoner who escaped from the camp at Bowmansville, Ont., April 16 and was recaptured at San Antonio, Tex., last week was turned over to Canadian military authorities here today.

Rescue 2 Flyers Stranded a Night on Great Salt Lake

Salt Lake City, Utah, May 7 (AP).—Two hungry, thirsty army flyers were rescued today from the wreckage of a training plane in Great Salt Lake. The plane smashed up on a shoal yesterday afternoon but was not located until 9 a. m. today, with its two passengers sitting on the stub of a wing. They were Second Lieut. Irving C. Eels, Los Angeles, Cal., and Second Lieut. Robert E. Fabian, Kansas City, Mo.

Kealy Named as Chairman of Surface Lines Engineers

Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe yesterday appointed Philip J. Kealy as chairman of the board of supervising engineers of the Chicago Surface Lines to succeed Bion J. Arnold, who died Jan. 29. Kealy has been a member of the board for eight years and previously was president of the Kansas City Railways company. He was a colonel of the 138th infantry, 35th division, in the World war. The engineering board was set up under the 1907 street car franchises to supervise the accounts of the surface lines. Arnold served as chairman from 1907 until his death. Kealy's salary as chairman is $15,000 a year.

WHERE IS THIS HOME YOU WANT?

U.S. CHARTS DOOM OF RAIL, AIR, CAR PLEASURE TRIPS

Tires and Autos Likely to Be Curbed.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 7.—Measures to regulate, ration and curtail all forms of passenger travel are being considered in the Office of Defense Transportation, it was learned today. The director, Joseph B. Eastman, is in daily and almost nightly conference on proposals to:

1. Ration gasoline on a nation-wide basis to conserve tires.
2. Requisition tires and automobiles from private owners.
3. Restrict sales of railroad and air tickets to essential travel—no pleasure travel.

Curbs May Come Soon.

"All three of these drastic conservation measures are being formulated to be invoked if and when they are necessary," said one of Eastman's aids today, "and that may be sooner than the general public appreciates. The rubber now on 33 million motor vehicles is needed for transportation essential to the military or to civilian welfare. None can be wasted. There is a similar demand for the full capacity of the railroads and air lines."

"There won't be any vacation travel this summer," he continued. "The big football games and the world series this fall won't have special trains, nor will crowds be able to come for any distance by automobile or bus. There won't be any 'fishermen's special' trains for week-end outings from Chicago and New York."

The extravagant use of transportation for the Kentucky Derby aroused conservationists against big sporting events. On the same day, many government employés and young army and navy officers with office jobs here motored a hundred miles for a fashionable horse race at Warrenton, Va.

War Department Also Concerned.

Altho Eastman had been delegated by President Roosevelt to devise a policy for curtailing nonessential uses of transportation and for distributing available capacities for maximum utility, the war department is also vitally concerned. Robert P. Patterson, undersecretary of war, at a press conference today emphasized that victory requires preservation of the million tons of rubber now rolling the highways.

Patterson said tires can no longer be used for petting parties, for visits to see relatives, or for trips to county fairs "and other nonessential driving."

"Measures will be taken," he said, "to see that those who don't understand will be made to understand."

Plans to Buy "Extra" Tires.

The undersecretary said that the government, as an initial step, plans to buy extra tires from private owners. Sales would be voluntary and by "extra" is meant, for the time being, more than one spare. Patterson, Eastman, and other high federal officials have approved the principle of bills pending in the senate which would authorize the government to requisition tires or automobiles from private owners.

Legislation directing the Reconstruction Finance corporation to purchase from retailers all automobiles and trucks manufactured since Jan. 16 and any others previously manufactured that may be needed for war purposes was introduced in the house today by Rep. Bernard J. Gehrmann [Prog., Wis]. His bill would remove rationing and other restrictions on the remaining vehicles in dealers

The authorities are said to be alarmed by a reaction of a minority of motor owners to the confiscation discussions, and this may advance the date for drastic government action. It has been reported that some car owners have abandoned plans to prolong the life of their tires on a theory, officially condemned, that they might as well get as much pleasure as possible from their automobiles before the government takes the tires.

Shortage of Rubber Called 'Fake'; Inquiry Is Ordered

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 7.—Impressed by testimony that the President and the American people "have been sold a gold brick by the fake rubber shortage," a house committee voted today to make a thoro investigation to determine whether the drastic civilian curtailments on rubber imposed by the government are necessary.

The action was taken after Elliott E. Simpson, an independent rubber dealer of New York City, had testified in both public and closed sessions before the house coinage, weights and measures committee which is considering a joint resolution for procurement of raw natural rubber from western hemisphere sources.

War Aid Disagrees.

At the very time that testimony before house committees was blasting two of the pet bogies hoisted before the public—the alleged rubber shortage and hoarding of scrap metal—Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson was telling a press conference that the rubber shortage had become "so acute" that the time has come to stop "Sunday trips, visits to Cousin Joe, and petting parties."

Simpson, who has been in the rubber business for 26 years, told the committee that Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones, Price Administrator Leon Henderson, "and the 12 other agencies in charge of the rubber program should get together on rubber statistics, which make them and the government appear foolish by their contradictions."

He said that Henderson, thru his testimony before the senate Truman committee, "proved his ignorance of the rubber situation."

Henderson Was Gloomy.

Henderson painted a gloomy picture when he appeared before the Truman committee, saying there may not be even enough rubber for war purposes, much less civilian uses, during the next three years. Jones complained before the same committee that the British and Dutch, with their rubber monopoly in the western Pacific, refused to sell this government all the rubber it wanted. Recently, that administration has been blaming foreign control of patents for failure to provide adequate synthetic rubber production.

Steps taken so far by the government to produce rubber or artificial rubber in the United States are considered highly inadequate by experts. It was disclosed before the Truman committee by William L. Batt, materials director for the WPB, that President Roosevelt rejected a recommendation in September, 1940, from the national defense advisory commission, that facilities be provided then for production of 100,000 tons of synthetic rubber annually. It was estimated to require 12 to 15 months to execute this program.

It was not until much later that a synthetic rubber program was initiated. Under a greatly expanded program, production will reach an annual rate of only 90,000 tons by the end of 1942, 250,000 tons by June, 1943, and the present goal of 700,000 tons annually will not be attained until 1944. The government is experimenting with various processes.

Much Available Elsewhere.

According to Cyrus Newman, head of a Philadelphia alcohol company, the production of rubber from alcohol involves the shortest process, but only 80,000 tons of the 700,000 ton program have been allocated to this process, the remainder to be derived from petroleum. The government is planting in the west guayule seedlings, a source of natural rubber. More than 1,000 acres in seedlings have been planted near Salinas, Cal., and this is to be expanded to 60,000 or 70,000 acres by next year. It takes one to five years to obtain rubber from this source. So it is doubtful whether material results can be obtained before 1946 or 1947, say experts.

According to Simpson's testimony there is plenty of rubber available in this hemisphere, making the United States independent of the former rubber sources now Japanese held.

"There is a minimum of 1,200,000 to 3,000,000 tons of crude rubber in the western hemisphere in mature trees," Simpson told the committee.

Estimates U. S. Needs.

He said that 800,000 tons of crude rubber and that available thru reclamation is all that is needed for war purposes and all civilian necessities, which is easily provided for in this hemisphere.

"We cannot expect some Central and South American countries to sell us rubber when we are paying 50 cents a pound to one and trying to buy it for 22 cents from another. We must have one fixed price for all to get the rubber we need," he told the committee.

Missed Chance to Stock Up.

"The Rubber Reserve corporation could have stocked up hundreds of thousands of additional tons last year. In May, 1941, they were asked to pay 30 cents a pound by Brazil. The RRC refused and offered 20 cents. Germany paid the price and bought up the available supplies.

"The American people are being persecuted and our war effort is hurt by the lack of official knowledge of the rubber situation, unless those in charge are withholding some policy from the public."

The resolution before the house coinage committee was introduced by Rep. Charles I. Faddis [D., Pa.].

REVEAL RUBBER PURCHASE PACT OF U. S.-BRAZIL

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, May 7 [Special].—Finance Minister Arthur De Sousa Costa today revealed the basis of Brazil's agreement with the United States on the price control and rubber supply. Brazil agrees to sell the United States rubber reserve company all rubber produced in excess of internal consumption at a basic price of 39 cents a pound.

The Rubber Reserve company will pay a premium of 2½ cents a pound for all rubber received in excess of 5,000 tons up to 10,000 tons and of 5 cents a pound over 10,000. These premiums, plus a credit of $5,000,000 granted to Brazil will be used to develop rubber production.

Brazil will do everything in her power to develop rubber production. The agreement is for five years. After two years prices will be adjusted according to circumstances.

PROPOSED CURBS ON TRAVEL STIR RAIL, BUS CHIEFS

Say They Have Cars for All Traffic.

Chicago railway and bus system officials were seriously concerned last night by the proposals to curtail all forms of nonessential passenger travel now being considered by the Office of Defense Transportation in Washington, D. C.

One railroad executive who, like others, refused to let his name be used, declared "they apparently have gone nuts in Washington." He said the roads are able to meet all foreseeable passenger traffic demands, including troop movements.

Railroad men said hundreds of thousands of persons in the Chicago area would be denied service if the restrictions are imposed. About 40,000 go to Florida by rail thru the Chicago gateway during the winter season. California draws about 50,000 persons from December to March, and about 35,000 travel by train to the Rocky mountains each summer. Summer traffic to the Wisconsin and upper Michigan resorts was estimated at 100,000.

Traffic to Race Tracks.

It was estimated that trains take 1,000 persons to the Lincoln Fields race track on an average day, 2,500 on Saturdays, and 6,000 on holidays. Train traffic to the Arlington track was said to be larger.

Railroad men were wondering what attitude the government would take toward special cars for baseball clubs, in view of President Roosevelt's expressed view that continuation of baseball is essential to the national morale.

Another question raised by railroad men was: "What are we to do with empty cars if civilian pleasure travel is stopped?"

Bus officials feared that if nothing but essential travel is permitted there will be times when buses will be nearly empty while they are moving in one direction after a heavy haul in the other.

"If bus companies are to utilize their facilities fully, there can't be a complete ban on unessential travel," said L. G. Markel, Chicago, chairman of the National Bus Traffic association, which represents most of the nation's intercity bus lines.

Most Travel Already Essential.

Markel said at least 80 per cent of bus travel already is essential, consisting of movements of persons on business errands or going to and from work. Bus systems have eliminated limited and de luxe service for excursion, sightseeing and pleasure, and have dropped all charter service except for military or other essential purposes, he said.

Officials of the air lines said the proposed travel regulations would not affect them severely. Most of their passenger traffic already is of the essential type, they said, and pleasure travel has been reduced to a mere trickle.

AUTO NECESSITY IN U. S. ECONOMY, EXPERTS ASSERT

Warn of Overloading Public Carriers.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

For a quarter of a century the United States has been building an economy based upon the automobile. It is the world's only complete motor economy, because this nation owns three-fourths of the motor vehicles. Efforts to separate the automobile from this economy would result in chaos.

This is the belief of Lieut. Frank M. Kreml of Evanston, director of the safety division of the International Association of Police Chiefs. During the last 25 years 15 million Americans have moved to suburbs and 90 million are dependent substantially upon the automobile, Lieut. Kreml asserted.

Surveys by the Automobile Manufacturers' association show that more than half of America's mileage is necessity driving, he added.

Survey Supports Statements.

These statements were supported yesterday by a survey showing that in the face of tire rationing and stoppage of automobile manufacture, more than 85 per cent of Cook county and Illinois motorists still are driving their cars.

It was the consensus of motor clubs, associations, and private garage owners that 75 per cent of Cook county's 785,000 passenger cars are being used for necessity driving. This will continue until tires are no longer serviceable—in June or July, 1943—they believe.

It was found also that when this happens, upwards of a million new daily riders will be dumped upon the city's three major transportation systems, two of which reported yesterday that if this load should be added at present morning and evening rush periods they could do little toward handling it.

Little Change in Volume.

The most significant evidence that driving has been curtailed comparatively little was found in monthly reports of the motor fuel tax division of the Illinois department of finance. Tax collections actually showed a slight gain in January, were off only 9 per cent in February, and only 10 per cent in March, the last month for which figures are available.

Sunday driving, which is chiefly for pleasure, has dropped 18 per cent on the city's boulevard system, according to Otto Jelinek, traffic engineer of the Chicago park district.

Ald. George D. Kells [28th] whose council traffic committee is studying means for staggering working hours to relieve the potential load on public transportation, has recognized that Chicagoans probably will continue to drive as long as they have tires. He stated his committee will have ample time to solve the hours problem while the tires last.

Load for Three Systems.

It is estimated that if each of Cook county's 588,750 cars driven by necessity carries only one passenger, the load on transportation would be staggering. Actually, the per car average will run much higher.

The Rapid Transit Lines [elevated], which carried 1,057,000 passengers in 24 hours during a blizzard that paralyzed all other transportation in Chicago a decade ago, carries about 500,000 a day now. The lines could move a substantially larger number if the morning and evening rush periods were spread out, but there would be serious difficulty in increasing the present peak load, officials stated.

The shopping rushes at other times of the day are a problem also, they said. The "L" has added 150 cars from its reserves to its 5,383 trains a day since Jan. 1, but has no prospects of getting new equipment. It destroyed 125 wooden cars a few years ago. "L" business for April showed an increase of only 6.7 per cent over that of April, 1941.

The Chicago Motor Coach company now has 97 per cent of its equipment on the streets during the morning and evening rush periods. There are 75 new 45 passenger Diesel buses on order, but the company has been assured of no delivery date.

A one hour stagger—half an hour at either end of the present peaks—would make possible a 23 per cent increase, an engineer asserted. A two hour stagger would allow a 45 per cent increase. Without staggered hours, however, the company could carry little of the load that would be added by elimination of private automobiles, he said. In April the buses carried 14.1 per cent more passengers than in April of last year.

The Chicago Surface Lines in April were operating 375 more cars—more than 10 per cent—over the number in use in April, 1941, but business for the month was up only 5.9 per cent. In all 63,391,850 passengers were carried during the month.

Meanwhile, the company is reconditioning older equipment and has been ordered by the Illinois Commerce commission to buy 200 new street cars, 100 trolley buses, and 100 motor buses. The Office of Defense Transporation, however, has ruled that as long as serviceable equipment is on hand, no new may be purchased. Surface lines officials estimate that by reducing service standards, increasing the number of standing passengers, 15 to 20 per cent more people could be carried even if there should be no staggering of hours.

The Illinois Central suburban lines have almost unlimited equipment and could expand its service 100 per cent, by inconveniencing passengers and addition to cars, an official stated. The lines carry 135,000 passengers a day, an increase of 14 per cent in three months. The gain was caused chiefly by increased employment in the industrial area the I. C. serves and increased loop shopping. Laying up of cars has been a minor factor, he declared.

PROTEST TIRE SEIZURE

Protest against reported plans to give the government power to requisition private automobiles and tires while there still are vast numbers available was sent yesterday to Sen. Robert R. Reynolds [D., N. C.] chairman of the senate military affairs committee by Samuel B. Shapiro, general manager of the Chicago Automobile Trade association.

He said that the procession of edicts, statements and reports coming out of Washington is killing what little business remains to Cook county dealers, who have on hand about 20,000 new cars and 60,000 used ones in excellent condition.

END ALL FIGHTING IN PHILIPPINES, DEMAND OF JAPS

Small Units Ordered to Quit, Radio Says.

Calls Loss Grave

MELBOURNE, Australia, May 7.—Newspapers here, after saluting the defenders of Corregidor and comparing their tenacity and courage against terrific odds with that exhibited by the British at Tobruk and Malta, today suggested that America's inability to relieve the fortress strikingly illustrated the allies' difficulties in the Pacific. They emphasized the grave significance of this loss, pointing out that Japan's use of Manila harbor will give her another link in her southward lines of communication, while the reduction of Corregidor releases large forces of men, planes, and ships for use elsewhere.

Washington, D. C., May 7 (AP).—An unofficial and unconfirmed report that the Japanese required surrender of the small units of American-Filipino forces still fighting on various islands of the archipelago as a condition for ending their attacks on the Manila bay forts was announced today by the war department.

In a communique worded carefully to make clear the completely unofficial nature of the report, the department said a broadcast from a Japanese controled radio station in Manila said that Lieut. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright had acceded reluctantly to this condition to avoid further sacrifice, and had issued appropriate orders to his field commanders.

Similar Demand Made Previously.

It was recalled immediately here that when resistance of the American-Filipino troops on Bataan peninsula ceased April 9, there was a similar unconfirmed report that the Japanese had demanded the surrender of Corregidor and the other Manila bay forts before they would cease their pounding of the collapsing defenders of the peninsula.

In some of the last reports received by the department from Wainwright before communications with Corregidor were interrupted early in the morning of May 6, the general said the Japanese were reported to be bringing up reënforcements at several points on the island of Mindanao in an aggressive attempt to wipe out resistance on that large southern island.

Small units of American and Philippine army troops, operating from the hills of interior Mindanao, have inflicted severe losses on the Japanese in sudden and spectacular raids against enemy supply concentrations and troop positions on the coast.

Similar forces have been reported still operating recently, even in the hills of northern Luzon, and there has been no indication that the enemy has succeeded in ending the resistance of troops in the central islands of Panay and Cebu.

Believe 11,500 Captured.

An earlier communique estimated that approximately 11,500 men were surrendered to the Japanese in the Manila bay forts, bringing to more than 50,000 the number of American-Filipino troops now presumed to be prisoners in the Philippines.

The figure was only approximate, since the garrisons of Corregidor and the three other forts at the bay entrance may have been reduced by casualties in the last days of fighting. The department said it had received its last report of the forts' strength on April 15, when the total was 11,574. These were divided as follows: 2,275 naval personnel, 1,570 marines, 3,734 American soldiers, 1,280 Philippine scouts, 1,446 soldiers of the Philippine army, and 1,269 casuals. The casuals included some civilians and possibly a small number of troops not assigned to regular units as well as 68 army nurses who were removed from Bataan.

Robert P. Patterson, undersecretary of war, announcing the estimates of prisoners at a press conference, said the defense of Corregidor, "as the defense of Bataan, was a most gallant exploit in American history."

Great Sea Battle Raging in the Pacific

Captions tell of developments in the southwest Pacific, where a great naval and air battle was reported raging early today. Presumably the fighting is a continuation of the engagement reported earlier near the Solomon Islands (circle).

FLEETS FIGHT ON AFTER U. S. SINKS 12 ENEMY CRAFT

Bombers Attack Japs Near Australia.

ships of all types and 55 commercial vessels. They also raised the bag of Japanese ships successfully attacked by far ranging American submarine raiders to 39 sunk, 12 probably sunk, and 11 damaged.

Not since the combined Australian-American bombing of an enemy ship concentration off Lae and Salamaua, New Guinea, had such a success been reported by the American navy. That action in mid-March resulted in the sinking or damaging of 23 Japanese ships, including 12 war vessels.

The Solomon Islands action compensated to some extent for the American-British-Dutch losses in the battle of Java sea in late February, when the allies lost 13 warships and the Japanese had 7 sunk or damaged.

The exact nature of the battle in the Solomons was not disclosed by the navy's communique, which was restricted to a relation of results obtained. Officers said a fuller account must await later reports.

But on the basis of what the communique indicated, naval experts said the Solomons action appeared to have been a large scale sea battle between strictly American and Japanese forces and since the results were so clearly known to the Americans it may have taken place in daylight. It was said use of the term "naval engagement" meant that American surface ships as well as planes had participated.

Thrust at Stepping Stones?

The battle was regarded as having strategic importance because of its relation to the necessity of keeping open the supply line to Australia.

Last week there were reports that an enemy force of considerable size was gathering in the mandated islands area, especially the Marshall Islands, which lie several hundred miles northeast of the Solomons.

From the position of the Jap force in the Solomons experts here said that it appeared to be thrusting out for island stepping stones to New Caledonia or to the New Hebrides.

There was speculation that the American warships involved were organized as a task force of the kind that on three known occasions had struck at the enemy in the Pacific. The first of these occasions was the raid on the Marshall and Gilbert Islands when 16 ships and 41 planes were destroyed in a surprise raid. Later a task force raided Japanese held Wake and Marcus Islands.

On a third occasion a task force operating west of the Gilbert Islands was attacked by two squadrons of Japanese bombers and 16 or 18 attackers were shot down.

Japs Claim Victory.

TOKIO, May 8 [Friday]—[from Japanese broadcasts]—(AP).—The press section of the navy office today reported that the Japanese navy had scored "brilliant achievements in the Coral sea, east of Australia, on an Anglo-American combined fleet." It gave no details immediately, but said they would be announced during the day.

NICARAGUAN SHIP TORPEDOED AND SUNK OFF ATLANTIC COAST

Washington, D. C., May 7 (AP).—The navy reported today that a small Nicaraguan merchant vessel had been torpedoed and sunk off the Atlantic coast and that survivors had been landed at an east coast port. No details were given.

Dominican Ship Torpedoed.

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic, May 7 (AP).—The Dominican Republic steamship San Rafael, 1,161 tons, was torpedoed recently by an enemy U-boat while en route home from Tampa, Fla., by way of Kingston, Jamaica, it was learned from official sources tonight.

Eight survivors arrived in a lifeboat at Cayman Brac, an island northwest of Jamaica, and declared the entire crew had taken to lifeboats when the ship was attacked. Thirty crewmen, including the captain, are missing, but their boats were well supplied. An air patrol set out immediately to search the Caribbean.

BRITISH CRUISER LOST IN BATTLE TO SAVE CONVOY

Warship, Bomber, U-Boat Fight Disclosed.

LONDON, May 7 (AP).—The 10,000 ton British cruiser Edinburgh was lost last week in German submarine, surface, and air attacks on two British convoys in the Arctic, the admiralty announced tonight, but despite the severity of the assaults, spread over several days, the British accomplished their mission with relatively small loss among the other naval and merchant vessels.

One attacking German destroyer was sunk and another was severely damaged, and at least three Nazi bombers were destroyed.

The Edinburgh was crippled by enemy torpedoes and had to be abandoned and sunk by the British themselves while she was homeward bound with a convoy which already had delivered its goods to Russia. One vessel in this convoy was sunk.

90 Per Cent of Convoy Gets Thru.

The second convoy attacked was a large string of ships carrying "important war supplies" to Russia. Altho it was attacked by waves of dive bombers and torpedo carrying planes which sank three ships, the British succeeded in delivering 90 per cent of their cargoes, the admiralty stated.

Assuming all the convoy ships were of approximately the same size, this would indicate the convoy originally was composed of about 30 ships.

Casualties apparently were relatively small.

The attacks on the two convoys began April 30 and lasted thru May 3. The homeward bound convoy was struck first, a submarine's torpedo disabling the Edinburgh's steering gear on the afternoon of April 30.

The Edinburgh was able to proceed under her own power, but at a speed reduced below her normal 32½ knots. Thus slowed, she and the convoy were attacked the following afternoon in stormy weather by three destroyers which made five attempts to break thru the escort and destroy the convoy, each one being beaten off. It was in this fighting that the one convoyed ship, which was in ballast, went down. Seven men were killed on two other ships.

On the morning of May 2 the crippled Edinburgh again was accosted by three German destroyers, apparently the same ones, in heavy weather and low visibility. The Edinburgh then was in tow, but she and British destroyers engaged the enemy and sank one Nazi destroyer and severely damaged a second.

Planes Swoop Down on Convoy.

During the fight, however, another torpedo hit the Edinburgh.

"She was abandoned," said the admiralty, "and later had to be sunk by our own forces, as towing was no longer practicable in the weather conditions prevailing."

This convoy was not bothered again.

The attack on the outward bound convoy was begun on the afternoon of May 1 by six Junkers 88 dive bombers striking suddenly from the stormy sky. One was shot down, while the convoy and its escort went unscathed.

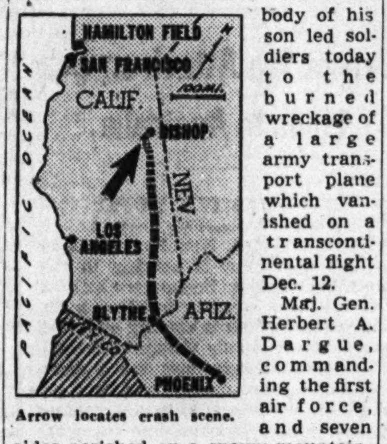
On the evening of the following day, however, six torpedo carrying planes attacked, and three of the convoyed ships were torpedoed and sank. In this assault one attacking plane was shot down.

A final attack came on the evening of May 3. This last thrust was unsuccessful, causing only minor damage to one ship. One Junkers 88 was shot down.

This Arctic action presumably was the same in which the German high command three days ago announced a 10,000 ton British cruiser had been sunk. The Germans then claimed that six convoyed ships totaling 37,500 tons also were sunk.

Tonight the German radio announced that "the German navy soon will strike a deadly blow against the soviet lifeline on the Arctic front," but there was no indication of what was planned.

DEAD PILOT'S FATHER LEADS WAY TO WRECK OF GENERAL'S PLANE



Arrow locates crash scene.

Bishop, Cal., May 7 (AP).—A father's vow not to rest until he found the body of his son led soldiers today to the burned wreckage of a large army transport plane which vanished on a transcontinental flight Dec. 12.

Maj. Gen. Herbert A. Dargue, commanding the first air force, and seven aides perished on a snowy mountainside in the Sierra Nevadas, 18 miles from here while en route to Hamilton field, Cal.

The plane was found by G. B. Burns of Spokane, father of Lieut. Homer C. Burns, co-pilot and one of the victims.

THIRD AMERICAN EAGLE SQUADRON GOES IN ACTION

LONDON, May 7 (AP).—The third American Eagle Squadron which recently had been posted at Britain's leading fighter station participated in its first operational flight in the RAF's raid on docks at Ostend, Belgium, today. Other planes bombed and set afire an industrial power plant at Zeebrugge, Belgium.

German planes made three small raids at places on the southeast coast of England today causing damage and some casualties. A German bomber was shot down. Last night, for the third successive night, bombers attacked war plants at Stuttgart, Germany, and the docks at Nantes, France, and airports in other occupied territories. The RAF lost seven planes in the night attacks and shot down one enemy plane over Stuttgart.

A suburban area of London had a brief air raid alert late tonight, but no planes or gunfire were heard, leading to the belief that it might have been a false alarm. The last general night alert in London was on Nov. 1, 1941.

Report Quisling Transfers Exiled Leader to Poland

LONDON, May 8 [Friday]—(AP).—Dr. Dirik Arup Seip, 60 years old, rector of Oslo university, and the other prominent Norwegians who recently were deported from Norway for opposition to the Nazi sponsored Quisling régimé, have been sent to Poland, the Norwegian telegraph agency said today in quoting the Swedish newspaper Afton Tidningen. The Norwegian exiles were said to include Arnule Qeverland, a young poet patriot; Einar Gerhardsen, former secretary of the Norwegian Labor party, and August Lange, son of a Nobel prize winner.

ADDS VOICE TO CHORUS: PLANES WIN IN THIS WAR

Evanston Woman Tells of Malaya Defeats.

"We needed planes," Mrs. James A. Binse, former resident of Evanston who escaped capture by the Japanese in their successful drive into Malaya, said yesterday in an interview at the Blackstone hotel.

"The last war was a pink tea party compared to this one," she said. "This is no longer a fight of man against man, but a fight of mechanized forces."

For almost five years Mrs. Bines and her husband, a British citizen who was northern Malayan manager of a large tea buying company, made their home in the European settlement of the northern part of the peninsula. Mrs. Bines drove an ambulance in the fighting with the Jap invaders. The vehicles were of the crudest type, two and a half ton trucks filled with hurriedly made stretchers.

Fill Hospitals Fast.

When the attack arrived it was but a short time before hospitals were filled, and huge canvas tents were constructed to house the wounded soldiers and citizens.

At times the Japanese troops were attacking from less than four miles from the territory in which Mrs. Bines and the other drivers and ambulance crews were working.

"By the law of averages," she says, "I should have been killed dozens of times."

The Japanese once sent a drove of 125 all-silver bombers over the northern peninsula. The next day they sent the same number of all-black ships. Both times the planes performed acrobatics, apparently anticipating no aerial opposition, filling the sky with stunting planes that dived to spread terror, she said.

Former Evanston Resident.

The trip from Singapore to Java, a voyage which usually requires only 30 hours, took more than six days when Mrs. Bines left.

Mrs. Bines' husband stayed behind, protecting his life and their home with a 1907 rifle. She hasn't heard from him. Before her marriage Mrs. Bines was an X-ray technician in Evanston. She plans to join one of the American women's volunteer organizations.

CHICAGOAN BACK ON MARBLEHEAD PHONES FAMILY

Robert J. Wesley.

Robert J. Wesley, 6715 South Ada street, one of the crew of the battered American light cruiser Marblehead that limped home after being bombed by the Japanese in Macassar strait, didn't have a word to say about his experiences when he called his father and two sisters from New York Monday. The main thing on his mind was getting a furlough, he told his father, Samuel W. Wesley.

"I'm fine, dad," he said. "Never felt better. I'm hoping I'll get a furlough so I can come home for a visit."

Wesley, who is 25 years old, has been in the navy seven years. He is a first class bosun's mate and intends to stay in the service for 20 years. Wesley is a graduate of Parker High school.

British Forces Make Assault on Island South of Crete

ROME, May 7 [from Italian broadcasts]—(AP).—A British assault on the Island of Kupho, south of Crete, has been repulsed by the axis garrison there, the Italian high command announced today.

[The communique did not specify how the attack was launched, but the wording of the bulletin indicated it was carried out by sea-borne forces. Kupho—or Kuphonisia—is about five miles off the southeastern tip of Crete, 250 miles from the nearest point of the North African coast.]

French Cling to Madagascar; British Hail Navy Base Seizure

'Still Fight': Vichy

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, May 7.—British forces today captured the Diego Suarez naval base and now hold the northern tip of Madagascar, but French troops which fell back to a fortified line south of Diego Suarez are stanchly defending the rest of the island, according to the latest Vichy advices tonight.

Complete conquest of the island, which is 1,000 miles long and bigger than France itself, will be a tough job for the British, officials indicated.

In announcing the surrender of the base to the British, a government communique declared that the rest of the island would be defended, point by point, with the same resolution which resulted in 1,000 British casualties in two days of fighting.

French Claim Air Force Aid.

The situation seemed to be that the British are in possession of Courrier bay, on the western tip of the island, and of Diego Suarez, on the eastern side, and hold a small strip of territory south of this position, with the French firmly entrenched below them and probably getting air force aid.

No direct communication from Diego Suarez has been received since Wednesday, but Gov. Gen. Armand Annet, in Tananarive, the capital of Madagascar, is in direct communication with Vichy and wired details of the surrender.

Annet's message said: "On the third day of the unequal battle in which the attacker had at his disposition numerous and powerful naval and land forces, supported with armored units and planes, swarms of which submitted Diego Suarez to continuous bombardment, the defense had to give up the fight.

"This was not done until after the defenders had disputed the terrain foot by foot, reoccupied some positions, engaged aviation regardless of number, and then blocked the enemy at the gates of Diego Suarez.

Fight "Sacrificial Battle."

"Then the enemy succeeded in grouping his large resources to capture of the last redoubt.

"From the beginning of the operations the mission entrusted to the defenders of Diego Suarez was one of sacrifice, and they knew it. They accepted it, and carried it out heroically, their thoughts turned toward France."

The French have been disconcerted about President Roosevelt's backing of the British seizure of their favorite colony, but there has been no special resentment against the American attitude on this side of the line. The Paris radio, however, has been caustic.

1,000 Troops Lost

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 7.—The surrender of Diego Suarez, Madagascar naval base, 48 hours after the start of the British assault, was hailed by the press today as the most brilliant and swiftest military victory of the war.

The story of the British success was told in a series of official announcements culminating in Prime Minister Winston Churchill's disclosure in the house of commons that the British fleet was due to enter the harbor of Diego Suarez at 3:30 p. m. [8:30 a. m. Chicago wartime.]

[Berlin broadcast a Vichy report saying the British fleet had entered the harbor at 3:30 p. m. yesterday.]

Not Just Blow at Laval.

Churchill contradicted the assumption by newspaper experts here that the action against Madagascar was necessitated by the closer Franco-German collaboration instituted by Pierre Laval since becoming chief of government April 14.

"Preparations extended over the last three months," he said, adding that "in order to prevent bloodshed as far as possible, very strong forces of all arms were employed."

Despite an admitted loss of more than 1,000 British troops in the first assault on the city of Antsirana at dawn yesterday, the house found nothing but encouragement in the prime minister's statement. It cheered lustily as he concluded with a tribute not only to "the vigor" of the British forces, but also to the "great gallantry and discipline of the French."

Despite the prime minister's disclosure that the action was planned long before Laval joined the Vichy government, Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard persisted in arguing that the French surrender of Diego Suarez means that "Laval has been forestalled just as Japan has been forestalled."

Warn Against Jap Attack.

At the same time the paper warned that "Madagascar, once captured, must be defended. So great is the prize that we must not expect the Japanese gracefully to accept this as a fait accompli." With China with its back to the wall and India powerfully menaced, the news from Madagascar, it said, is the one "bright feature in the black portrait of the war in the east."

The Evening News, in describing the attack as "a brilliant victory," expressed the opinion that the British success "ends any hopes the Japs may have had of using Madagascar as a base from where they could prey on allied supply lines."

Relations Between Hungary and 3 Latin Lands Broken

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, May 7 (AP).—Diplomatic relations between Hungary and Brazil, Uruguay, and Paraguay have been broken, it was disclosed today. The American governments tonight confirmed an earlier axis announcement that Hungary had severed relations with the three countries May 2.

Report Nazis on Leave Must Not Carry Guns

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, May 7.—Travelers from Germany reported today that officers must leave all weapons with their units when on furlough. They said some officers have been heard complaining of this lack of confidence, which is generally ascribed to nervousness in the Nazi party.

NEW ZEALAND GIRDS FOR ZERO HOUR IN PACIFIC

BY QUENTIN POPE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, May 7.—The zero hour is nearing in the south Pacific, New Zealanders believe, and they are steadily building a defense setup which is already eclipsing anything previously thought possible.

In the last few days fresh army and home guard drafts have been announced, while the constant stream of new high command appointments proves that the land force expansion plans adopted after the Japanese attack are now nearing realization. The force is now believed to be formidable.

Alive to Danger.

New Zealanders are alive to the danger of an enemy drive down the eastern seaboard of Australia in an effort to cut off communications with the United States, possibly combined with a landing in western Australia and an overland assault against the main centers of resistance.

A thrust against the islands off the eastern seaboard is felt to be highly likely. It is believed that the Fiji Islands, now strongly garrisoned by New Zealanders, and American held New Caledonia, which are included in the South Pacific command, will be the first to feel the shock of a Nipponese flanking move.

Prepare to Strike

Consequently, New Zealanders are preparing to provide striking forces to operate anywhere within the south Pacific zone policed by the American navy to defend themselves and also provide protection to the Australian route.

The present belief is that, despite the harrying tactics to the north of Australia, the Japanese have not been prevented from building up a force which will shortly attack to the east and west. It was pointed out that the forces accumulated are greater than would be necessary for a passive rôle. Additionally, the Japs are bound to feel increased pressure on their own sea flanks if a southward move is not made.

REPORT CHICAGO USO MAN HELD BY JAPS IN MANILA

New York, May 7 (AP).—Three United Service organization workers, including a former Chicagoan, were reported captured by the Japanese in Manila, E. D. Hester, economic adviser to Philippine High Commissioner Francis B. Sayre, advised the New York USO headquarters today.

The men believed interned, Hester said, were L. H. Davis of San Diego, Cal., USO activity secretary in Manila; Charles M. Lewis of Cleveland, O., and E. S. Turner, formerly of Chicago. Turner was general secretary of the USO club in Manila.

Five others of whom no word has been heard are B. Ward Smith, USO district executive in Manila; F. S. Coming, former army technical sergeant; H. Kenneth Edwards, George Crosby, and B. E. Merriam. Their addresses were not available. All were Young Men's Christian association workers in the orient until integrated into the USO after Pearl Harbor.

TROUSER CUFF WOOL SOON TO BE COLLECTED

Trouser cuffs accumulated in Chicago and suburban tailoring establishments since the WPB order restricting use of wool are about to be collected and reprocessed. Early next week the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross will begin collections and sorting. Proceeds from the sale of the material will go to the Red Cross.

Mrs. Frank Hixon was appointed chairman of the Chicago Red Cross wool conservation committee yesterday. She and her coworkers are making arrangements for the handling of the cuffs and for their sale.

More than 3,800 retail and wholesale tailoring establishments in Chicago, Cook county, Du Page county, and the lower half of Lake county are being asked to coöperate in the drive. Dealers are asked not to send their wool clips to Red Cross headquarters at 616 South Michigan avenue, but to wait for further information.

CHICAGOLAND HERO DECORATED BY ARMY FOR PHILIPPINE FLIGHT

Washington, D. C., May 7 [Special].—Capt. Patrick W. McIntyre of West Lafayette, Ind., was among 17 army air force men cited in a war department communique today announcing awards of decorations for heroism in combat.

Capt. McIntyre, the war department said, on Jan. 7 participated in a flight to Davao, on Mindanao in the Philippine Islands, under particularly hazardous weather conditions. On this flight an enemy battleship was hit by bombs and enemy supplies and gun positions on shore were destroyed.

For his valorous conduct on this raid, Capt. McIntyre, along with two other officers, received the distinguished flying cross.

Praises Flying Forts.

Seattle, Wash., May 7.—Capt. Hewitt T. Wheless, who was awarded the distinguished service cross today for valor in combat, praised the flying fortresses today in a speech to workers at the Boeing airplane plant, where the big ships are manufactured.

BARRETT'S STAFF PREPARES A PLAN FOR GAS REFUNDS

Attorney General George F. Barrett yesterday ordered his staff to prepare a plan for distributing 6 million dollars of refunds to a million gas users in the Chicago area as promptly as possible and with a minimum of administrative expense.

Barrett's announcement followed the disclosure Wednesday at a hearing before the United States Circuit Court of Appeals that the 6 millions is due to gas customers as a result of a recent decision by the United States Supreme court ordering reductions in rates charged by the Natural Gas Pipe Line Company of America.

The Court of Appeals has directed all parties to file briefs within two weeks on the question of what tribunal or agency had jurisdiction over the money to be refunded, so the machinery for making rebates can be set in motion.

REPORTS HOME LOOTED.

Mrs. Loretta North, 6501 South Racine avenue, told police yesterday that burglars broke into her apartment Wednesday and stole jewelry, silverware, and a camera, all worth $120.

RUSSIANS DRIVE WEDGE BETWEEN 2 GERMAN ARMIES

Open New Push to Break Siege of Leningrad.

MOSCOW, May 7 (AP).—The Red army, making what appeared to be the strongest attack in many weeks to break the long siege of Leningrad, was reported tonight to have driven a wedge between two German armies, encircled one Nazi detachment in an important sector, and wiped out several centers of resistance in the bogs west of Russia's second largest city.

Thus, soviet dispatches said, the Germans not only were forestalled in their attempts to get spring attacks under way with fresh reserves but had been forced to retreat from a number of winter vantage points.

A road which had united the northern and southern sections of the besieging force was cut, the Russians said, by the capture of a junction point which the Germans had held all winter. [It appeared this might be Krasnogvardeisk, 20 miles south of Leningrad.]

Nazis Cut Off by Floods.

In the same area German units were reported cut off from their bases by floods in the low lying terrain. Soviet artillery fire and night raids forced evacuation of the posts, which the Germans had held for months.

The Germans were resorting to their old tactics of parachutist landings and "psychological attacks" around Lake Ilmen, 140 miles south of Leningrad, but the Russians said they were meeting waves of Germans with point-blank artillery fire at ranges of 150 to 300 yards.

The daily average of German dead and wounded in this sector was said to be 1,000, and at one point, Russian dispatches said, the Germans lost 2,500 officers and men.

Finns Claim Reds Cut Down.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, May 7 (AP).—The Finnish high command today announced the annihilation of the soviet 238th infantry regiment and reënforcements from three different ski battalions in the Louhi sector north of Lake Onega, where the Russians have been attacking for two weeks. The Finns said more than 1,500 soviet dead were counted, including the regimental commander and his staff.

Claim Reds Lose 21,267 Planes.

BERLIN, May 7 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—The Russians lost at least 21,267 planes from the opening of the war last June 22 to April 30, the German high command declared today.

SEWAGE PLANT CONTRACT LET.

A contract to make $99,987 alteration at the Southwest Treatment plant in Stickney was let to the Independent Boiler and Tank company at a meeting of the sanitary district board yesterday. The improvement will affect the vapor drying system.

Cadet Colonel

CADET COL. R. H. MOSS.

Urbana, Ill., May 8 [Special].—Richard H. Moss, 5418 Lakewood avenue, Chicago, has been named cadet colonel of the University of Illinois Reserve Officers' Training corps for 1942-'43. The appointment was announced today by Col. Leonard C. Sparks, commandant, after its approval by President Arthur Cutts Willard.

As cadet colonel, Moss will be the ranking cadet of more than 4,000 ROTC students in the university. He will take his new post next Friday at the university's annual Military day review and ceremonies. The retiring cadet colonel is Gerald W. Homann, Mattoon. Moss is a cadet in the advanced course of the cavalry unit.

Col. Sparks also announced that James H. Fisher, 3628 Wilton avenue, Chicago, will be honored at the Military day ceremonies as the outstanding junior cadet other than the new cadet colonel.

NEWS OF SINKING DASHES HOPE FOR SAILOR SON'S LIFE

For several days after the sinking of the U. S. S. Houston late in February in the battle of Java, Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Siljestrom, 266 North St. John's avenue, Highland Park, worried over the fate of their son, Gordon, 21, a gunner's mate third class, who for 2½ years had been stationed on the cruiser. Then came a letter, written before the battle, telling them of his transfer to the minesweeper Tanager. The news gladdened the Siljestroms. Now their hopes have been dashed again. The Tanager was one of the American ships sunk by the Japanese in the fall of Corregidor.

AIR LINES' FLEET DONS WAR PAINT FOR NEW DUTIES

Will Carry Materials to Important Bases.

One of the most important missions of the national war effort has been assigned to the air transportation industry, it was learned here and in Washington during recent days. The commercial air line operators now are engaged in a comprehensive conversion program that within the next 60 days probably will change, for the duration of the conflict, a large part of the service in which they are engaged.

The mission, it is understood, is that of supplying by air vast quantities of vital war materials to land, sea, and air bases. It also will include the movement of key personnel, both military and civilian.

80 Liners Taken Over.

First step in this program was the announcement on April 20 that the 80 air liners taken from the commercial lines would be used for the carriage of military cargoes and personnel on a nonprofit basis. These ships, with air line personnel for their operation and maintenance, in effect are being leased by the government without profit or cost to the air lines.

The first group of 80 planes, turned over by voluntary agreement, is undergoing treatment that will make them military craft in appearance. Their silver duralumin skin with its pure aluminum outer coating is being painted camouflage colors and with the star and circle insignia of military planes.

Luxury Fittings Discarded.

Their luxurious appointments are being discarded—the soundproofing the kitchens, the soft carpeting, the reclining chairs—to make room for the last possible pound of pay load.

A substantial proportion of the air lines' personnel, both ground and air, are being shifted with the airplanes to new duties.

GORT APPOINTED CHIEF OF MALTA; SUCCEEDS DOBBIE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 8 [Friday].—Viscount Gort, governor of Gibraltar, has been appointed governor and commander in chief of Malta, key point in the Mediterranean war, it was announced today. Gort replaces Maj. Gen. W. G. Shedden Dobbie, who resigned because of the effects of the long strain during two years of enemy attack.

LONDON MEETING RAPS WAR RULE OVER FREE PRESS

LONDON, May 7 (AP).—A resolution demanding the withdrawal of Britain's defense regulation which gives the government the right to suppress newspapers was adopted tonight at a meeting of the press called by the National Council for Civil Liberties. The resolution said that the regulation, known as 2-D, was an interference with a free press. Under it the communist Daily Worker was banned, and the Daily Mirror recently was warned of the editorial content of its pages.

Aneurin Bevan, Laborite member of commons, presided and declared that the government must be convinced that it is not necessary to fight the British people because it had enough to do to fight the enemy.

George Beakes, another member of parliament, told the meeting: "When the war is over we must have a free press. Only that can prevent us from losing the peace as we lost it after the last war."

ODT REPORTED TO INSIST PAPERS CUT DELIVERIES

Substitute Proposals Offered by Publishers.

Washington, D. C., May 7 (AP).—Office of Defense Transportation officials were reported today to be insisting that the newspaper industry be ready to comply with an order reducing deliveries on May 15.

The order was issued April 20 by Joseph B. Eastman, ODT director. Two plans have been submitted—one by the American Newspaper Publishers' association and the other by the New York papers, as substitutes for the Eastman order.

Both plans call for elimination of deliveries by vehicle to individual subscribers [such as rural routes], use of contract carriers where possible, abolition of overlapping routes, and pooling of deliveries where possible. In addition, the New York group told Edmund Brady, chief of the local delivery unit of ODT, that it already had reduced the number of editions.

Additional Plans May Be Offered.

Informal conversations have been going on with representatives of newspapers in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle, Portland, Ore.; Philadelphia, and Chicago. Additional plans may be submitted later this week, an official said.

Eastman's order requires that beginning May 15 an individual or company may make only one vehicle delivery a day to any one person. This has been interpreted officially as meaning that a newspaper publishing company may make but one delivery a day to any newsstand or redistribution point. It has been held also to prohibit special delivery mail by vehicle, since all special delivery trips or return trips will be forbidden.

Applies to Government Agencies.

The order applies to governmental agencies as well as private operators of autos and trucks.

The ODT will consider any reasonable suggestions, an official said, and will not insist on a single delivery to a sales or redistribution point if a method can be worked out which will accomplish the aim of reducing mileage for delivery vehicles.

As a final remedy for unusual hardships Eastman has the authority to revise the order as he sees fit.

Seize Puerto Rican Party Chiefs as Draft Evaders

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, May 7 (AP).—Beginning a roundup of Puerto Rican Nationalists who have subscribed to a party agreement not to serve in the United States armed forces, federal authorities today arrested Party President Julio de Santiago and Buena Vista Rodriguez, owner of the print shop where the party paper is published. They were seized for refusal to register under the selective service act.

HOOVER, M'NUTT JOIN IN TRIBUTE TO BOYS' CLUBS

Speak at Banquet Ending 4 Day Convention.

Former President Hoover and Paul V. McNutt, federal security administrator, last night joined in speeches in tributes to the Boys' Clubs of America at that organization's 36th annual banquet in the Drake hotel. The dinner concluded a four day convention.

Mr. Hoover, speaking as chairman of the organization's board of directors, talked generally of the health and citizenship programs the clubs have fostered, and dwelt especially on the wartime duties that the young members are taking upon themselves. Administrator McNutt said that boys' clubs build a community's future, provide a chance for organization, and teach the rudiments "of living together."

The former President recalled the building of the clubs over the last half century to their present membership of 350,000 in the larger cities.

Million Receive Training.

"There are today probably a million men in America who have gone thru these clubs," Mr. Hoover said. "At the most impressionable period of their lives they had a régime of health inspection and a physical training that only organized supervision can give.

"They were taught to do something useful with their hands. Their initiative and self-reliance were stimulated. They were introduced to gayety and constructive joy, which is the right of every boy. They were drilled in sportsmanship thru years of games and athletics. And sportsmanship is the basis of morals second only to religious faith."

Mr. Hoover explained the Victory Volunteers portion of the Boys' clubs war program.

Assigned Thousand Duties.

"The Volunteers," he said, "have a thousand duties already assigned to them in different cities. In some, air wardens have these boys organized to work the fire alarm boxes; others to inspect the roof sand, and others to spot lights in the blackout. In another place, the emergency nurses have them organized as orderlies.

"And the boys are gathering up an unbelievable amount of scrap iron, brass, tin, paper, and what-not. They use the money from this scrap for their club purposes and donations to the nation's armed forces."

Before he spoke, Mr. Hoover pinned the first membership badge in the Victory Volunteers—the name chosen for those boys in the parent organization who are aiding in civilian defense work—upon 12 year old Bobbie Lencione, 1932 Race street, a member of one of the city Boys' clubs.

McNutt Points to Dividends.

Administrator McNutt said that communities get "real dividends" from the Boys' club work—savings which will show in the economy, the efficiency, the health, the honesty, and the loyalty of future citizens. Boys' clubs build the community's future.

"One of the great virtues in the Boys' clubs lies, I think, in the fact that it grew out of a very practical observation on the part of men who had a practical job to do. Probably that is why it succeeded with the boys in the community. Boys have a habit of seeing things very much as they are. To appeal to boys, things have to be framed in reality.

"Boys will love their community and feel proud to be a part of it only if they find themselves a part of its activities and find that those activities make sense in terms of their own lives. There is not any other sound way to achieve their loyalty. The activities of Boys' clubs are simple reflections of needs of every community. They are specific things, things boys understand."

BIRTH RATE RISES SHARPLY AGAIN; 9.3% OVER 1941

Washington, D. C., May 7 (AP).—The American birthrate, which has been climbing steadily since about the time of the draft, showed another big increase in the first three months of this year.

The census bureau said there were 9.3 per cent more births this quarter than in the corresponding period last year. The estimated birth rate in January, February, and March was 19.5 births for every 1,000 population, while a year ago the rate was 17.9.

Not all states shared in the gain, however. Principal gains were 40.9 per cent in Washington, 24.2 in Missouri, 22.3 in Rhode Island, 21.4 in California, and 19.5 in Maine. Some states, instead, reported decreases. There was a decline of 22.5 per cent in Vermont, and decreases of 16.1 per cent in Nevada, 9.5 in New Hampshire, 6.7 in Georgia, and 4.8 in Idaho.

Apparently these differences may have been due to population shifts resulting from the movement of war industry workers, soldiers, and others.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

RENT INCREASES OF 2,500 TENANTS TO BE CANCELED

Two organizations which control 2,500 dwelling units announced yesterday that they are canceling May 1 rent increases and requiring tenants to pay only the March 1 rates. This compliance with Price Administrator Leon Henderson's recommendation for freezing of rents on the March 1 level was reported to Ald. Arthur G. Lindell [9th], chairman of the rent and price committee of the Chicago defense council.

The organizations are the Polish National alliance, which has 2,200 tenants who will benefit by the reduction, and the South Side Management company, 1525 East 53d street, which has 300. The Chicago Real Estate board has advised its members that they are entitled to collect rent increases until June 28, the deadline set by Henderson.

An eviction case in which the rent freezing order may play a part is scheduled for hearing this morning before Judge Frank E. Donoghue in Municipal renter's court. Leander M. Davidson, who has offices at 201 N. Wells street, is seeking to evict five Negro tenants living at 6015-31 Indiana avenue on the contention they organized a campaign against him for asking rent increases before the freezing order was announced.

MULCAHY NAMED OPA DIRECTOR OF CHICAGO DISTRICT

Michael F. Mulcahy, tire and sugar ration chief of the Chicago area, was given another job yesterday. Mayor Kelly announced that Mulcahy has been appointed Office of Price Administration director for the area by Leon Henderson, OPA head.

Mulcahy has already submitted his resignation as assistant corporation counsel at a salary of $9,000 a year to accept the new appointment which will pay $1,000 less.

He will retain his position as president of the board of local improvements in the city hall at $1 a year. Mulcahy will continue temporarily to have his office in the city hall.

Senate Votes ICC Control for Freight Forwarders

Washington, D. C., May 7 (AP).—The senate approved today a compromise version of legislation bringing freight forwarding companies under regulation of the Interstate Commerce commission. These companies make up carload shipments from smaller lots, thereby obtaining a reduced freight rate. Conferees said that in general the legislation followed the line of existing law regulating railroad and truck transportation.

Rules City Has Authority to Order Bridge Replaced

The city has the right to order the Sanitary district to replace the bridge spanning the south branch of the sanitary canal at Kedzie avenue, Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes said yesterday. The bridge was erected in 1897 by the Sanitary district. The opinion said that if the district does not repair the bridge it should be closed, if dangerous, because the city is liable for any damage.

SUPPLY CHIEF WARNS STATES: END BARRIERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 7.—Lieut. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, commanding the army's service of supply, told a conference of state officials today that they must amend local laws impeding the war program or the federal government might have to crack down.

"Remember this," he said, referring particularly to restrictive truck regulations, "Hitler has none of these things to worry about. He just says 'You gotta.'

"We Americans don't relish such edicts. But the time may come, the situation may be so desperate that the federal government has to step in and enforce its will. I pray that we escape this necessity. I urge you to prevent it by doing the job yourselves."

In addition to restrictions on transportation, due mainly to a lack of uniformity among state regulations, the general protested against the size and variety of state taxes.

948 AXIS ENVOYS AND AIDS DEPART FROM U. S. PORT

Jersey City, N. J., May 7 (AP).—More than 900 axis officials and nationals sailed for Lisbon today aboard the Swedish liner Drottningholm to be exchanged for American officials and nationals homeward bound from Germany, Italy, Hungary, Rumania, and Bulgaria.

It was the first group to leave this country under exchange arrangements which eventually should bring home all American diplomats and consular officials and many other American nationals awaiting exchange in Europe and the orient.

Six special trains carrying the 948 persons assigned to the Drottningholm arrived this morning and were taken by bus from the Pennsylvania Railroad station to the American Export Line pier, where they boarded the liner immediately.

The departing group included the former German chargé d'affaires, Italian ambassador, Hungarian and Bulgarian ministers to the United States, with their families and other officials and nationals; as well as a number of axis diplomats and nationals from other American republics which have broken relations with Germany, Italy, and Japan.

After returning from Lisbon with a group of Americans, the Drottningholm is scheduled to carry a second company of axis passengers to Europe for exchange. For an exchange later of Japanese and Americans at Portuguese East Africa, the United States has chartered the Swedish liner Gripsholm.

During their war time stay in the United States, the Drottningholm's axis passengers were concentrated at Asheville, N. C., White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and Cincinnati, O.

Other Republics Coöperate.

The exchange arrangements involving today's departure were made with the coöperation of the following American republics which have broken relations with Germany, Italy, and Japan:

Bolivia, Colombia, Costa Rica, Cuba, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, El Salvador, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, Mexico, Nicaragua, Panama, Peru, and Venezuela.

The governments of Brazil, Paraguay, and Uruguay, which also have broken relations with the axis, have coöperated among themselves and with the United States for a direct contemporaneous exchange of officials and nationals from Rio de Janeiro and Montevideo.

Swiss Handling Deal.

The Swiss government is acting as guarantor for the compliance of all governments concerned with the terms of the exchange agreements.

In Washington today the state department revealed the names of several of the United States officials and newspaper correspondents and officials of certain other American republics who are expected to return to the United States aboard the Drottningholm. The list includes: Douglas Flood, Kenilworth, Ill., third secretary of the United States embassy in Italy; Carl Birkeland, Chicago, a vice consul in Germany; Mrs. Ninna Divekey, Aurora, Ill., wife of an American embassy employé in Germany; Rosemarie Je Terra-Lochner, Chicago, telephone operator, Germany; George F. Kennan, Milwaukee, Wis., first secretary of the United States embassy in Germany; Frank Novotnay, Chicago, custodian of the embassy in Germany; his wife and son.

LEHMAN WON'T SEEK FIFTH TERM; WANTS WAR JOB

Believed He Will Get High Rank in Army.

Albany, N. Y., May 7 [Special].—Gov. Herbert H. Lehman in three sentences today removed himself as a possible candidate for a fifth term as governor of New York. He left in doubt only the exact date when he will vacate the executive mansion after 10 years and move into some war job. His term expires Dec. 31.

"I shall not be a candidate for reelection," read the governor's statement. "If nominated I will not accept the nomination. When my duties as governor are over I expect to devote all my time and energy exclusively to the war effort."

The governor's declaration ends any "draft" by political leaders, and leaves the question of the Democratic nomination wide open.

Dewey G. O. P. Favorite.

At present, Thomas E. Dewey is believed certain of the Republican nomination, and only a stunning upset could take it from him.

On the Democratic side, Attorney General John J. Bennett Jr. has the most organization support for the nomination, with Owen D. Young favored by influential New Dealers, and with Lieut. Gov. Charles Poletti, a Lehman protége, expected to enjoy the prestige of being acting governor for several months.

Persons familiar with the governor believe that he would not announce his coming departure unless certain that he would enter a war job at least as important. They said the only thing that is still to be settled between the governor and President Roosevelt is one of rank. He is said to prefer a military rank, general officer having been mentioned, with the field likely to be that of "service of supply."

Colonel in Last War.

During the last war Lehman rose to the rank of colonel in the service of supply. It was there he first met Roosevelt, then assistant secretary of the navy.

Roosevelt and Alfred E. Smith won the gubernatorial nomination for Lehman in 1932. In 1936 he was drafted by Roosevelt. Party leaders convinced Lehman he alone could successfully defend the administration against the charges of Dewey, then about to receive the G. O. P. nomination. Lehman won the new four year term, but by only 64,000 votes. He never before won by less than half a million. Political circles have contended that fear of a Dewey victory this year would cause President Roosevelt to "rescue" the man he has referred to as "my good right arm."

PUBLISHER HELD IN CONTEMPT IS 'READY FOR JAIL'

O. C. Lightner, a magazine publisher, who has been held in contempt by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for refusing to comply with an order of the National Labor Relations board, asserted yesterday he is "ready to go to jail and make the American people aware of the injustice of my case."

If, within 10 days, he persists in this stand and fails to appeal to the Supreme court, he will be the first business man in the country to be jailed for defying an NLRB edict.

"At this moment," said Lightner, "I intend to remain firm. I'm ready to go to jail rather than buckle down. I'm in the right in this case. I've been persecuted because some of my magazines criticized the NLRB and they were out to get me from the first."

Lightner was ordered to rehire strikers and pay them $10,000 in back wages. He appealed to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals and lost under a decision made Wednesday.

YOUNGER GUARDS TO BE ACCEPTED FOR BEACH DUTY

Despite the decrease in available civilian man power, no girls will be accepted as life guards on Chicago beaches this year, the park district announced yesterday. The age minimum, however, will be lowered from 18 to 17 years for candidates.

Blaine Hoover, superintendent of employment in the parks, explained that younger life guards will be accepted because the park district does not want to draw too many youths away from war industries, where the age minimum is 18 years. He added that qualifying tests would be no less rigid for the younger candidates.

No applications for life guards will be accepted after June 4. Application blanks may be procured at the Burnham, Lincoln, Washington, and Garfield park administration buildings or at the Ridge, La Follette, Portage, Blackhawk, Independence, and Washington indoor park pools.

Indiana Queen

VERNA DELL TAYLOR.

Bloomington, Ind., May 7 [Special].—Indiana university's No. 1 queen of the 1942 Arbutus, campus yearbook, is Verna Dell Taylor, a blonde freshman from Columbus, Ind. She was selected from five finalists by Tommy Dorsey, who judged photographs of the co-eds when his band played for the I. U. junior prom. Miss Taylor recently was selected as queen of the Kentucky Derby festival.

BRIG. GEN. MAHIN, VETERAN, PUT IN COMMAND OF 33D

32 Year Record Includes Philippine Service.

Brig. Gen. Frank C. Mahin.

Brig. Gen. Frank C. Mahin, twice wounded veteran of the first World war, is the new commander of Illinois' own 33d division at Camp Forrest, Tenn. Announcement of his appointment was made yesterday. He succeeds Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton, recently named chief of the new central defense command of the upper Mississippi valley.

An Iowan, the new boss of the 33d division is no kid glove general, but a soldier's soldier with 32 years of service in the regular army. His face carries the tan and seams of the sun and winds from Panama to the Philippines—and his body the scars of wounds received at St. Mihiel and the Meuse-Argonne.

Rolls His Own Cigarets.

And long ago he disdained so-called tailor made cigarets. The general rolls his own.

Gen. Mahin will be 55 years old May 27. He was born in Clinton, Ia., son of Frank W. Mahin, retired United States consular official and former owner of the Clinton [Ia.] Herald. Gen. Mahin received his early education in England, where as a boy he was a member of an English territorial regiment. He was graduated from Harvard in 1909.

In Army Since 1910.

Gen. Mahin joined the regular army in 1910 after serving in the New York National Guard. He received his first commission in 1912 and became a major in France in 1918 after considerable front line combat duty. After the war he was graduated with honors from the command and general staff school and the army war college.

He was appointed a brigadier general last October, serving as assistant commander of the 45th division, Camp Barkley, Tex. Gen. Mahin is married and has three married daughters.

The official announcement of his appointment described him as "a hard driving man of action" whose interest is field soldiering.

JERSEY CROPS SPOILING, DUE TO LABOR SHORTAGE

Bridgeton, N. J., May 7 (AP).—Hundreds of tons of valuable crops are spoiling in the fields in south Jersey because of a harvest time shortage of farm labor.

Thousands of dollars' worth of asparagus already has gone to waste and agricultural agents foresee severe losses in other truck crops, many of them on the lend-lease list.

The plight of this rich farm belt may be an indication of what lies ahead for other farm areas dependent on migratory workers, Federal Security administration officials said after a tour of the area yesterday.

- Sinks and drainboards.
- Screens and screening.
- Towel and luggage racks.
- Water containers for humidification.
- Weather stripping and insulation.

Even brass medals are out for the duration of the war. The only insignia under today's order permitted to use copper or its alloys are those for the armed forces reading "U. S." And those designating rank and branch of service.

Urge More Liberal Rules on Altering Apartments

The city council building committee yesterday referred to a committee of building experts a proposal from the Chicago Association of Commerce to liberalize building code regulations governing the alteration of apartment buildings. The purpose of the proposal is to make easier the conversion of large apartments into smaller dwelling units.

The MacArthur Guards' preinduction training course, which enrolled youths in the 15 to 19 age group from 10 states, has been completed.

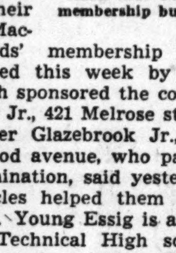
Boys from all over the middle west who followed the series of articles on subjects vital to the soldier now are showing their friends the MacArthur Guards' membership buttons distributed this week by THE TRIBUNE, which sponsored the course.

Lester Essig Jr., 421 Melrose street, and M. Ambler Glazebrook Jr., 430 North Lockwood avenue, who passed the final examination, said yesterday that the articles helped them with many subjects. Young Essig is a senior in Lane Technical High school and will be a student in the Culver Military academy summer school at Culver, Ind., where he is a first sergeant in Troop B.

WIFE OF BRITISH SOLDIER EXPECTS BIRTH OF QUINTS

3 'Certain,' 5 Possible, Attendants Say.

ABINGDON, England, May 7 (AP).—Seven doctors and nurses maintained a constant virgil today over Mrs. Emily Woodley, who is expecting a multiple birth—possibly quintuplets.



Arrow locates home town of Woodleys.

Dr. J. H. Fisher, who is in charge of the case in the hospital of this quiet little Berkshire village, said four or five babies might be born any day to Mrs. Woodley, 28 year old wife of a soldier.

"Certain of Three, Anyway."

The hospital matron declared, "we are certain about three of them, anyway."

Dr. Fisher spends every spare moment reading all available records on the famous Dionne quintuplets of Canada.

Pvt. Arthur Woodley, who in peacetime was an innkeeper at the nearby Thames-side village of Culham, has been given a month's leave. He cycles to the hospital daily to visit his 210 pound wife, and says he is "very worried" over the problem of getting five perambulators—a wartime scarcity.

Town Wildly Excited.

Culham's population—444—is excited with anticipation. Housewives are knitting baby clothes, and already four baby cots trimmed in blue and pink have been prepared. At the doctor's request, a special issue of clothing coupons has been provided.

Mrs. Woodley is taking everything calmly, merely expressing the hope that the births will occur May 12, anniversary of the coronation of King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth and the birthday of Mrs. Woodley's only other child, a son.

House of David Members Drafted—Beards and All!

Fort Custer, Mich., May 7 [Special].—George Anderson and Francis Buck, both 31 year old members of the House of David colony at Benton Harbor, who were inducted into the army today, won't have to shave their beards and unbraid their long hair unless they want to, Maj. Eldon M. Stenjem, in charge of the recruit reception center, said. Anderson and Buck are the first of their cult to be called to service. "If it were not a religious belief, we might order the men to shave," Maj. Stenjem said.

BANS IMPOSED ON COPPER, SPICE AND AUTO PARTS

Pins, Pepper and Car Hoods Curtailed.

For the period from April 1 to Sept. 30, production of the permitted replacement parts will be 70 per cent of the total dollar value sold during the same three months of 1941. The previous order permitted production during the first half of this year up to 150 per cent of the number of each of the replacement parts sold during the entire year of 1941.

Permissible Parts.

Effective immediately, producers may manufacture only the following replacement parts: Engines, clutches, transmissions, propellor shafts, universal joints, axles, brakes, and wheels, hubs, drums, starting apparatus, spring suspensions, shock absorbers, exhaust systems, cooling systems, fuel systems, lubricating systems, electrical systems [including generators, lights, and reflectors], gauges, speedometers, rear view mirrors, windshield wipers, windshield wiper motors, control mechanisms, and steering apparatus.

This means that manufacture for replacement purposes is prohibited of such itms as hoods, fenders, running boards, floor mats, bumpers, hub caps, clocks, cigar lighters, seat cushions, window mouldings, scuff plates, robe rails, doors, body panels, and other parts not essential to operation of a vehicle.

In the manufacture of the specified functional parts, producers are subject to all restrictions on the use of materials covered by previous WPB orders.

Allowance Called Ample.

R. L. Vaughn, deputy chief of the WPB automobile branch, said that the new program will make available an adequate supply of essential parts to meet estimated needs of civilians as well as the military for the rest of 1942 and for 1943.

"This program," he continued, "will reduce to the absolute minimum the quantity of materials actually expended to maintain our passenger car and light truck transportation system in a state of reasonably good operating efficiency."

The restrictions in the order do not apply to production of replacement parts for the ramy, navy, certain governmental agencies, certain foreign governments, and the lend-lease authority.

SPICES

Seven important spices were hit by the WPB's restrictions on wholesale deliveries of these supplies and will have the effect of cutting retail sales 50 per cent.

The orders, effective tomorrow and made necessary because "the availability of future supplies is uncertain," affect white pepper, allspice [pimiento], cinnamon [cassia], cloves, ginger, nutmeg, and mace.

Deliveries of black pepper are permitted at the same rate as a year ago, and WPB said there was two years' supply of black pepper in this country.

Will Stretch Supplies.

The order will stretch our present supplies of the other spices, which are the principal imported seasonings used by consumers and industry, to last 12 to 18 months. If unrestricted and unreplenished, such stocks would be exhausted in six to nine months, WPB reported.

The conservation orders on pimiento, cassia, cloves, ginger, nutmeg, mace, and white pepper provide that a packer or grinder may not deliver more than 75 per cent of his average monthly deliveries in the same quarter of 1941. Wholesalers and chain retailers may accept only 50 per cent of last year's deliveries.

Industrial users of spice who use them in foods or medicinal products may receive 75 per cent of the deliveries taken by them last year, but other industrial users may take only 50 per cent.

The spices covered by the order are imported from the Netherlands East Indies, India, Ceylon, China, Africa, Madagascar, the West Indies, and other distant places.

Aside from household consumption, spices are used mainly by meat packers and pickle packers, canners, bakers, producers of alcoholic and soft beverages, confectioners, and tobacco and cosmetics producers.

No provision was made for consumer rationing.

HAND TRUCK TIRES

The WPB order prohibiting the delivery of rubber tired hand trucks or tires for such trucks except on specific authorization of the board was made effective immediately.

Exceptions are granted where the use of tires is necessary to prevent explosion hazards and to avoid accidents in the handling of explosives, and damage in transporting delicate machinery or delicate instruments.

Hand trucks are used principally to carry small quantities of materials in and around factories, railroad stations, warehouses, and docks. WPB estimated they required more than 500,000 rubber tires last year.

NEW ARMY FIGHTER PLANE PERFORMS IN 'IMPRESSIVE' FASHION

Buffalo, N. Y., May 7 (AP).—The Curtiss Warhawk, one of the United States army's newer fighter planes now rolling off assembly lines, has performed impressively in its first public demonstration.

Whipped thru the skies above Buffalo airport by Curtiss-Wright test pilots, three of the Warhawks showed yesterday they could climb almost as rapidly upside down and even while rolling as they could in normal flight.

Disclosure of the plane's exact specifications and performance is prohibited, but the Warhawk, officially designated the P-40F, is in the 400 mile an hour high altitude class and packs a destructive wallop.

Successor to the Tomahawks and Kittyhawks which have blasted Nazi Messerschmitts and Italian Macchis for the RAF and Japanese Zeros for the United States army and AVG in the far east, the Warhawk is the first United States warplane to be powered by the British designed 1,150 horse power Rolls-Royce Merlin engine now being turned out by Packard.

SUNNIEST APRIL THIRD WARMEST IN CITY HISTORY

It was June in April in Chicago, according to weather statistics for last month released yesterday by O. T. Lay, government forecaster.

The month, Forecaster Lay announced, was the sunniest April on record in Chicago. It also was the third warmest April. And, he added, the month produced the hottest April day. That was the 30th, when the mercury shot up to 91 degrees.

It was the sunshine, however, that brightened Lay's figures. There were 305.1 hours of sunshine in the month, 10 each or more on each of 21 days. And that, Lay said, was why it was like June in April last month, for the June average of sunshine is 317 hours.

Only One Dreary Day.

The forecaster tabulated the 21 sunny April days in this manner: Eight days with 13 hours of sunshine, five with 12, five with 11, and three with 10—249 hours of sunshine for the period. The dreariest day of the month was April 9, when it rained, and there was virtually no sunshine.

"What May flowers we may have do not owe much to the traditional April showers," said Lay. "There weren't many April showers. It rained hard enough to get wet three days, with a drop or two on three other days. The rainfall amounted to only 1.59 inches, compared with a normal of 2.78."

Coldest Day 28 Above.

The average daily temperature for the month was 53.9 degrees against a normal of 46.9. Eighteen days were above normal, some far, far above. During those 18 days the excess ranged from 2 to 28 degrees.

The coldest day of the month was April 11, when the temperature sank to 28 above, but, explained Forecaster Lay, that must have been an orphan April day.

SERGT. YORK COMMISSIONED MAJOR IN ARMY

Washington, D. C., May 7 (AP).—The war department announced today that two outstanding heroes of the first World war—Sergeants Alvin C. York and Samuel Woodfill—had been given army commissions as majors.

Undersecretary Robert P. Patterson said they would be assigned to the army ground forces for infantry work.

He also announced that several thousand army air force mechanics would receive postgraduate training each month in principal aircraft plants turning out combat planes.

York, Patterson noted, was dubbed "the outstanding soldier" of the first World war by Marshal Ferdinand Foch of France and the same praise was given Woodfill by Gen. John J. Perhing of the AEF.

CHAPTER 15

CHAPTER 15

Douglas MacArthur was never without his mother's influence from the day of his birth until she died at the age of eighty-three. Even during the four years from 1899 to 1903, while Douglas was at West Point, she took up residence nearby in order that she might visit with her son whenever occasion permitted. She transmitted to him much of the fine Southern culture which was her heritage. She was an exceptionally affectionate mother and while her husband, General Arthur MacArthur, was away at the wars, she devoted herself wholly to the guidance of her two sons, Douglas at West Point, and his elder brother, Arthur, who was grooming himself to become a

SEEK INCOME TAX ON 7 MILLION IN LOW PAY GROUPS

Plan Hits Single Person Earning $12 Week.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 7.—A treasury proposal that nearly 7 million persons in the lowest wage groups in the United States be brought into the income tax paying fold by lowering personal exemptions took congress by surprise today.

In a letter to Rep. Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.], chairman of the house ways and means committee which is drafting the new 7 billion 600 million dollar tax bill, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. proposed:

1. Lowering the personal exemption for single persons from $750 to $600.
2. Lowering the exemption for married persons from $1,500 to $1,200.
3. Cutting the $400 deduction for children and dependents to $300.

100 Millions from New Field.

These reductions, Morgenthau declared, would produce about 1 billion 100 million dollars in addition to the 3 billions 200 millions which he asked congress last March 3 to add to the 5 billion dollar tax burden now borne by the income tax payers.

About 100 millions of the new yield would come from 6,900,000 persons now paying no income taxes, he estimated. These new taxpayers would be in the $600 to $800 a year class.

The total of individual income taxes assessed against the American citizen would approximate 8 billion 300 million dollars if Morgenthau's latest proposal is approved by congress. About 14,000,000 individuals would share this burden.

If the Morgenthau proposal were approved, the $650 a year single man or woman with no dependents would pay a $6.50 tax. The $750 a year unmarried person would pay $24. Both are exempt under the present law.

Higher Levies on Present Payers.

The lowered exemption would increase the taxes of those already acquainted with the income tax collector.

The $1,200 a year single man, for example, now pays $40 tax. Under the surtax system proposed by Morgenthau two months ago, this man faced a $72 tax on 1942 income. Lowering his personal exemption would increase that tax to $99.

As income increases, the effect of the lowered exemption becomes less severe. Thus, the $5,000 a year single man who pays $483 this year—and faced a $1,023 levy under the new surtaxes—would have his tax raised to $1,069.

Married persons in the low income groups, with or without children, would be hit hard by the lowered exemptions. A married couple with no dependents and a $1,500 income now pays no tax. The couple would be assessed $48 if its $1,500 exemption were cut to $1,200.

Jump from $90 to $241.

A married couple with $2,500 income and no children now pays $90 and would pay $175 under the new surtaxes. Lowered exemptions would increase their tax to $241.

Married persons with two children now get a $1,500 personal exemption and $800 credit for their children—a total of $2,300. The $2,300 family in this class pays no tax now or under the surtax proposal, but it would pay $80 if its total exemption were cut to $1,800, consisting of $1,200 personal exemption and $300 for each child.

Another example: A married man with 2 children, earning $2,500, pays only $12 under present law and $32 under the surtax system. His tax would shoot up to $118 under the latest treasury proposal.

Reversal of Position.

The committee was particularly taken aback because Morgenthau's new suggestion was in direct opposition to the stand he took only a few weeks ago on lowering personal exemptions. He recalled at that time that exemptions had been lowered in 1940 and again in 1941.

"Altho single persons with less than $15 a week and married persons with less than $30 a week do not pay any direct taxes, they pay a disproportionate part of their little incomes in indirect taxes of all kinds," he asserted at that time. "Moreover, a further lowering of the exemptions would yield a relatively insignificant amount of revenue from the earners of very low incomes."

Would Act in Inflation Peril.

The secretary added, however, that if he felt that spending by the low income groups added materially to the danger of inflation, he would not hesitate to recommend lowering of exemptions, but treasury studies, he asserted, indicated that the low income earners "have all they can do to feed and clothe themselves and their families."

"Their buying habits are governed strictly by the need of maintaining nutrition and health, and I cannot recommend a direct tax upon them until we have exhausted every possible source of revenue from those who enjoy higher incomes," he concluded.

In contrast was Morgenthau's letter to Doughton in which he declared the time had come to revise the tax program in the light of "our constantly increasing war expenditures." Lowering the exemptions, he said, would bring the total additional revenue of the tax program to 8 billion 700 million dollars, including income, corporation, and excise taxes.

Believed Political Maneuver.

Members interpreted the treasury's suggestion as a move to counteract committee sentiment for modification of the severe new income surtaxes and substitution of a general sales tax to replace the revenue lost from such a procedure. The administration is opposed firmly to a sales tax, Morgenthau condemning it as bearing "disproportionately on the low income groups whose incomes are spent almost wholly on consumer goods."

The committee was resentful of the treasury's intrusion upon its preoccupation with drafting of the tax bill at this late moment. President Roosevelt a few days ago urged immediate enactment of a tax measure and the committee was trying to hurry its work to a conclusion when Morgenthau's latest proposal opened a whole new field of discussion.

Morgenthau, in his letter, also urged the committee to consider, as soon as possible, his proposal to increase social security taxes by 2 billion dollars a year.

PERU PRESIDENT MET AT AIRPORT BY ROOSEVELT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 7.—With military pomp and ceremony President Roosevelt today welcomed as a good neighbor President Manuel Prado of Peru, the first chief executive of a South American republic to visit the national capital.

As the affable South American leader stepped from the plane which brought him to Washington from Miami, Fla., a 21 gun salute was fired by a battery in Bolling Field.

President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull waited at the President's automobile. They shook hands cordially with Prado. Members of the cabinet and high command of the army and navy filed by in a receiving line along with the staff of the Peruvian embassy.

The two Presidents headed a parade of officials of both nations that wound thru capital streets guarded by more than 5,000 soldiers.

President Prado was the guest of honor at a state dinner in the White House and remained as an overnight guest. He will stay in Washington until Monday, when he will deliver an address to the senate.

Shortly before President Prado arrived, Secretary Hull and the Peruvian finance minister, David Dasso, signed a reciprocal trade treaty negotiated by the two countries. The treaty provides for extension of a $25,000,000 credit for the development of the growth of rubber in Peru.

Benton Harbor Accepts Good Tires in Lieu of Bail

Benton Harbor, Mich., May 7 (AP).—Tires—good ones—are acceptable in lieu of bail in Benton Harbor's Municipal court. Ordered to pay a fine and cost of $6 for running a stop light and colliding with another automobile, James A. Carter of Caruthersville, Mo., was given until Saturday to pay up or go to jail. Carter offered his good spare tire as security and Judge Frank L. Hammond accepted.

PAROLEE SEIZED IN LAKE FOREST FACES MIND TEST

John J. Millen, 25 years old, a parolee from Sing Sing, was under examination in Psychopathic hospital yesterday after his capture in a chase thru the Lake Forest business district Wednesday night. Lake Forest Police Sergt. Jack Robertson caught Millen after Winnetka police had forwarded a report that a passenger who had been acting strangely had left a North Shore train at Lake Forest. Millen, en route to San Pedro, Cal., had stopped in Chicago and said he had gone to Milwaukee and back to Lake Forest. He was paroled May 5 after serving six years for armed robbery.

CHICAGO WOMEN JOIN IN BATTLE OF PRODUCTION

Work Day and Night in Big Fuse Plant.

woman in a blue maid's uniform. In front of her rotates a wheel with 40 spokes. As the wheel rotates, making one complete revolution to a minute, she inserts a fuse over each spike, each part later to be dropped into a container by force of gravity. If the part will not fit over the spike, she tosses it into the discard pile. The mother of three children, she was a housewife five weeks ago. She talks amiably, not missing a spike as she chats. "I just thought I ought to do something about this war," she says firmly, "and here I am."

The seamstress, the stenographer, and the housewife are three small facets in this gigantic scene, no part of which can be more important than its smallest part. The scene is that of America's largest producer of fuses. The 37 mm. shells which Lieut. Comm. Edward O'Hare used to shoot down six Japanese planes were started here. That is, their most important components — fuses — were made here, for here fuses interchangeable with most shells are made. On a little table in a nearby office a worker handles one of the assembled fuses, a shining instrument of death complete except for its charge.

One to a Customter.

"New table decoration?" he twits the supervisor. "Yes," the supervisor replies merrilly. Special for the Mikado." "How many to a customer?" the first asks. "No more than one," comes the reply. "That's enough, the way we make them."

To get proper perspective on this transition from metal to instrument of war, one should approach from the far end of the warehouse. Here are piled great stacks of aluminum, steel, brass, and copper bars. At the other end the completed fuses, packed as gently as eggs, are in sealed cartons and pushed into a railway car on a spur of the same siding on which the bars of raw meetal come in.

Men operate all the machines which cut and mold the fuse parts, but once they are cut, women take over. Over here is a row of vertical drilling machines. They are noisy, huge, frightening. Here a hole is drilled in the vital safety mechanism of the fuse.

Works with Calm Precision.

A girl in blue slacks, yellow oilskin apron and spotless white blouse stands at one. She must insert and remove the mechanism by hand, reaching for it thru a slow stream of oil, yet the nails on her fingers are long and red and she works with calm precision and speed. In, out, rumble. In, out, jerk. In, out, rumble.

Not long ago only men operated these. Now women operate half of them. When women first were brought in, the men suggested the sexes have a production race. The loser was to clean all the machines. So far, women have won every race.

Near by a girl with a gardenia in her black curly hair operates a punch press for steel fuse bodies. It seems intricate and ominous, but safety devices protect her. A few feet down the hall a girl sits at a vertical tapping and drilling machine, her wedding ring shining thru the dripping lubricant. Over there a row of girls operate single spindle drill presses. Others operate multiple spindles. Watch their intent faces, their precise movements, as with the left hand they push the metal under the drill, with the right hand jerk the press handle.

Variety of Costumes.

Their costumes are as varied as their work. Here is a girl in a ruffled apron. There is one in oilskin. Here is one in a purple silk dress with an imitation ruby brooch at her throat. There is one in slacks. Here is one in high heels and silk stockings. There is one who stands in her short red wool sox on a piece of cardboard. "New shoes," she grimaces with a glance toward her white oxfords, "hurt."

A fuse has more than 40 parts, most of which must be machined to microscopic tolerances. Thus, precision is a first essential. Here is where woman's manual dexterity and sensitivity come into play, for every component must be checked and rechecked for accuracy. The checking is foolproof, as all of it is done with gauges of one sort or another.

There sits a girl using a micrometer to measure thickness. She is a fast worker and measures 1,000 an hour. Beside her a curly headed girl uses a gauge to check the tolerance of screw threads. She checks 500 an hour. An enormous wire enclosed room contains several hundred girls, each armed with a gauge, who check the accuracy of vital parts.

Check Safety Mechanisms.

Every fuse body has a safety mechanism to prevent the fuse from exploding unless fired [from the gun] or dropped a sufficient distance [if a bomb]. This mechanism prevents the explosion until a certain number of revolutions are being spun per minute. Here girls check these with machines which simulate the firing of a shell. If an aperture gleams at a speed of 2,000 revolutions a minute [or 32,000 r. p. m. for high speed shells], it is acceptable. If not, it is discarded.

The fuse department contains only part of this vast plant's women defense workers. At an adjacent shop other hundreds are employed inspecting aircraft bolts; winding induction coils for radio receivers—a delicate, arduous task; assembling 40 small parts, which must be painted, glued, and screwed into place, into a microphone; making and assembling transmission shafts for jeeps, reconnaissance cars and M-3 tanks; assembling panels for tanks; smoothing the joints of bomber heaters; making speedometers for airplane engines. Aside from intricate finger work in assembly lines, women also operate turret lathes, milling machines, multiple spindles, and light punch presses.

Started in Last War.

A motherly looking woman, her gray hair tucked into a boudoir cap, operates one of the latter. "One of our best operators," the foreman says proudly. "Been here for years. Nan," interrupting her work, "when did you come?" "O, in the first war," Nan replies with a big smile. "Any difference in this one?" she is asked. "O, sure," comes her quick reply. "Lots more work, but, O, well, I don't mind.

The entire plant is on 24 hour, seven day a week, production. Women work all shifts—8 a. m. to 4 p. m., 4 p. m. to midnight, and midnight to 8 a. m., with a 10 per cent salary premium for working shifts after 3:30 p. m. To make these shifts more acceptable, the plant has squads of police roving the neighborhood when shifts change.

Normally the girls work 40 hours a week, but Illinois has abrogated its maximum work week for war industry and the average girl now works a six day 48 hour week. Those operating certain machines are asked to work Sunday as well, making a 56 hour week, but this is not compulsory. However, the average girl complies willingly.

Rest Period Every Two Hours.

For their convenience, many changes have been made in the plant. A large cafeteria now is being installed with a makeshift cafeteria already in operation. Seats, stools, or benches have been provided so that every woman may sit down at her work. Sanitary facilities have been enlarged, and every girl engaged in a repetitive occupation has a compulsory 10 minute rest period every two hours.

Girls not on assembly lines or in repetitive posts may rest at will. A hospital complete with X-ray equipment, heat therapy, an eye cabinet, and a foot bath is open 24 hours a day with a physician and two registered nurses in attendance. A registered nurse also mans a first aid department and rest room in the fuse warehouse.

A spokesman for the plant says it places no maximum limit on the age of women workers, but will employ none under 18 years. "If an older woman can do the job as well as the younger, she can have it," he said. "However, she has to have good eyesight."

Inspectors Need Little Training.

Work as inspector requires little or no training, as each girl uses a specific gauge which can be mastered in 15 minutes, but it generally takes 30 days to train a girl to run a punch press. She can learn it in two hours, but must then adapt her skill to increasing her output. For the first month her work is checked several times a day. The most intricate machine operated by women here is the Kingsbury drilling machine, which has several drilling heads mounted on a rotary table. Even so, 20 per cent of these now are manned by women.

Thruout this plant American flags, furled beneath a shield of cellophane, stand in every department. Posters, bearing such slogans as "Produce or yield to slavery," are everywhere, but seem unnecessary in the light of the tiny American flags which almost every girl, punch press operator, or bolt inspector, packer or polisher, has bought and pinned up over her bench. All in all, it is an inspiring picture of precision, pride, and production; and, as a final happy note, we hasten to report that the women in this all-out-for-war plant have exquisitely tender finger nails. Many of them wear rubber finger guards.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and personally, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries. Persons are asked to keep their letters short because of the volume of mail.]

Mrs. A. B. writes: "My husband, in the army, has made an allotment to me and so far no payments have been received. Can you tell me to whom I can write regarding this?"

ANSWER: Write to the Finance Officer, War Department, Washington, D. C. Include in your letter the approximate date the allotment was made, the designation of your husband's military attachment, and his last known military address.

C. J. S. asks: "Must a young man in service name his father—mother is dead—beneficiary of his military insurance? His father hardly knows the boy as the boy was raised by other people, altho he was not adopted. Can he name these people who took care of him as his beneficiary?"

ANSWER: The persons who reared him would be considered as loco parentis and as such could be named beneficiaries.

Mrs. C. R. writes: "My son was drafted into the army and after serving three months was given an honorable discharge because of a physical defect. Must he report back to his draft board?"

ANSWER: Your son must report his discharge to his draft board. If in the future he should be called for a physical examination, he should show his discharge papers to the examining physician.

F. P. L. writes: "I am 26 years old, single, and have a very good position in a profession of which the army is urgently in need. My first physical examination showed a positive Wasermann test and again last December when I tried to volunteer. I read that Gen. Hershey stated this would no longer be a barrier. Am I now eligible to enlist?"

ANSWER: You will not be able to enlist nor will you be drafted until your condition has been corrected. Gen. Hershey, in speaking in terms of an army of 7,000,000 to 8,000,000, said that venereal disease would no longer be a reason for deferment. However, regulation concerning registrants with venereal disease have not yet been changed.

T. H. writes: "Fifteen years ago I was convicted of a crime. I would like to get in the army but I am sure my record would not allow me to be considered. What would happen if I didn't mention my record in making out my questionnaire?"

ANSWER: All men inducted into the army are fingerprinted. Sooner or later your record would be found out thru your fingerprints and you probably would be discharged. It is best to mention your conviction in filling in your questionnaire. If your conviction was not for a heinous crime you might still be drafted if the local draft board finds that your current civil record is good and if this belief is concurred in by the secretary of war.

J. B. writes: "Is the maximum height and weight in the army air corps the same for a pursuit pilot as for a bomber pilot? Can a youth of 17 get into the army air corps with the consent of his parents?"

ANSWER: The maximum height—6 feet, 4 inches—and weight—200 pounds—requirements are the same for all pilots in the army air corps. Eighteen is the minimum age for air corps applicants and a 17 year old youth will not be accepted even with his parents' consent.

COMPLETE SUGAR JOB; 3,477,072 ON RATION ROLL

Number Exceeds Census by 80,264.

Chicago finished its four day sugar ration registration last night with a total of 3,477,072 persons registered.

As 30,000 volunteer registrars wound up their monumental task of issuing ration books and learning how much sugar each person has on hand, this fact stood out:

Either Chicago has increased 80,264 in population since the 1940 census, which gave the population as 3,396,808, or the census was about 2.06 per cent wrong.

It was predicted before the sugar registration that Chicago's population would show a decrease because of the thousands of young men who have gone into the army, navy, marines, coast guard, or other fighting forces. The number who have joined these has not been made public, but it was said last night that if the 1940 census was correct the city despite these temporary losses has increased in population during the last two years four times as fast as it did in the 10 years between 1930 and 1940, when the population increase was only about 20,000.

New Workers Counted.

Again it was remarked that if the 1940 census was correct, then the city's population increase during the last two years has been approximately 2.4 per cent. Administrators said industries are employing many more men and women and they added that these jobs have probably attracted a large number of workers to the city.

Another fact also stood out, according to Michael F. Mulcahy, rationing administrator for the Chicago area:

There is no sugar hoarding by the city's housewives. Figures show that each Chicagoan has on hand 1.8 pounds of sugar, which is less than the government allotment of 2 pounds per capita.

Registrations in the suburbs surrounding Chicago during the four days totaled 882,203. Population there, according to the 1940 census, was 830,786.

Average 10 Minutes.

The four day registration, despite the fact that the machinery was operated by volunteer help, went more smoothly than expected, Mulcahy said. Each of 333 Chicago schools registered an average of about 250 persons an hour, an average registration taking less than 10 minutes.

Elementary school pupils will have a holiday today, but their teachers who have volunteered as registrars for sugar rationing are to spend the day at the schools tabulating the registration records.

Mulcahy warned the public and retailers to obey the regulations.

"Remember, one stamp is good for one pound of sugar only," he said. "Merchants must not honor stamps before they fall due."

Stamp No. 1—May 5-16.
Stamp No. 2—May 17-30.
Stamp No. 3—May 31-June 13.
Stamp No. 4—June 14-27.

Extra Sugar for Canning.

The wind-up registration in Chicago yesterday was the lightest of all four days. The day by day figures: Monday, 821,301; Tuesday, 1,050,952; Wednesday, 973,005, and yesterday, according to incomplete figures, 750,000.

Housewives were told yesterday by the Office of Price administration that they will be allowed five extra pounds of sugar for each person in their families if they do home canning. They must make application on special forms for the extra sugar at local rationing boards which are to be established within the next two weeks. Meanwhile, they will have to postpone their preserving.

CBS CALLS RADIO BOARD RULINGS WHOLLY ILLEGAL

Washington, D. C., May 7 (AP).—John J. Burns, counsel for Columbia Boardcasting system, maintained today that the Federal Communications commission could bar newspaper ownership of radio stations without seeking congressional approval, if its regulations covering networks are upheld. He told the house interstate commerce committee that these regulations, limiting duration of network contracts with individual stations, outlawing exclusive options on station time, and limiting the number of stations which could be owned by a network, are "completely without warrant in law."

"In the event the commission should undertake to separate newspapers from ownership of radio stations, would it be your idea that some similar regulations would be spelled out?" inquired Rep. Charles A. Halleck [R., Ind.].

"There is no question about it," Burns responded.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]
MRS. MICHELINA POPOW.

Forty kinds of drugs, prescribed for a supposed gangrene poisoning, put Miss Helen Dziemieka, 24 years old, in St. Mary's hospital in critical condition, it was revealed yesterday in County court when the prescriber came up for a preliminary hearing. Held by Judge Russell W. Keeney in bond of $2,000 for trial May 28 on charges of prescribing and practicing medicine without a license, as a result of the hearing, was Mrs. Michelina Popow, 42, of 1049 North Ashland avenue.

Arraigned also yesterday before Judge Keeney was Fred Kester, the X-ray eye man, who holds forth in a "temple" at 2061 Ogden avenue. The case against Kester was outlined by two investigators for the state, one of whom was told he was suffering from kidney trouble, broken arteries, and yellow jaundice. The other was told he was highly nervous and had kidney trouble.

Testimony showed that Kester advertised special messages from God every day in the week except Wednesday—apparently a day off—and that his signs in the "temple" and outside it advertise him as a specialist on "canser, t-b, leorpsy, goters, varicose vains, and feves," all curable for a fee of 50 cents. Diagnosis, of course, is accomplished by the famous X-ray eye.

Kester also was held in $2,000 bonds for trial June 4.

OPERA FESTIVAL ON W-G-N TO AID WAR BOND DRIVE

Opera music is to be enlisted in the cause of the nation's war bond drive. W-G-N and the Mutual network, in coöperation with the Treasury department, will present seven productions in a series called the American Opera festival. Two hundred singers, including many notables, will take part in the programs.

The first of the operas, "Porgy and Bess" was presented last night over the Mutual network. Since W-G-N has a local program at that time, it will rebroadcast the operas from 10 to 11 a. m. Saturdays.

JURORS HEAR IDYL OF FORMER KLAN WIZARD'S 'FORT'

Merely a Breeze Cooled Retreat, They're Told.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Atlanta, Ga., May 7.—Now it is official. No longer does every southerner insist on calling the fracas of 1861-'65 the "war between the states."

Today, in the austerity of Fulton county's Superior courtroom, a tall, gangling member of the Georgia bar—who, oddly enough, resembles Abraham Lincoln—referred solemnly to "the Civil war" while presenting an opening argument in defense of Dr. Hiram W. Evans.

Evans, former imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, is on trial for allegedly conspiring with E. D. Rivers, Georgia's former "little New Deal" governor, and other state officials to defraud the state thru the sale of asphalt from companies owned or controled by Evans.

Ridicules "Fort" Charges.

Defense Attorney H. A. Allen was poking fun at the state's contention that Evans, Rivers, and other high state officials arranged their secret deals in an island "fort" protected by a high fence, electrically charged wires, and numerous locked doors.

"I hope," said the lawyer, "that when the heat of summer comes the court may transfer the trial to this 'fort' which is cool in hot weather.

"It is in the southern part of the county, off one of the new sand-asphalt roads. It was an old water mill—built, I am told, just before the Civil war. There is a little dam with a flume by the old water wheel with a tiny cabin once used by the miller.

Land Sold at Auction.

"It had become a sort of picnic ground. There is a pretty spring and a hillside. Two years ago 53 acres of this hillside land was sold on the courthouse steps at public outcry in broad daylight for $2,000 and later was bought from the purchaser by Dr. Evans.

"Dr. Evans built another dam, making a little lake. He built a four room clubhouse for his family and friends as a week-end cottage. For privacy he put up a gate. And when the breezes come down from the hills over the water, it's mighty cool in summer."

At the time Lawyer Allen was describing this idyllic lake retreat, the temperature in Judge V. B. Moore's courtroom had mounted uncomfortably high. The jurors seemed impressed.

5 Million Dollars Involved.

Dr. Evans was pictured by Special Prosecutor James W. Branch as having "notorious" connections with the Rivers administration; of taking direct profits, bonuses, and commissions from the sale of more than $5,000,000 in sand-asphalt thru companies owned by his family or which he represented.

Evans also was accused of conniving with other asphalt companies to arrange for specified ones to be alternate low bidders, with commissions on their profits going into the Evans till.

As today's hearing adjourned, Prosecutor Branch was examining Mrs. Mary S. Vines, who was Evans' secretary in the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, and later in his various asphalt companies.

2 ARE SENTENCED TO 199 YEARS FOR ROBBERY KILLING

John T. Ballard, 37 year old ex-convict, and Miss Dorothy Stewart, 28, each were sentenced to 199 years in prison yesterday by Judge John A. Sbarbaro in Criminal court. They were found guilty in a bench trial of the slaying of Miss Elizabeth Connor, 76, rooming house keeper at 32 East Bellevue place.

John T. Ballard and Dorothy Stewart.

Ballard and Miss Stewart were arrested in Detroit, Mich., last Feb. 10, a year and five days after Miss Connor choked to death while gagged. Ballard said he and Miss Stewart gagged Miss Connor and ransacked her house after she discharged him as janitor. He said they took $16 in cash and $5 worth of clothes but did not know of Miss Connor's death until later. Miss Stewart corroborated the story.

[THE TRIBUNE will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by THE TRIBUNE. Today's question was submitted by Eugene Wejman, 1214 Maple avenue, Evanston.]

THE QUESTION.

WHERE ASKED.

Home show at Coliseum.

THE ANSWERS.

Mrs. Grace B. Kain, housewife, 7158 Normal boulevard—Any stage of moving is bad enough, but the most upsetting thing is to walk into the new place and find everything from basement to attic piled into one small space. It looks almost as if a tornado had picked it all up and then dropped it in a heap. I don't like untangling the mess.

Mrs. Alice Madden, sales director, 7345 North Seeley avenue—I've lived in the same place for 12 years because I dread leaving the familiar neighborhood. To start all over in a strange shopping district and unfamiliar streets takes all the pleasure out of moving for me.

Alfred Briggs, telephone man, 6119 South Kildare avenue—Because we dreaded everything about moving we just bought a house and hope we never have to move again. The worst part about it all, I think, is trying to decide whether all the useless little things one collects over a period of years should be moved or left behind.

Betty Mount, saleslady, 4069 Kenmore avenue—The one most difficult thing about moving and the one that disturbs me every time is where to put all the little things that are always left to the last. I always figure they can be tucked into a suitcase on its way out, but by that time it's bulging with a capacity load.

Maria Tolva, manager beauty parlor, Congress hotel—I think it's much harder to adjust one's self to a new neighborhood than to forget the old—and I mean neighbors more than neighborhood. Living as close to each other as we do in the city it's important to establish the right relationship from the beginning and that's not always easy.

Mrs. Herman Marks, housewife, 6320 Kenmore avenue—The part of the packing that I won't trust to any one else is the part I dread the most—packing and unpacking all the delicate dishes and glassware. Nor does it add to the pleasure to find that never yet have the suitcases been large enough to hold everything.

FAMILY OF FIVE ROBINS NESTING ON WINDOW SILL

A family of five robins, mother and father, and three babies, nests on a window sill outside an upstairs bedroom at the home of the Lawrence Nelsons, 2852 Fitch avenue, Rogers Park. The baby robins will celebrate their two weeks' birthday Sunday. This is the second year the parent robins have nested outside the same window, the Nelsons say. Last year they had four baby robins. Because of a storm window the Nelsons cannot help take care of the birds.

POLICE ORDERED: HALT NEAR NORTH SIDE BURGLARIES

Special Duties Handicap Men, Captain Says.

Swiftly executed forays by burglars into buildings on the near north side recently have resulted in numerous complaints to the Chicago avenue police.

Capt. Frank S. Reynolds, in command of the district, said yesterday that the situation was unsatisfactory, but that so many of his men were engaged on special details that it was impossible to assign adequate forces to the task of frustrating and capturing the thieves.

Orders More Frequent Patroling.

"I have issued direct orders to all shifts to patrol more frequently," he said. "Every effort must be made to stop this stealing."

One of the most visited victims is the Zenith Radio corporation. The windows of its branch display room on the ground level at 680 North Michigan avenue have been shattered five times since February, 1941, and in each case valuable radio sets have been taken.

The last of these occasions was early Saturday morning. The thieves used a sledge hammer, apparently, to break the glass and get to three portable short wave radios, with which they escaped in an automobile. Witnesses said that the gang was leisurely in its work and was on the scene for three or four minutes.

Building Entered 10 Times.

The American Ticket corporation, on the seventh floor at 360 East Grand avenue, has been burglarized four times in two years and the total of burglaries in the building during the period stands at 10. In the Pelouze building, 230 East Ohio street, three firms recently reported losses. Usually the thieves take only money or stamps after breaking in thru windows, skylights, or fire escapes.

Capt. Reynolds said that defense precautions necessitated police guards over the pumping station at Chicago avenue, over Navy pier, several bridges, and several war material plants. Also, he said, the armed forces had taken some young policemen who have not been replaced.

SHERIFF'S TICKET SELLERS POUNCE ON POLICY TRIAL

Criminal Courts building employés developed into supersalesmen yesterday when 25 defendants and their attorneys showed up to argue a motion to quash policy gang indictments. The defendants, most of them Negroes, proved a ready market for tickets to the annual dance of the sheriff's office employés, and the employés had plenty of tickets to sell at $1 each. The dance is scheduled May 29 in the Morrison hotel.

Attorney James B. Cashin led the attack on the indictments, which charge conspiracy injurious to the public morals, by denying that the policy operations are injurious. Among the defendants are McKissack and George Jones, known as the policy kings of the south side, and Big Jim Martin, said to be the policy ruler of the west side.

Judge John A. Sbarbaro listened to the arguments for a time, then told the defendants and their attorneys to come back next Wednesday.

WE'RE GOING BACK TO BATAAN!

WHY SEIZE AUTOMOBILES?

High ranking officials of the WPB, OPA, the war department, the navy, and three other government agencies appeared before a closed meeting of the senate military affairs committee Wednesday to urge speedy approval of a bill authorizing the government to requisition and pay fair compensation for privately owned passenger automobiles to conserve rubber for war use. According to Sen. Reynolds, the committee chairman, the witnesses asserted that the rubber shortage is a military peril, and every ounce of the vital commodity in this country is needed for the army and navy.

If the need is as great as was reported, why wait to pass a bill authorizing the government to compel people to turn in their cars? Automobile dealers have nearly 400,000 cars on hand. The dealers can sell the cars only to persons having permits, and there are very few of these because not many are eligible and few of those are eager to buy with the tire and gasoline situation uncertain. You don't have to have a law requiring the dealers to sell these cars. The dealers are appealing to the government to take them.

Then there are the used cars in the hands of dealers. At the beginning of March used car stocks in the hands of new car dealers were at an all-time high. Stocks of cars went down that month, but inventories remain burdensome. Two hundred and seventeen of 450 new car dealers in Cook county had 8,279 second hand cars in stock on April 1. There are no figures for the other new car dealers nor for those dealers who handle only used cars. One authority estimates that there are between a half million and a million cars in the hands of dealers in the United States. Like new cars, used cars are difficult to dispose of, and the dealers would be happy to turn their stocks over to the government for fair compensation, without compulsion.

There is even considerable rubber not being put to use. Big tire dealers still have large quantities on hand, and the government asks for a discount below cost in taking over all except the popular selling sizes. And in every household there is a leaky hot water bottle, some old rubbers, and a worn out girdle or two.

If the President were to announce that the government needs rubber badly and appeal to all persons who can spare their cars to turn them in immediately, the response would be tremendous.

The people of the United States are willing and anxious to do everything possible that will promote the winning of the war. They will not have to be forced to give up cars used only for pleasure, but will yield them gladly to the government. Many automobiles are indispensable if business is to be carried on and workers are to reach their places of employment. If the need for cars for war purposes were clearly shown neighborhood pressure would keep any one from holding a car used only for fun. Each man is a better judge of his need for a car than is any burocrat.

Until the government has taken over the cars which are burdening the dealers, has acquired the autos from those who would gladly let the government have them if asked to, and has taken over the stocks of all tire dealers and conducted a vigorous drive to collect old rubber, there is no need for a law authorizing the United States marshals to take cars away from the ordinary citizen.

JOIN—OR ELSE.

The Inland Steel company, which faces before the War Labor board a CIO demand for a closed shop and check-off, has published the sworn testimony of a number of its employés, given at a labor board hearing, describing the terrorism practiced by the CIO to recruit members. At the Inland plant in East Chicago mobs of CIO organizers blocked the plant entrances, smashed the automobiles of employés trying to go to work, dragged them from the cars, subjected them to both threats and actual violence, and forced them to pay initiation fees in the union. This was not union organization; it was highway robbery. The local police were either powerless or unwilling to deal with it.

The CIO Steel Workers' Organizing committee continued its depredations after Pearl Harbor. It was quite willing to sabotage war production by keeping hundreds of employés away from their jobs in order to force them into an organization which they had no desire to join.

The activities described by the Inland employés who were the victims of these goons give a different picture of picketing from that presented by recent opinions of the Supreme court, which seeks to identify it with the right of free speech. The goons in East Chicago were not making speeches or in any other way appealing to reason. They were engaged in violence and robbery, activities for which they escaped punishment because either their numbers or their political influence had intimidated law enforcement officers.

This is a common picture of the methods by which some unions gain membership and those methods are not confined to the CIO, altho it has been the greater offender, on the whole. It indicates how unfair it is to allow governmental bodies to certify union strength on the basis merely of signed membership cards. The only honest test of union strength is a secret ballot in an impartially conducted election.

REPUBLICAN GAINS.

Sen. Bulow of South Dakota, a frequent critic of the New Deal, has been defeated for renomination in the Democratic primary by former Gov. Tom Berry, who presents himself as an administration rubber stamp. The important news out of South Dakota, however, is not Sen. Bulow's defeat. It is that on the basis of partial returns Gov. Bushfield, running for the Republican nomination for United States senator, piled up twice as many votes as Berry, the Democratic nominee, and that 76 Republican ballots were cast for every 35 Democratic ballots.

When Sen. Bulow was elected at the high tide of the New Deal six years ago he received a bare 50.1 per cent of the total number of ballots cast for the candidates of the two major parties. There has been a significant switch in popular sentiment since then, with 68 per cent of the voters going Republican in the primary just held. In a wheat growing state, where the New Deal crop subsidies have been a large factor in influencing election results, this change in the tide is especially noteworthy. It is another portent of sweeping Republican success in November.

THE TVA IS CALLED TO ACCOUNT.

The senate has adopted an amendment to the independent offices appropriation bill which will prevent the directors of the Tennessee Valley authority from spending its vast income as they please and without the approval of congress. Hereafter, if the house concurs in the amendment, TVA's income will be segregated and can only be spent with congressional approval. Heretofore the directors have used the income as a revolving fund with which they could indulge, without the consent of congress, in any sort of boondoggling that pleased them.

This is an important victory because it recovers ground in an area which is the very base of representative government. It was for the power of the legislative body over the public purse that parliament waged its long struggle with the Stuarts—sending one of them to the scaffold and a second to exile.

The resistance offered by the New Dealers to this salutary amendment gives a fine commentary on the sincerity of their representations. The socialist propagandists have always based their arguments on the assertion that all the people should control the means of production. But when the New Deal's Socialists have put the government into business ventures such as TVA, they have exerted every sort of political pressure to prevent the people, thru their representatives in congress, from exercising control.

It would be an error, however, to think that merely because congress may hereafter hold the purse strings of the TVA the venture is going to be conducted with efficiency. Efficiency in the privately owned power companies has depended on the profit motive. The Commonwealth Edison company, for example, develops more efficient generating stations and works continuously to develop new and more efficient uses of electric power in order to make money for its stockholders. Hand in hand with profits has come a great increase in the service given the public. The TVA is under no obligation to make money. Its directors are, therefore, under no obligation to improve efficiency.

If the government goes into business, the alternative to burocratic control which the senate has rejected is congressional control, and in that direction lies the pork barrel and waste of public funds. It is better than the irresponsible control of burocrats, but still leaves much to be desired.

In passing, it may be noted that the proposed appropriations for the TVA, the administration's propaganda bureaus, and the vast area of other New Deal agencies covered by the independent offices bill stand at present at 2 billion 300 million dollars. All of the current individual income taxes collected during the first nine months of the present fiscal year amounted to only $2,248,487,000. What are these independent offices contributing to the war effort that they should spend more than all the people who pay taxes on their personal income have turned in to the treasury in nine months?

AMERICANS ON GUARD.

The phrase, "Put none but Americans on guard tonight," has been attributed with partial accuracy to Gen. Washington. What he actually said, in a letter to his regimental commanders concerning the formation of a guard for his person and for the army records, was "Send me none but natives." He had been rendered cautious by an attempt to poison him by a British deserter who had wormed his way into his bodyguard.

America needs greatly to revive Washington's maxim today in the sense that positions of trust should go only to men who, regardless of their ancestry, are undivided in their allegiance to this nation. With this country in a great war there should be none but Americans put on guard, none with dual allegiance, whether the second allegiance be to a foreign country or a foreign ideology.

There are too many people conspicuous at this time who are not interested in America's welfare. Whatever their formal allegiance, their real allegiance is to other nations or to other philosophies of government. They have wormed their way into positions of trust and power and they are bent on using America for alien purposes.

The people of the nation are undivided in their determination for victory and for the preservation of American government and American freedom. They will not long tolerate the diversion of the national energies by those in official position whose primary interest is the promotion of foreign interests or the use of the war to pervert our institutions.

WAR AND POLITICS.

Clarence Budington Kelland, executive director of the Republican national committee, reports that the people of the middle west and west are impatient with New Deal interference with the war effort. They feel, he states, that the war is being fought as a political campaign, whereas it should be fought as a military enterprise.

There will be no disagreement in this part of the country with the sentiments which Mr. Kelland reports from farther west. We all can recognize that the war should not become the excuse for extending the ramifications and powers of alphabetical agencies, as some New Dealers seem to suppose. The people have not surrendered rights during the war emergency in order that the burocracy may assume greater authority over the national life, nor is the surrender to be regarded as more than temporary. What the people have given up they expect to get back, and their one purpose in even a temporary relinquishment of their rights was to expedite the defeat of our enemies.

Washington is a long way from the grass roots of the nation, and it may be that that is the reason why so many misapprehensions persist among the burocrats. The main task before the nation is to disabuse these burocrats of the idea that they are competent to run the war. The people want to see the military tasks put in the hands of professional military men. When that is done they will have some assurance that our enemies are on the way to quick defeat.

WAR IN THE LIBRARY.

Madagascar, the latest addition to the war atlas, baffles the editor of this column. As a background for literature it is a blank spot on the globe. If you have dabbled in pirate lore, however, you may have heard that it was a famous rendezvous for buccaneers and slave traders in the 18th century.

* * *

Among the French reference works on this great island is "Nine Years in Madagascar," by J. S. Gallieni. The author was Gen. Gallieni, who figured importantly in winning the battle of the Marne by hitting an exposed German flank—the very fellow who hurried his troops to the front in Paris taxicabs.

* * *

Madagascar's debut into the war news means that the little island of Mauritius, which is not far away, may soon take a bow. Its literary importance is greater than Madagascar's, for it is the scene of a French classic, "Paul and Virginia," which has been translated into many languages. When this sentimental romance was written, Mauritius, now a British possession, was French, and its name was Ile de France.

If your soldier boy happens to write you from New Caledonia, see "The Red Mark," a short story by John Russell in a book of the same title. It deals with the French convict settlement on that South Sea island.

If he sends a letter from Bendigo or Ballarat, cities in Australia fairly close to Melbourne, you can run riot among tales of pioneer gold diggers and bushrangers. These places grew up around the centers of the Australian gold rush in the 1850s. For the early days of Ballarat, take the three-decker called "The Fortunes of Richard Mahony," by Henry Handel Richardson.

LINES TO A JUNE BRIDE.

Think not that when your vows are said,
And notes triumphant chime,
That you are truly man and wife—
Your clergyman is Time.

When you have tasted pathos,
And have shared the healing, too;
When you have climbed together,
And have failed and tried anew,

When you have heard the rhapsody
Exhaled in new-born breath,
Or felt the quick caesura
In the sacred hush of death,

When you have learned the symmetry
Of splendid years and varied,
Then will your wedding culminate,
For then will you be married.

The Duke Encounters Sales Resistance.

One by one the gang of Line contributors assembled for their weekly luncheon, and last of all came Duke Bakrak. He had a feather in his hat, like the community fund decoration, only bigger. It was so big, in fact, that when he sat down it tickled the crown of C. O. R. several seats away. He had a big sunflower in his velvet coat and would have looked like Oscar Wilde except for his hair. He gazed upon the wondering faces.

"I've writ a book," he said in explanation, and blushed.

"Is it Odes?" asked Flossie.

"No!" he said sternly. "It smells good."

"Ye gudes and little haggis! A book!" yelled M'Tavish. "Ye'll hae the impudence t' put y'sel' on a shelf o' learning wi' Scott, and Bur-r-rns, an' me?"

The Duke dug deep into his pocket, purposely made large to carry his lunchbox, and hauled out a heavy tome bound in fine leather.

"Is that it?" gasped the gang.

"Naw! This is the order book," said the Duke, then shouted to the far end of the table, "How many dozen for your patrons of wit and wisdom, Uncle Louie?"

"Well," said Uncle Louie doubtfully, "make it one—on approval." The Duke tightly closed his eyes to take the shock, then opened them with renewed hope.

"Now, gang!" and poised his pen expectantly.

A long, long pause.

"If we don't tip the waitress today," came at last the voice of Quizzicuss, "and we all put in together, we might take one."

"Why not wait," countered Casual. "He's sure to send a complimentary copy to the public library and we can borrow it." Shandy Gaff.

THE SWORD OF RIDICULE.

What now avail these weak and empty words
When all our energy and strength must build
The garb of steel in which an army girds
To earn the destiny our hearts have willed?
Yet, more than bomb or shell, the foeman dread
The sharp and deadly knife hid in the pen,
And words that sting and burn shall help to spread
The flag of liberty on earth again.
So, as we ridicule the pompous pride
Of those who call their own the rising sun,
Our words shall help our guns to turn the tide,
And when the tyrants' little day is done
They shall go down, their bitter requiem
That we had "clapped our hands and laughed at them!"

TAKE CARE OF MINOR INJURIES.

THE old saying, "A penny saved is a penny earned," may refer with equal force to tears and scratches. If we make it a rule to treat all cuts, no matter how insignificant, many a costly illness will be prevented. Medical reports are filled with cases involving the loss of fingers or other important members because somebody poohpoohed a minor accident and failed to do his duty. This attitude of indifference has probably come about because the injured one does not wish to lose time from work. It is such a nuisance to stop, cleanse the parts, and apply a bandage.

Slight abrasions may be cared for in the home. On the other hand, some judgment will be required in determining when the doctor is needed. No lay person, no matter how well trained in first aid, should attempt to treat a deep wound or a laceration that is at all extensive. The common saying, "Daub it with a little iodine and it will be all right," is as useless as it is dangerous.

We may remind ourselves that germs can enter the blood stream thru a prick from a bright, shiny pin, which nevertheless may be laden with bacteria, as well as from a nail that is badly weathered. It all depends upon how many microbes are planted beneath the cuticle.

If the lesion is accessible, our best method of removing infection is by means of scrubbing with soap and warm water. The process should continue until the surrounding area, as well as the torn parts themselves, are thoroly freed from all débris. Only then will it be proper to cover the region with sterile gauze, fastened in place with strips of adhesive.

Blisters, all too frequently, are a source of trouble. One or more on the palm of the hand may come with the first game of golf or any exercise to which the victim is unaccustomed. Infection will not occur just so long as the fluid within is allowed to absorb of its own accord. But should the overlying tissue rupture, the raw surface beneath forms a remarkable culture bed for the growth of bacteria.

A deep stab, as from a nail or any sharp object, calls for tetanus antitoxin. In fact, almost any dirty lesion—unless cleansing is prompt—will demand the administration of lockjaw and gas bacillus serum.

Splinters are always a menace. While they should be removed, it is important to reach the very bottom of the pocket and provide adequate drainage lest contamination flourish.

Nine out of ten of our mishaps can be managed by intelligent parents or other members of the family. Little machinery is required—merely a roll of sterile gauze and a bit of plaster. Physicians generally forego the use of chemical disinfectants. The reason is that if they are strong enough to destroy germs, they will prevent healing and delay recovery. We need irrigation and plenty of it, and the best antiseptic is soap and water.

RESULT OF BITE.

C. D. writes: About 10 years ago I was bitten on the foot by a snake. Ever since then, when it is cold or when I walk too much, the area becomes painful. Is this the normal reaction to the venom?

REPLY.

The effects of the poison have long since disappeared. The chances are that in the process of healing, a tiny nerve twig was caught in the scar. Another explanation is that cold or fatigue may reduce the circulation to the parts—hence the pain.

VITAMIN CRAZE.

W. E. L. writes: Would it be a shock to the system to stop taking vitamins?

REPLY.

Yes, if there is a real need. This might be a good way to learn whether or not the remedy is superfluous.

LETTER TO UNCLE SAM.

Evanston, Ill., May 3.—As a patriotic American, a sincere sense of justice impels me to bring to your attention a practice which has developed as a result of the operation of the selective service act that is having a very serious and deleterious effect on the morale of many selectees in the army and their parents, relatives, and friends at home.

A great number of my friends and acquaintances and I are bitterly resentful of the favoritism being shown to far too many eligibles who, to avoid being drafted into active army service, have sought and thru influence have been given safe and good paying jobs in the alphabetical bureaus and the army and navy departments in Washington and the navy procurement department and army ordnance department in Chicago. These jobs can be satisfactorily filled by the legitimately exempt and older men of more mature experience, men who need the jobs as a result of business dislocations resulting from the war.

We also protest the giving of unjustified deferments and spurious "dependency" and "essential to business" exemptions. Last week I visited one of your large army camps and was impressed by the deep resentment of young officers and soldiers against those they called "draft dodgers," "shirkers," and "gold brickers," and the recognition of "drag" by army and navy departments and boards. I found that these men, many from good paying jobs and with promising careers and many from "the wrong side of the tracks", and from rural districts, who had sought no protection thru influence or safety first marriages, but who had enough honest patriotism to place their all on the altar, are doing their jobs for $21 or a little more per month without shirking.

These men do not accept with complacency the fact that an influential eligible draftee, without pride or honor, has rejected his responsibility to his country and is permitted by his draft board and government to hide in a safe good paying government job, and in many cases without any military service or training whatever, strut in an honorable service uniform while doing so.

We are constantly reminded in the press and over the radio of the importance of maintaining a high level of morale in soldiers and civilians alike. Unfairness in the draft or the recognition of slacker influence will destroy soldier and civilian morale faster than it can ever be built.

I believe that the draft dodgers I have described should still be within the jurisdiction of their respective draft boards and that it is your honorable duty to order the offending boards to call all shirkers out of their hiding places and put them in the service, as originally contemplated in the selective service act.

For the record I wish to inform you that I have only two sons, graduates of Dartmouth college and Harvard university, with several degrees. They have both sacrificed their civilian careers. They are both in your army.

James Bostwick.

SCHOOL BOARD COURTESY.

Chicago, May 5.—Mine may be an isolated case, but an experience today in calling the board of education seems to prove that "the public be hanged" attitude prevails. A high school assistant principal asked me to call him back this morning regarding my son's transfer. I tried to do just that, calling the board of education for the telephone number, and was promptly put back on my heels by some female barking, "We don't give phone numbers, and if he wanted you to call him back why didn't he give you the telephone number?" With that, she slammed the receiver—and I, the humble citizen of a great metropolis, had to like it.

Would it have cost her a great deal to have told me this with a little courtesy, or are the school board employés little dictators who can treat us as inferiors even tho their salaries are dependent on the people whom they abuse? If the school board isn't for the people, then what is its function?

As a result of this receiver slamming, I had to call my wife to drop what she was doing and walk 10 long blocks to relay the message. C. E. Johnson.

SECURITY FOR CAB FARE.

Cicero, Ill., May 5.—This is an answer to the letter of Mrs. Dorothy Kell: Your husband had no business taking a cab when he didn't have the price of the fare. Maybe you don't realize it, but when the fare isn't paid by the rider, the cab driver has to pay that out of his own pocket—and they don't make so much that they can afford to pay for the rides other people get. Frankly, I doubt very much that the cab driver took a radio as security. I know what I'm talking about, because my husband was a cab driver at one time. They usually take rings or watches as security, and when the price of the fare is paid, the people get their property returned to them. I don't blame the cab drivers for insisting on something as security.

Ex-cabby's wife.

THE LANGUAGE PROBLEM.

Chicago, May 5.—Can Mr. Luigi Criscuolo, who wrote on "Foreign Language Press" May 4 give me one good, honest reason why any one in our country should not learn to read, write, speak, and use our English language?

Our country offers the foreign born person many advantages, among which is free education — for improving themselves, making money, and learning our language. Of course, these foreign born people avail themselves of this advantage when and if American money is at stake, yet they cannot make the sacrifice, regardless of how long they live here, for any other reason. Hence, if these people could read our papers [which they should be able to do unless they are too disinterested] there would be no need for government paid censors to keep watch over their radio programs or papers.

English should be mandatory for voting. We are interested in improving this country, not degrading it, and this is one way we can. It cannot justly be construed as an infringement of personal liberty for we have other laws for the good of the United States. People not interested in learning our language are not fit to be judges of our problems or news. Therefore, why a foreign language press or radio at all? E. J. Frost.

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers on page 35.

1. Which one of these units of measure is the longest?
   Kilometer Nautical mile Furlong Statute mile
2. You can increase the apparent height of a room by using which type of wall paper?
   Checkered Plain Tinted Vertical striped
3. Which one of the following inventions or discoveries has accelerated civilization most?
   Law of gravity Telescope Wheel Gasoline
4. Miners often employ which one of these birds to detect dangerous gas?
   Parrots Pigeons Sparrows Canaries
5. Which one of these shade trees will produce the most brilliant autumn foliage?
   Cottonwood Elm Ash Oak
6. Try to select one of the words in large type below which has the same relationship to the third word of the line, as exists between the first two words therein. This is another "analogy" problem like the sample, "Arm : Hand : : Leg : Foot."
   [a] Fish : Bird : : Submarine : SHIP-TANK-AIRPLANE-TRUCK.

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

GOT THAT PICNIC URGE? THEN TRY SOME NEW IDEAS

Booklets by Mary Meade Offer Suggestions.

When the day's entertainment includes a picnic or hike into the woods with family or friends, refreshments will be an important part of the arrangements. And if you can think of nothing except "hot dogs" and potato salad for food, get a copy of Mary Meade's booklet, "Let's Have a Picnic," for new ideas. This little booklet contains menus for meals to be carried in a basket from home, suggestions for foods to be purchased on the way, and those that can be cooked over the campfire, so take your choice. There are plenty of helpful recipes in the booklet, too.

If you've definitely decided on sandwiches for the picnic basket, let them be packable, nonrunny ones. You'll find suggestions for a variety of them in the booklet, "The New Sandwich Maker," along with ideas for the daintier, more partified type of sandwich.

Both these booklets are available at the Tribune's Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street, and in the Tribune Tower lobby, for 3 cents each; or they'll be mailed to you for 5 cents each in stamps. Please address mail requests to Mary Meade, Tribune Tower. The following booklets by Mary Meade are also available:

TODAY'S PRIZE RECIPE

Today's prize winning shrimp salad is an all-in-one dish meal. It's the kind of recipe that has endless variation which you can make to suit the contents of your pantry shelf or leftover supplies. It wins $5 for Mrs. W. E. Finnegan, 426 S. Quincy street, Green Bay, Wis.

Some recipe of yours also may be worthy of the $5 prize given daily. Send your entry to Recipe Contest, CHICAGO TRIBUNE, giving standard, level measurements and clear and complete directions.

Shrimp Salad.

[Serves six to eight.]

1 small head crisp lettuce
1 small can shrimp, cleaned, drained
3 hard boiled eggs, sliced
½ cup sliced celery
1 tomato, cut in eighths
1 tablespoon minced green pepper
1 cup cooked or canned peas, drained
¼ cup diced cucumber
Salad dressing to blend well

Chop lettuce and add remaining ingredients. Some of these may be omitted and others added to suit personal tastes, if desired. Use French or cooked type dressing, using enough to hold salad together and to suit taste. Season lightly with salt and pepper. Serve well chilled.

[Send in your favorite recipe.]

MUSHROOM DISH GOES WELL WITH A SAVORY STEAK

Whole, fresh mushrooms are delicacies anytime of the year, but right now they're fairly inexpensive. Serve the tender caps, stuffed with a zippy filling, along with a savory steak or baked ham slice.

Stuffed Mushrooms.

[Serves six.]

12 large mushrooms
4 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 cups soft bread crumbs
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon catsup
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons minced parsley
¾ cup thin cream

Scrub mushrooms, leaving caps whole and chopping tender parts of stems. Melt butter, add onion and chopped stems, and cook three minutes. Stir in bread crumbs and cook two minutes. Add seasonings, catsup, lemon juice, and parsley. Stuff mushroom caps with this mixture and arrange in buttered baking dish. Pour cream around mushrooms and bake in hot oven [400 degrees] for 15 to 20 minutes, until mushrooms are tender.

HOTBREAD MIXES KEEP FOR WEEKS IN REFRIGERATOR

It's Easy to Be Prepared for Emergency Meal.

Emergency meals require time saving methods of preparation, but don't exclude homemade hotbreads from the menu because time is scarce. Prepared "mixes" for quick breads and pastry, too, are easy to make, and they'll keep in the refrigerator for weeks, or until you are ready to use them. When the occasion demands, remove your favorite mix from the refrigerator, add liquid and eggs if necessary, and the mealtime treat is ready to pop into the oven for baking.

Homemade Biscuit Mix.

8 cups flour
¼ cup baking powder
4 teaspoons salt
1½ cups lard

Sift the flour and measure. Sift again with the baking powder and salt. Cut in the lard until the mixture has a fine, even crumb. Place in a closed container and keep in the refrigerator until ready to use. This recipe will yield five batches with 2 cups of mix for each batch.

Ginger Bread Mix.

4 cups flour
1 tablespoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 tablespoon ginger
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup lard

Sift flour once; measure and sift again with remaining dry ingredients. Cut lard into dry ingredients with a pastry blender. Store in refrigerator and use as needed. When ready to use, add ¾ cup molasses, 1/3 cup buttermilk or sour milk, and 1 egg to 2 cups of the mix.

Corn Bread Mix.

4 cups flour
2 tablespoons baking powder
2 teaspoons salt
½ cup sugar
3 cups cornmeal
⅔ cup lard

Sift flour; measure and sift again with baking powder, salt, and sugar. [The sugar may be omitted if unsweetened corn bread is desired.] Add corn meal. Cut in lard until the mixture is fine in grain. Store in refrigerator and use as required. When using add 1 egg and 1 cup milk to 2 cups of corn bread mix.

Pie Mix.

7 cups flour
4 teaspoons salt
2⅛ cups lard

Sift flour, measure, and add salt. Cut lard into flour with two knives or pastry blender until crumbs are coarse and granular. Cover and store in the refrigerator until ready to use. In using pie mix, 2½ cups are required for a two crust pie, and 1½ cups for a one crust pie. In mixing, measure out the required amount of pie mix and proceed as in making plain pastry.

To Prevent Curdling.

To prevent curdling when combining a hot sauce with beaten eggs, add a little of the hot mixture to the eggs, blend, and return to the rest of the mixture to finish cooking.

FRESH EGG POINTERS.

A brown, white, or speckled egg shell is no indication of the freshness of the egg. If the yolk stands out like a ball when the shell is broken, and the whites are clear and firm, however, the egg is very fresh.

FLAKO
PIE CRUST

No more baking "ups and downs." Ingredients are precision-mixed to result in the same delicious pie crust every time. All you have to do is just add water, roll and bake.

The microscope reveals MILLIONS of GERMS on so-called "clean" china and glassware!

LOOKS are often deceiving. The microscope proves that dishes and glassware which are merely visibly clean often harbor invisible germ dangers. Ordinary cleansing lacks the extra germicidal efficiency needed to combat this menace most effectively. You can rely on Clorox to provide intensified disinfecting action and to remove numerous stains in routine cleansing of china, glassware, crockery and many other surfaces. Simply follow directions on the label.

SUNSWEET PRUNE JUICE

THE GROWERS' OWN BRAND

WEEK-END'S BEST VEGETABLE BUYS ARE ENUMERATED

Advice Also Is Given on Fruits and Meat.

[Copyright: 1942: By The Chicago Tribune.]

The little snap of cool weather we've been having may affect some of the prices of fresh vegetables this week-end. Asparagus in particular shows a rise in price, tho it still is a fairly good buy. But don't let the weather scare you, because many vegetables will have lower prices. Outstanding buys are green beans, beets, cabbage, carrots, celery, cucumbers, green peas, sweet potatoes, spinach, artichokes, radishes, green onions, and rutabagas.

You'll notice that green beans have been added to the list of good buys, since they have lowered to the moderate range. Beets are mostly from Texas, of good quality, and reasonably priced. Cabbage costs less now and carrots show a decline, while celery has risen a trifle. Celery is still a good buy, tho, in both Pascal and Goldenheart varieties. There's no change in price of either broccoli or cauliflower, the latter being moderate to high.

Cucumber Price Lower.

That prize salad ingredient, cucumber, also has lowered to moderate. If you should run into a high priced cucumber, you can bet it's hothouse grown, since there are still some hothouse ones available.

Greens at the vegetable market include turnip tops, mustard greens, and cabbage sprouts. None of the three can match the reasonable price of spinach, altho that green has risen a bit. The price of lettuce is lower and quality is fair. The head has a leafier appearance, since the leaves aren't as tightly grown.

Texas onions have lowered to a moderate level and green peppers have come down somewhat, but are still rather high. Green peas continue to be reasonable. Old potatoes and most new potatoes remain at the same price as last week, but a few new ones are slightly lower. Sweet potatoes are about the cheapest vegetables on the market and are more reasonable than Irish potatoes.

Ripe Tomatoes Scarce.

Ripe tomatoes are scarce, so prices are higher. Hothouse tomatoes are definitely high. Bunch turnips have risen a trifle, since they are rather scarce. Squash is available at moderate prices in the small white scalloped type and the Italian variety. Artichokes are still a good buy, having come down some more in price. Mushrooms cost more, since they are becoming scarcer, but star rutabagas for its low price. Radishes and green onions sell at a quite moderate level.

In the fruit line, there's good news about strawberries, since they are quite a lot lower than last week, coming from Louisiana and Tennessee. Homegrown rhubarb bears a moderate price, and avocados are reasonable. Oranges and grapefruit, up for the last two weeks, have come down again. Pineapple continues to sell at an almost moderate price, while apples hold their firm level.

Egg Price Unchanged.

There is no change in the price of eggs, but butter is slightly lower on the wholesale market, and this may affect the retail butter prices during the week-end.

Beef is the best meat buy, with chuck roast the star cut for Sunday dinner. Two other outstanding meats are leg of veal and lamb shoulder roast, featured at various stores in the city.

Here are some suggestions in the moderate price range: Smoked beef tongue, rump veal roast, pot roast of beef, frying chickens, and ducks. For any dinner, you may serve rib veal chops, rib lamb chops, corned beef brisket, or short ribs of beef economically.

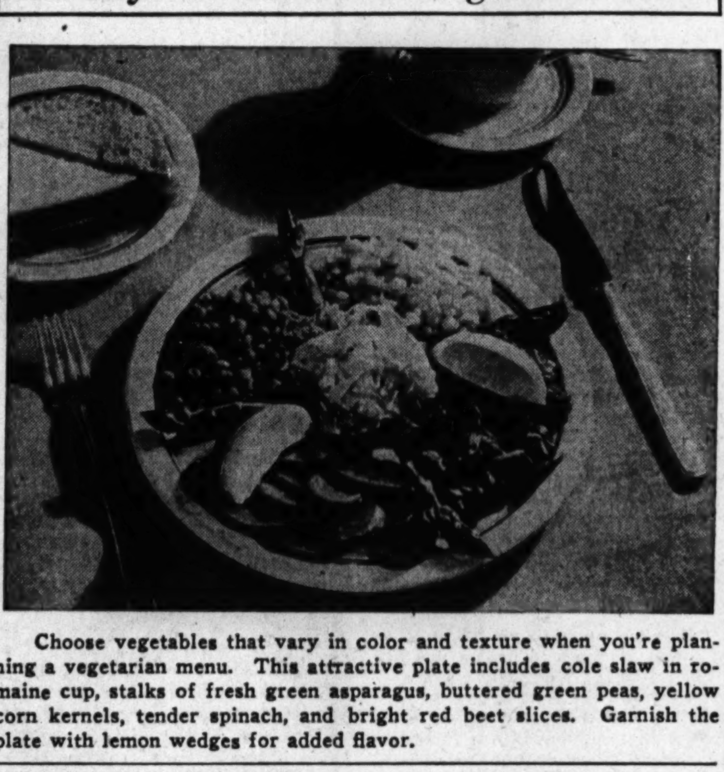
Hamburger probably will be served more and more to keep the food budget within limits. Purchases breast of veal at a low price and dress it up by stuffing it, then braising in a 325 degree oven for about two hours.

Ham Isn't Too Costly.

Ham isn't too expensive, the shanks being less per pound than the whole ham. Consider, tho, that there is more bone in the shank portion. Pork tenderloin should be classed as a luxury. Several stores in the city are featuring steaks at not too high a price, the sirloin moderate to high and porterhouse a few cents higher per pound.

Cheapest fish offered in the fresh water line are lake herring and sheepshead. Lake trout are a moderately good buy. Salt water fish available at favorable prices are fresh halibut, flounder, haddock fillets, mackerel, and shad.

Variety in Attractive Vegetable Plate



Choose vegetables that vary in color and texture when you're planning a vegetarian menu. This attractive plate includes cole slaw in romaine cup, stalks of fresh green asparagus, buttered green peas, yellow corn kernels, tender spinach, and bright red beet slices. Garnish the plate with lemon wedges for added flavor.

Adding Deviled Ham Helps to Flavor Scrambled Eggs

A small container of deviled ham goes a long way in adding flavor to scrambled eggs. Prepare the desired number of eggs and just before they are done, mix in one teaspoon of the deviled ham for every two eggs used. Serve on hot toast, or spread the ham on the toast and serve the scrambled eggs on top.

Arrange Food to Let Air Circulate in Refrigerator

To make the most of the refrigerator's efficiency, arrange food containers to allow air to circulate between them. Crowded shelves block the passage of cold air.

Vanilla Wafers Suggested for That Chiffon Pie Crust

For a crisp cookie crust for chiffon pies or refrigerator cakes combine 1½ cups crushed vanilla wafers with 4 tablespoons butter, melted, and ¼ teaspoon cinnamon. Mix well and pat firmly into buttered pie plate. Chill for about one-half hour before adding filling.

Wrap Fresh Vegetables in Damp Cloths to Store

When you've purchased your fresh vegetables for the week, clean them, and wrap in damp cloths. You'll have a roomier and cleaner refrigerator, and the vegetables will keep better.

Problem Papa?

So he won't bother with breakfast? Try giving him Wheaties. Chances are he'll like that rich, toasty flavor. Swell nourishment, too. Wheaties are flakes of whole wheat.

SWEET POTATO WAFFLES MAKE DELICIOUS DISH

Sweet Potato Waffles.

[Serves four.]

1 cup mashed sweet potatoes
4 tablespoons dark brown sugar
1 cup milk
1 cup sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs, separated
5 tablespoons fat, melted

Combine mashed potatoes with sugar and milk. Add dry ingredients, which have been sifted together, and the beaten egg yolks. Beat well. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and melted fat. Bake in a hot waffle iron.

Honey Butter Sirup.

½ cup strained honey
⅓ cup butter
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
⅛ teaspoon cinnamon

Combine ingredients and simmer over low heat for about 5 minutes. Serve warm.

This Ideal Luncheon Dish Is Quick and Easy to Fix

Here is a simple luncheon dish that requires only a short time to prepare. It's ideal with fruit salad. Split "hot dog" buns in half lengthwise, spread with butter, and set a half weiner on top. Sprinkle with grated American cheese and place them under the broiler at 450 degrees until lightly browned.

Hospitals Told Need of 10,000 Men as Nurses

The training of 10,000 male practical nurses in civilian hospitals within the next year for army duty was proposed last night by Dr. Basil MacLean, president of the American Hospital association. He spoke at the banquet of the Tri-State Hospital assembly in the Stevens hotel.

Dr. MacLean said the need for graduate commissioned nurses in the army is not being met and his suggestion was that some enlisted men and those with physical disabilities who are not eligible for combat duty be given short nurse training courses in hospitals. He is forwarding his suggestion to the surgeon general's office.

Dr. MacLean described the adjustments hospitals are making to mesh with the war program and paid tribute to volunteer nursing aids recruited under sponsorship of the American Red Cross and the Office of Civilian Defense. On behalf of the hospital association, he accepted a portrait of Asa Bacon, superintendent emeritus of Presbyterian hospital, who retired Jan. 1.

Earlier in the day John Crane, superintendent of the American hospital in England, related experiences at the institution. The hospital is at Oxford, 45 miles from London, covers 15 acres, has 600 beds, and has treated thousands of military and civilian wounded since its establishment Jan. 1. It has escaped bombing.

Its entire equipment and professional staff were sent from this country. Crane, formerly superintendent of the Physicians hospital in Jackson Heights, Brooklyn, N. Y., said there was great difficulty in getting nonprofessional help in England, but now volunteer workers, British Red Cross women auxiliaries, and British army medical corps men are assisting. Daughters of an earl and a lord work side by side with a gardener's daughter, he said.

Crane called for intensified training of women auxiliaries in this country, suggesting that after a woman is given instruction in practical nursing she should also receive schooling in other hospital departments.

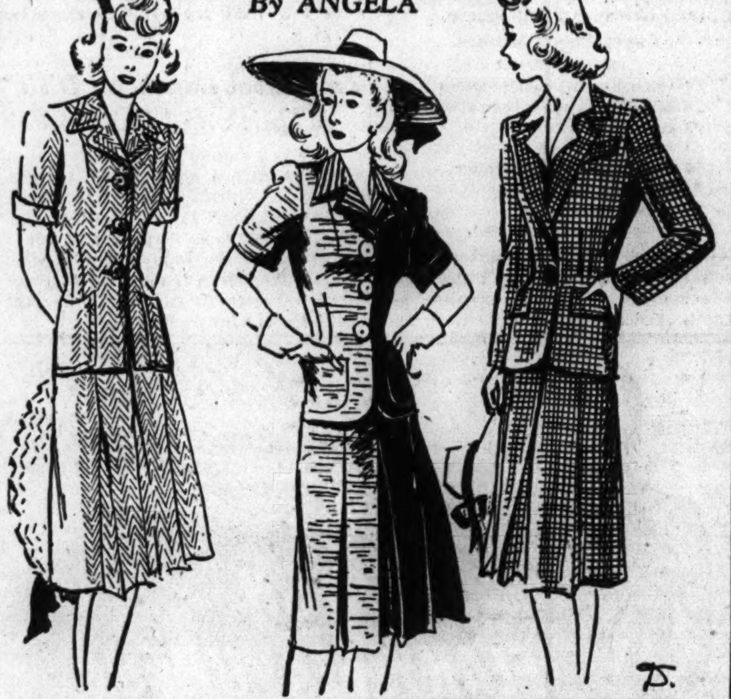
FASHIONS

By ANGELA



The Houdinis of the modern fashion world are the designers and makers of synthetic fibers and the textiles into which they are woven. These magicians start with coal and water or some equally unpoetic combination of elements. And after a little mysterious hocus-pocus a slender fiber is spun from their test tubes which, when woven, looks like wool, or linen, or silk, or whatever these alchemists have set their minds to.

The three summer suits illustrated today are proof of their achievement. These fabrics, all of them rayon mixtures, are cool and comfortable. Still they have enough body to retain their shape, hang smoothly, and fit becomingly.

The first is a natural colored herringbone weave which closely resembles a coarse linen thread. Two box plaits in front and back provide generous fullness in the skirt. Interesting buttons that look like blobs of clay fasten the jacket, which might be worn with or without a blouse, as a suit, or as a dress. The jacket is unlined. Under $18.

The shantung suit in the center is of a good heavy, firm material that will stand up well in warm, wilting weather. There is a wide range of colors available in this style, such as Kelly green, black, brown, red, and blue. A striped blouse is part of the bargain.

The shepherd's check is definitely a suit and was not designed to do double duty as a two piece dress. The jacket is long sleeved, and fully lined. You can get it in black and white only. Under $23.

Mother Seeks Furnishings to Make a Home

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

A mother who is trying to bring up her family in crowded, uncomfortable quarters writes:

"Dear Miss Brown: I have read of your help to others and hope you can aid me. I am the mother of three little girls and my husband works on WPA at a salary of $14.30 a week. Tho he is looking for private employment, it is still difficult for him to find a job, since he is 43 years old and unskilled.

"Because we have no furniture of our own, we have to live in two furnished rooms. However, we are so crowded and the rent is now so high that we are compelled to move. I realize that moving into a furnished apartment large enough to accomodate five people will be more than we pay now, so I am trying to get enough furniture to start housekeeping in an unfurnished flat of four rooms, unheated. I could then cut my rent costs considerably and have enough room to live in.

"I'm hoping and praying that the readers of your column will help me in my need. If I can get two double beds with springs and mattresses, a chest or dresser or drawer space of any kind, a table and chairs, and a gas stove. These are just the very essential things, and rugs, curtains, or anything else which might be offered would be greatly appreciated and would help to make our home livable.—Mrs. B."

This family lives on the north side. Because there is so little money to pay for moving items we would appreciate offers from the general vicinity.

Unusual Mass Will Celebrate Pope's Jubilee

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

In honor of the 25th anniversary of the consecration of Pope Pius XII. to the episcopate, Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch will celebrate, for the first time, a pontifical dialog mass at Holy Name cathedral next Wednesday morning. This service will bring to a close formal observances of the triduum, or three day celebration of the silver jubilee being celebrated thruout the country.

The dialog mass, known as missa recitata, is a method of liturgical celebration evolved under the Benedictine Liturgical conference in which the congregation more fully participates in the mass. Assisting in the archbishop's first pontifical dialog mass will be the students of Holy Name Cathedral Grammar school, Quigley Preparatory seminary, and Mundelein Central High school.

Wednesday will be the children's special observance in the triduum. The celebration will open Sunday with the archbishop celebrating solemn pontifical mass at the cathedral. Special masses in all parishes of the diocese will be offered as part of the celebration. On Monday, which is women's day, Bishop Bernard J. Sheil will be celebrant at Holy Name cathedral, and Bishop William D. O'Brien will be the celebrant on Tuesday morning for nuns and brothers of the religious orders of the diocese. At 11 o'clock Sunday morning W-G-N will present a special 30 minute broadcast of the triduum. Archbishop Stritch will deliver a special address and the Cathedral choristers and the Quigley Plainsong choir will sing portions of music to be heard at the cathedral during triduum services.

The Rev. Dr. Frederick C. Grant, professor of New Testament literature, Union Theological seminary, New York, will be the centennial preacher Sunday morning at Trinity Episcopal church.

Dr. Oliver De Wolf Cummings, executive secretary of the Baptist Youth fellowship, will speak at the opening session of the annual convention of the Chicago Baptist association Monday at the First Baptist church, Evanston. Other speakers will include Dr. Catherine Mabie, missionary, and the Rev. Benjamin R. Morales, former pastor of the Mexican Baptist church of Phoenix, Ariz. Dr. Charles T. Leber will be the speaker at the closing session Tuesday night. He returned recently from an extended tour of western Pacific areas. George Namzelmann, president of the association, will preside at the sessions.

With four Sundays remaining before the close of its 35th season, the Chicago Sunday Evening club, Orchestra hall, reports an attendance of more than 70,000 thruout the fall, winter, and spring. Not since the last war has the club been so popular. Clifford W. Barnes, founder and president, recalled that among the prominent speakers who appeared during the last war were William Jennings Bryan, Franklin D. Roosevelt, then assistant secretary of the navy; the Most Rev. Cosmo Gordon Lang, recently retired archbishop of Canterbury, Evangeline Booth, Henry Markham, and Dr. Henry Van Dyke.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY.

The Boss Replies.

It's hard to conceive 'twas my office pearl
Who penned those lines in White Collar Girl!
Permit me, Miss, to reply in kind
To things you have on your so-called mind:
Instead of striving to find a rhyme,
You might try getting to work on time.
Refrain from expressing yourself in print
And put your mind on your daily stint!
Instead of pursing those ruby lips,
You might fill my bowl with paper clips.
If I sound my "a's" to resemble "o's,"
It's because your ears are filled with beaux.
So forget about Tom . . . and Dick . . . and Harry

CLEARING BELLE'S BOSS.

In Reply to Queries.

Washington appears on all $1 bills; Jefferson on $2 bills; Lincoln on $5 bills; Hamilton on $10 bills; Jackson on $20 bills, and Grant on $50 bills. Franklin appears on $100 bills; McKinley on $500 bills; Cleveland on $1,000; Madison on $5,000, and Chase on $10,000 bills.

As for the reader from Warrenville who writes to say he never saw a $5,000 bill . . . well . . . a friend of a friend . . . of a friend of mine once saw a $100,000 bill and reports that Woodrow Wilson's picture appears on it.

Thrift Note.

Betty writes: "I tear my carbon sheets in half after they become faint, turn the worn out parts up and still get a good, clear copy of short letters or copies of invoices. I also take the full sheet of carbon and lower it to the date line on full size letterheads, and you'd be surprised at the number of extra copies I get out of that sheet of carbon."

The Hose Situation.

Companies which have suggestion boxes for employés are finding themselves confronted with an unusual situation. Heretofore the business girl has gone to work with her legs trimly clad in silk or nylon stockings. But now the suggestion box is stuffed with pleas: "Stockings are getting too expensive . . . won't you let us wear socks to work?" "You ask us to buy defense stamps," the girls write, "but how can we do it now that stockings are so big an item in our budgets?"

"The hose situation is definitely a problem now that nylons are so expensive and silk so scarce," writes an office worker to this column, and she suggests that the girls [all in accord] begin wearing anklets on May 15. And that, again, puts the white collar girl reluctantly in a movement like a straggler caught up in a parade.

Yet the fact remains it is a problem, and the national hero of 1942 [to the career girl] will be the one who comes forth with a suggestion as to What to Do About It.

A Vote for Slacks.

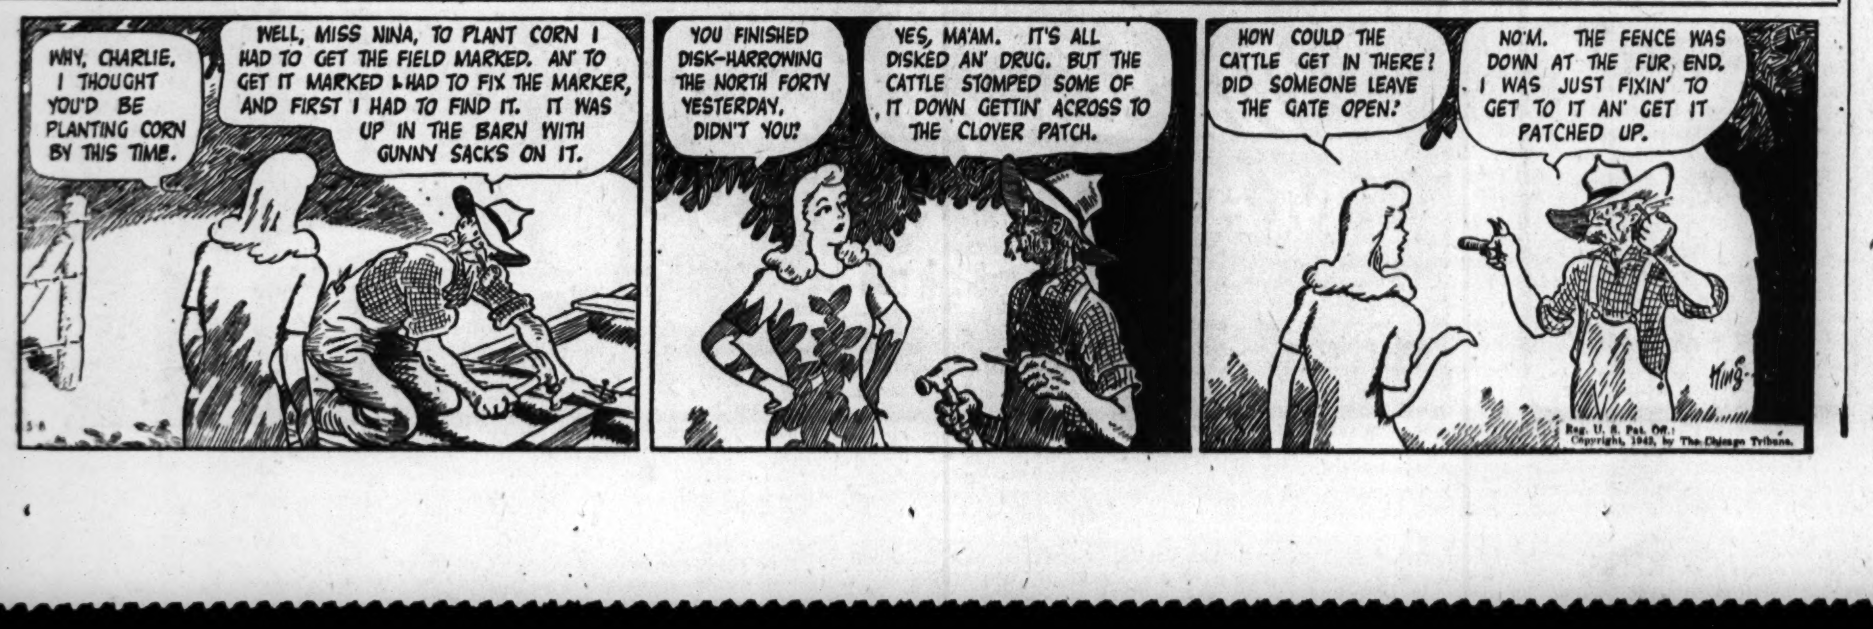
GASOLINE ALLEY—PREPARING TO GET



WHY, CHARLIE, I THOUGHT YOU'D BE PLANTING CORN BY THIS TIME.
WELL, MISS NINA, TO PLANT CORN I HAD TO GET THE FIELD MARKED. AN' TO GET IT MARKED I HAD TO FIX THE MARKER, AND FIRST I HAD TO FIND IT. IT WAS UP IN THE BARN WITH GUNNY SACKS ON IT.
YOU FINISHED DISK-HARROWING THE NORTH FORTY YESTERDAY, DIDN'T YOU?
YES, MA'AM. IT'S ALL DISKED AN' DRUG. BUT THE CATTLE STOMPED SOME OF IT DOWN GETTIN' ACROSS TO THE CLOVER PATCH.
HOW COULD THE CATTLE GET IN THERE? DID SOMEONE LEAVE THE GATE OPEN?
NO'M. THE FENCE WAS DOWN AT THE FUR END. I WAS JUST FIXIN' TO GET TO IT AN' GET IT PATCHED UP.

Naval Officers' Ranks Swelled by Chicagoans

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE navy's blue is on the backs of an increasing number of Chicagoans. Recently commissioned in various branches of the service are Lieut. Edison Dick, Lieut. Frank S. Sims, Lieut. David Annan, Lieut. F. Osborne Elliott, and Lieut. Dodge Freeman.

There must be something about the house in Glencoe that Mr. and Mrs. Sims are occupying that makes the tenants navy conscious. Lieut. and Mrs. George Schulz, who own it, leased it to Lieut. and Mrs. Sims a few months ago when Lieut. Schulz entered the navy. Lieut. Sims had no idea of joining the service at that time, but now that he is in he and Mrs. Sims have put the house up for rent again. Mrs. Sims and the children will go to the Sims ranch in Michigan for the summer, as usual.

Mrs. Annan Is Expected Back Home Next Week.

Mrs. Annan is expected at home from Washington, D. C., next week, having accompanied her husband there when he received his orders. Lieut. Dick is stationed in Chicago, as is Lieut. Sims, for the time being. Mrs. Elliott is exceedingly war conscious, for she has two brothers in the service as well as a husband. One brother is in the army signal corps, the other in the army air corps. Lieut. Elliott and Lieut. Freeman also are stationed in Chicago.

Maj. Leon Mandel and Mrs. Mandel are departing on Monday for Washington, where Maj. Mandel, who is in the army air corps, will receive his orders. They will say farewell to their friends at an open house from 5 to 10 o'clock on Sunday evening.

The Robert W. Buckleys' son, Robert, is a corporal in the marines. He has departed for foreign service after having been stationed on the west coast for a year, his former Barrington neighbors have learned.

Lucy Harvey to Become Ensign's Bride Thursday.

Soon after he receives his commission as an ensign in the naval reserve next Thursday, Eugene Beauharnais Sydnor Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Sydnor of Richmond, Va., will claim a Chicagoan as his bride. She is Miss Lucy Harvey, whose father, William S. Harvey Jr. of Glencoe, has announced his daughter's engagement to the midshipman at the naval reserve training school at Northwestern university.

Miss Harvey, who was introduced to society in the fall of 1940, attended the North Shore Country Day school and was graduated from the Master's school at Dobbs Ferry before entering Smith college. Mr. Sydnor is a graduate of Princeton university and of the Harvard business school. He and Miss Harvey met after he arrived in Chicago to enter the naval reserve training school at Northwestern university.

The Town school has invited midshipmen and ensigns from the Northwestern naval reserve training school to a spring supper-dance tomorrow night at the Edgewater Beach hotel. Miss Grace Jacobson and Miss Ann Caldwell are co-chairmen of the party.

Proceeds of Sale Monday Go to Navy Relief Society.

The Navy Relief society will receive the proceeds from a sale to be conducted at a gift shop at 625 North Michigan avenue next Monday. Many who are interested in selecting gifts for the numerous spring brides will get ideas for attractive presents from the tables to be set by such talented Chicago hostesses as Mrs. James Ward Thorne, Mrs. I. Newton Perry, Mrs. Winterbotham Badger, and others.

Families and friends of navy men have been invited to a tea which the Navy Mothers' club of Chicago will give from 2:30 to 4:30 o'clock on Sunday at the Stevens hotel. During the Mother's Day tea Lieut. David N. Goldenson will 'induct" the mothers into the service in a ceremony which paraphrases the regular navy induction. Also speaking will be Ensign Walter Jennings of the navy public relations department, who helped to organize the club. Mrs. Helen Joyce

Front VIEWS and PROFILES By KATE MASSEE

Proof of the Pudding.

The instructor of a Red Cross class in foods and nutrition for north shore housewives passed out a questionnaire to the members. Among the questions was this:

"What, if any, educational background in nutrition or home economics have you had?"

One woman answered:

Off Stage.

Impressions of members of the Hollywood Victory caravan as they deployed about town before their appearance at the Army and Navy Relief societies' benefit at the Stadium Wednesday night:

Sartorial honors to Eleanor Powell, in a daffodil yellow suit with matching hat and blouse. . . . Prize for the tired-outest star to Charles Boyer, huddled into a heavy ulster. . . . Good sport medals to Merle Oberon and Jimmy Cagney, who were first to accept an invitation for a sightseeing tour, with members of the Red Cross motor corps as chauffeurs and guides.

The Sugar Market.

In the avalanche of stories coming out of the sugar registration there's one concerning the bored school teacher-registrar, whose afternoon was enlivened by the appearance of an overweight housewife. The housewife was more reluctant than most to give her correct poundage, because, she confessed, she was afraid the government wouldn't give her any sugar. Whereupon the teacher told her slyly that what the government was planning to do was to team up overweight women with very thin women—sort of equalizing things, so to speak. The curvaceous one departed—comforted.

What, No More Minestrone?

M. S. Noyes found food for thought in watching the Italian chef for an Erie street Italian restaurant take notes from the menu tacked to a tree in front of a nearby restaurant dispensing American dishes. Among the items he jotted down were hamburgers, corned beef hash, strawberry shortcake, fresh rhubarb, and home made gingerbread.

Stage Prop.

A recent broadcast from London hinted that further newsprint restrictions would halve the magnificent wingspread of the London Times, reducing it to tabloid proportions. The news sent Charva Chester, stage manager at the Selwyn, and her aide, Arthur Marlowe, scurrying around town to buy up all available copies of the paper, as it is an active stage property in "Blithe Spirit." Carol Goodner holds it as she awaits Dennis King's arrival at the breakfast table, to serve as an ambush to hide her fury until Mr. King [playing her unchastened husband] can get its full force. To reduce the size of the newspaper would practically disarm Miss Goodner, altho it wouldn't rob the audiences of a good laugh, when in reply to Mr. King's question, "Anything in the Times?" she says: "Don't be silly."

Eleanor Club Dinner.

There will be a members' dinner and business meeting at 7 o'clock tonight at the Central Eleanor club, 16 North Wabash avenue.

YWCA Leaders Open Three Day Regional Meeting Here Today

YWCA workers from 12 states will assemble this morning in the Hotel Sherman for a three day conference on "The Rôle of the YWCA in a World at War." The keynote talk on that theme will be given at the opening session at 10 o'clock by Miss Charlotte T. Niven, American YWCA secretary, who has just returned from England after two years with the British YWCA. Miss Niven also will speak at the closing meeting Sunday morning.

Dr. Mary Ashby Cheek, president of Rockford college and a member of the YWCA national board, will be the special guest at a conference supper tomorrow night. She will talk on "The Rôle of the YWCA in Building for Peace and a World Community."

Mrs. Ernest Johnson of Lake Forest is the conference chairman. She will preside at a 1 o'clock luncheon today at which Mrs. Henry A. Ingraham of New York, the national president; Miss Emma P. Hirth, general secretary of the national board, and other leaders will be presented.

D. A. R. Devotes Closing Day to Nation's Youth

BY RITA FITZPATRICK.

The 51st Continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution closed yesterday in the Stevens hotel after a session devoted mainly to youth projects for the safeguarding of democracy.

The society adopted a resolution opposing schools in which instruction is given entirely in foreign languages. Such schools, said the resolution, "have a tendency to foster divided loyalty and thereby fail to teach American ideals and the American way of life." State societies and chapters of the D. A. R. were urged to petition their state legislatures to prohibit schools of this kind.

"This is not to be interpreted as opposition to the teaching of foreign languages in school curricula," the resolution said.

Seeking to increase the work in the mountain schools of the south sponsored by the national society, the congress adopted another resolution dividing the income of its golden jubilee endowment fund between the Kate Duncan Smith D. A. R. school of Alabama and the Tamassee D. A. R. school of South Carolina for the duration of the emergency. Mrs. Samuel James Campbell of Mount Carroll, Ill., reported that the society contributed $71,526 to the schools approved by the D. A. R. and others during the last year.

Juvenile delinquency tends to increase during wartime, the delegates were told by Judge Camille Kelley, who has been judge of the Juvenile court of Memphis, Tenn., for 21 years.

"We have to take extreme care that our children are not confused in this war situation," she declared. "During the last World war juvenile delinquency increased 59 per cent in the United States. In England it has increased 41 per cent since the start of the present war. We must take time out to fight for our religion and decency. Children are not conscious of the war's anti-civilization influence. They must not be allowed by careless or calloused adults to grow into victims of war."

The society was urged to continue its work with the Sons of Republic club, which it organized for underprivileged boys many years ago. This plea was made by Judge Louis Schneider of Cincinnati, O., who himself was a member in his youth. Continued coöperation for the Boy Scout movement of America was sought by Dr. James E. West, chief Scout executive.

As part of their contribution to the youth in the army and navy, the delegates adopted a resolution urging chapters to raise funds for the purchase of equipment used in the blood donor program.

The society was commended for its assistance to the United Service organization by Mrs. Arthur Holly Compton of the University of Chicago, a member of the national women's USO committee.

A sale of national defense bonds amounting to $20,610 yesterday brought the total sale at the congress to $251,120, Mrs. Russell Magna of Holyoke, Mass., reported.

Nearly 1,300 members at the Victory dinner that closed the session last night heard Lieut. Com. Carlos Fallon, retired from the Colombian navy, urge closer coöperation among the nations of the western hemisphere.

Women in War Work

By India Moffett

[The Women in War Work department reports on women's activities in war and defense work and will answer questions of women wishing to take part in these activities.]

Tomorrow night in Winnetka there will be a War Service fair in the Skokie school, with booths thruout the classrooms, a variety talent program in the Jane Kuppenheimer Memorial hall, and dancing in the gymnasium. Eighteen war service units of the village are coöperating under the sponsorship of the Winnetka woman's club to stage the affair.

Mrs. Sidney F. Bartlett

Mrs. Sidney F. Bartlett is serving as general chairman of the fair, with Mrs. John P. Hooker as director of exhibits and Mrs. Fred Duncombe as program chairman. Winnetka merchants are offering cash prizes for the booths most effectively depicting the story of their activities. A committee including Mrs. Ernest Ballard, Daniel Catton Rich, director of the Art institute; Col. J. Henning Linden, infantry staff officer, Washington, D. C., and Arthur Earl Bryson, Winnetka village president, will judge the booths.

Many of the booths will sell articles with the profit going into their own treasuries. The Red Cross plans to illustrate every department of its work and a member of each service will be on hand to answer questions.

At 8 o'clock Mrs. Myron T. Harshaw will introduce Laird Bell, who formally will open the fair. Talent for its one hour program will be largely supplied by service men from Great Lakes Naval Training station and Fort Sheridan. During the program Howard Vincent O'Brien will present awards to the students of the village who are winners of the Minute Men essay contest. Prizes for the essays have been donated by Mrs. William Sherman Hay and Mrs. William P. Sidley.

The Executives' club of Chicago, which seldom allows women at its meetings, will have women as well as men at a luncheon meeting today at noon in the Hotel Sherman grand ballroom. There even will be women at the speakers' table, for the special guest is a woman, Mrs. Charles C. Gates of Denver, Colo. Mrs. Gates, who was at her winter home on Diamond Head in Honolulu on Dec. 7, talks thrillingly of that disastrous day and of the days that preceded and succeeded it. She is willing to talk publicly because, as she says, "When I landed on the west coast from the Clipper I was so appalled to find how little people realized what had happened, and could happen, and how much they underestimated the ability of the little yellow man, as well as the axis, that I just started out with no affiliations, politics, or anything else to try to bring realization to our people of how great was our unpreparedness and how extensive was the fifth column movement."

Harold O. McLain, president, will preside at the luncheon. At the speakers' table will be Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, who as chairman of the women's division of the defense savings staff introduced Mrs. Gates at her first appearance in Chicago; Mrs. Walter B. Wolf, Mrs. William H. Stanley, Mrs. L. Robert Mellin, Mrs. James A. Cathcart, Mrs. A. L. Bering, Mrs. Preston L. Wettaw, and Mrs. Clyde Epperson.

Tonight Mrs. Gates will talk at the Washington school in Chicago Heights to about 3,000 persons. The meeting was arranged by Mrs. Mark Bates, chairman of women of the south towns for the defense savings staff, and by Mrs. David Seiser.

Before going to the luncheon Mrs. Stanley will preside at a meeting of the civilian defense consumer chairmen and their staffs in the Edison company auditorium at 140 South Dearborn street. The meeting, which will start at 10:30 o'clock, will be addressed by Dr. William H. Conley, regional representative of the consumer division of the Office of Price Administration, and by Dr. Kenneth Dameron, professor of economics at Ohio State university. Dr. Dameron will discuss "Consumer Education in Wartime" and Dr. Conley's subject will be "Recent Price Ceilings: How They Affect Consumers."

Mrs. Stanley, director of the consumer information service, has arranged for students from the Austin and Steinmetz High schools to give a brief fashion show at this morning's meeting. The girls will display suits they have made for themselves out of their fathers' old suits. Mrs. Mellin is deputy director of the service.

The Home Economics club will give a tea today for the seniors in the Illinois Institute of Technology's fast growing home economics department on the Lewis campus, 1951 West Madison street. The tea will be held in the home economics department at Lewis. The consumer problems class will give a skit, "Consumer Problems and War Economy."

Luncheon for Artists.

Members of the Art Circle of the Chicago College club will be hostesses at a luncheon today for the artists exhibiting in the spring art exhibit now hanging in the club's galleries.

Movie Comedy of Life in Army Full of Laughs

"HAY FOOT."

Presented by Hal Roach.
Released thru United Artists.
Directed by Fred Guiol.
Presented at the Roosevelt.

THE CAST.

Dodo	William Tracy
Sergeant Ames	Joe Sawyer
Barkley	James Gleason
Charlie	Noah Beery Jr.
Betty	Elyse Knox

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Dodo Doubleday, that smart little fellow with the photographic eye and memory like a parrot's who, in "Tanks a Million," was made a top sergeant 24 hours after he'd entered the army, reappears in "Hay Foot," second picture in what, I'm told, is to be the "Hay Foot" series.

As in "Tanks a Million," Dodo's colonel is James Gleason, his chief thorn-in-the-flesh, Joe Sawyer, and his heartache, the colonel's daughter, played by Elyse Knox.

This time the boy wonder's book-acquired knowledge of arms frays the patience of Sergt. Ames, delights his superiors, and does him no good at all when it comes to actual shooting. For Dodo is gun shy. Sly fate, however, whispers to the colonel that Dodo's a shootin' wizard—and the colonel lays bets on him.

From here on things go from bad to worse with Dodo, until the same sly fate shrugs her fickle shoulders and turns mischievous eyes on Sergts. Ames and Cobb—AND the colonel. Little Doubleday is all in the clear and ready for another bow in the "Hay Foot" series as "Hay Foot" ends.

Not since the Keystones and the Chaplins have males in an audience apparently enjoyed themselves as much as I've observed them doing during the unreeling of "Tanks a Million" and "Hay Foot." The day I saw the latter there were many men in uniform in the large audience—and they like to bust their buttons.

See you tomorrow.

Looking at Hollywood

—By John Chapman—

Red Skelton.

Hollywood, Cal., May 7.—Typical Hollywood duolog, overheard by Red Skelton at the M-G-M commissary: "Did you see the preview?" "Did I see it!" "Did you like it?" "Did I like it!" "Do you think it will make money?" "Do I think it will make money!"

It's hard for anybody to get into a studio these days, but it still can be done upon occasion with the proper buildup and references. A recent tourist thru the Metro lot was the elderly president of a soap company. Under the guidance of a boy from the press department the visitor had a wow of a time watching Rooney, MacDonald, Garson, Garland, and others work. When the tour ended the old boy was so grateful to his pilot that he went to the drug store next to the studio and bought him three cakes of soap and a jar of salve.

Report is that the studios have been told by Washington that they can spend $5,000 in new construction materials per picture. Not a lot, when you consider that many a set has cost fifty grand or more, but not so bad as some feared. . . . Hollywood is spending its most war-shaky week. No matter what else you hear, the proposed $25,000 limit on incomes has thrown many persons into a tailspin. And it isn't that anybody out here is unpatriotic or abnormally selfish. Most salary earners think it's okay and are eager to go along with the rest of us. But some are beginning to wonder whether they will have any salaries. . . . For instance, there are a few independent producers—Goldwyn, Edward Small, the newly formed James Cagney outfit, and others—who finance their own productions. They may not actually put up their own cash, but it is behind the notes they sign at the bank. If their incomes were to be limited to 25 grand, it might mean that a $600,000 or $1,000,000 invetment in a picture would be considered fruitless, even if it were a hit. . . . It is hoped by Hollywoodians that income-and-profit legislation will soon clarify the situation; but until it does, independent producers are holding up plans for future productions. And this holdup, already in effect this week, affects the job prospects of actors and other movie workers.

Errol Flynn, still bent on getting into the armed service somehow, is going into Johns Hopkins hospital for a physical checkup. He's in Washington now. . . . Ann Sheridan is giving her second blood donation to the bank in Los Angeles. Lots of guys would suffer a grievous wound for a shot of Annie's blood. . . . Metro has signed Broadway's Bramwell Fletcher for two pictures. He's to play Ashley, the bum, in "White Cargo," and a part in "Random Harvest." . . . Lillian Hellman will do the screenplay of her own "Watch on the Rhine" for Warners'. The film version will employ at least three of the cast—Eric Roberts, Lucile Watson, and Paul Lukas. . . . Dorothy Comingore, still on suspension at RKO, couldn't take some visiting friends on the lot the other day. So she took them to Warners', where she used to work and was welcome.

Hollywoodians want to start a duplicate of New York's stage door canteen. . . . Charlie Chaplin visited Jack Benny and Ann Sheridan on the "George Washington Slept Here" set the other day. . . . Prize-winning pictures in the studio still men's annual exhibit include a lovely portrait of Deanna Durbin with windblown hair, a fabulously oomphy shot of Brenda Marshall, and a snap of Joan Leslie being bitten by a donkey. . . . A Chinese portrays Hurusu, the Jap envoy, in Paramount's "Wake Island." . . . Local telegraph outfit won't have messengers sing "Happy Birthday to You" to the right tune on account of royalty demands. They substitute a birthday greeting to the tune of "Yankee Doodle Dandy," which is in the public domain.

Barbara Hixon's Wedding in Lake Forest Tomorrow.

Milton Wilson Jr. isn't arriving in Lake Forest from his defense work in Rockford until today, so the parties for him and Miss Barbara Hixon, who are to be married tomorrow, are being crowded into a few hours. Miss Hixon's sister, Mrs. Maurice F. Hanson, and Mr. Hanson, are giving a luncheon today. Mrs. Samuel Vaughan Jr., who is to be a bridesmaid, is entertaining at tea in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander H. Revell Jr., following the wedding rehearsal, and the bride's aunt, Mrs. Frank Hixon, is giving the bridal dinner tonight. Miss Hixon's cousin, Mrs. Robert F. Glore, will give a luncheon party tomorrow. The wedding will take place in the Church of the Holy Spirit in Lake Forest.

Miss Hannah Lee Childs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Childs of Detroit, and Crosby Moyer Kelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Kelly of Hinsdale, will be married at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the Martha-Mary chapel of Greenfield Village, Mich., the Rev. John Wellington Hoag officiating. A reception will follow at the Childs' home. After a wedding trip to the Alleghenies, Mr. Kelly and his bride will be at home in Dearborn, Mich.

Edith Atwater to Appear in Play at Ann Arbor.

Mrs. Harold Pynchon and her daughter, Mrs. James A. Drain, and Mr. Drain, are going to Ann Arbor, Mich., next week to see Mrs. Pynchon's other daughter, Edith Atwater, in "No Time for Comedy." Miss Atwater is taking Katharine Cornell's rôle in the play which will be part of the University of Michigan Drama Festival, to be held from Monday thru Saturday. Francis Lederer, who played opposite Miss Cornell, will be in the play also. Miss Atwater's husband, Hugh Marlowe, cannot come west with his wife because he broadcasts by short wave nightly the news from this country to England. Miss Atwater will come to Chicago for a brief visit after the festival closes.

The Chicago Vassar club will elect officers for the coming year at its annual luncheon at 12:30 o'clock today at the Arts club. Mrs. Arthur W. Wakeley, first vice president, will give a report of the April council meeting on the Poughkeepsie, N. Y., campus.

In Pittsburgh, Pa., for the convention and 25th anniversary celebration of the founding of the Travelers' Aid society are Miss Alice Donahue, extension secretary of the society; Mrs. Aneita L. Tidball, executive secretary; Miss Lois Utterback, one of the general supervisors; Miss Marjorie Kimball, representing the volunteers; and Mrs. William Pope, representing the woman's board. The convention started on Wednesday and will close tomorrow.

Temple Sisterhoods.

Officers and committee chairmen will present their annual reports at a meeting of the Illinois State Federation of Temple Sisterhoods at 10:30 o'clock today in the clubrooms at 116 South Michigan avenue. Mrs. Harry J. Iverson will preside.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1942: By Ely Culbertson.]

The plays that appear least important seem to have the most far-reaching results. In a recent duplicate game of eight tables, exactly four declarers made 13 tricks on a certain hand, while the other four had to be satisfied with 10 tricks. Since the contract and the opening lead were the same in all cases, this, it must be admitted, was a very surprising outcome.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	Pass	1 heart	Pass
2 diamonds	Pass	3 hearts	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	Pass	Pass

At every table West selected the spade jack as the opening lead. Winning with the blank ace, all declarers then laid down the heart king. When West showed out, four declarers made the correct play from dummy. They carefully unblocked by calling for the heart jack or 10. After this vital precaution, the play proceeded smoothly as follows: A diamond was led to dummy, and dummy's remaining trump honor was led thru East. Whether or not the latter chose to cover with the queen, declarer now was able to draw all of East's trumps without conceding a trick. After that, the rest of the hand was a laydown. Declarer could discard his three clubs on dummy's long diamonds. Thus, the simple unblocking play of a heart honor, after West showed out, resulted in the declarers taking 13 tricks.

At the other tables, the declarers soon found themselves in hot water. At the second trick they, too, laid down the heart king, but when West showed out, they failed to note that an unblocking play would be necessary. At the third trick they led a diamond to dummy's king and led the heart jack thru East. Whether East covered was unimportant, because the third trump lead found declarers still in dummy. Now, to reenter the South hand for the purpose of drawing East's last trump, these benighted declarers had to lead a low diamond toward the queen. East promptly ruffed and then laid down the ace of clubs, following up with another club to West's king. These declarers were held to their 10 trick contracts.

PTA Conclave Adopts 5 Point War Program

San Antonio, Tex., May 7 (AP).—Parents and teachers—thru their national congress—today approved a five point program to accelerate the defeat of totalitarianism by community planning and work.

The program embraces health, education, recreation, conservation, and social welfare.

On the final day of the annual convention the congress said the whole program was bound up in the youth of the land and that military victory would be spiritual defeat if the needs of the young were forgotten in the struggle.

The findings committee report, approved at the last session, asserted "children are the greatest resource of the nation, our hope and our salvation."

It added: "We must realize that we never can dissociate ourselves from anything that goes on anywhere in the world. Friendship with our good neighbors of the western hemisphere and with our neighbors on the other side of the tracks must be real."

Other points in the report declared:

Every effort must be made to eliminate commercialized vice and prostitution, because "venereal disease is a threat to the well-being of youth, the efficiency of the fighting forces, and the future of the race."

Child labor laws must be safeguarded and youth protected from exploitation.

There must be no curtailment of educational opportunity, and federal aid for schools should be provided in poor communities.

The convention also repeated an earlier demand for the institution of a nation-wide plan to identify and register all children.

"The Girl Who Stood Alone"

By Roy Vickers
Copyright: 1942: By Roy Vickers

INSTALMENT XI.
BLACKMAIL.

In the respectable tearoom of a department store, Matarasso's huge form leaned over a cup of coffee and spoke to the ridiculously handsome young man opposite.

"You were flying yesterday, Frank. Did you get anything?"

The young man who was known as Frank Rawlings sat expressionless, as if he had not heard. After a long pause he answered:

"Ah! I've seen postcards of those at the stationer's. Or haven't I?"

"Good old Mat!" drawled Rawlings. "You always say the dead obvious thing, don't you?"

"Well, dear boy, if you were over Glastonbury I don't see why you didn't go on and get a shot of No. 32. I suppose it's only about four minutes off in an airplane."

"Yes, dear boy. But there's an RAF squadron, dear boy, within five miles. Moreover, aerial photographs, dear boy, can only be taken in daylight."

"That means you can't ever get them?"

"I can get them easily. While I'm doing it, the RAF will get up and they'll hang on to my tail until I land, and I shall be held until the film is developed. And then you'll have to do your own thinking for four or five years."

Matarasso frowned and suddenly brightened.

"Gee! I see it. When they arrest you they'll only find those darnfool photographs of Arundel castle! How will you get the real film away? Drop it to one of us?"

"No. The RAF are up to that. I shall get a girl to take it. Can I count on Jim today? With his taxi, of course."

"Okay. Who's the girl?"

"I want Jim to wait at half-past five near Henriqua's place. He'll see me land on that strip of downland and a girl will get out. She won't know Jim but she'll be delighted to find a taxi. She'll tell Jim to drive her back to town. He can by-pass Croydon. And on the other side of Croydon—"

"Shrager!"

"Quite. Shrager is waiting and bangs the door as Jim drives into the yard. Then they'll have to rob her—take her money as well, as a blind. You can settle that part."

"But why rob her? And who is this girl?"

"You told me last night that you hadn't got a single girl who isn't under suspicion. That means we must have a brand new one, who will not understand what she is doing for us. And don't let Shrager be fool enough to hurt her."

"Have you picked one up?"

"I think so. At your place last night. June Clayton. I rather like her."

"If only I had sex appeal!" chuckled Matarasso.

"Hell to that! I told you I rather like her. And I mean it."

"I've got it. You like that dame. So you want me to fix it with Shrager to gas her and take her money, if any."

Rawling's expression changed—changed so strikingly that Matarasso instinctively put his hand on the revolver in his pocket.

"You don't need your gun, Mat," said Rawlings. "I shan't hurt you just because you tell me I'm a nasty bit of work. But I'm not on this job for money, Mat, and you are. In fact, Mat, you are the only thing in the world I despise more than I despise myself. See that Jim is on time, won't you? S'long!"

Mr. Tarlinghouse was not in the office. June had, really, nothing to do—except to read the morning paper which she had not yet unfolded.

On the first page, next to the news of a European crisis, which she thought dull, was a column headed "THE ENEMY WITHIN OUR GATES." Without special interest she began to read.

"No reasonable man can doubt that last night's outrage on Barnes Common, fully reported on page 3, was the work of one of the hordes of spies who are known to be infesting——"

She turned to page three and found two columns devoted to the report of those few perilous minutes.

"The police are anxious to get in touch with the woman driver of the Baby Morstyn saloon DV 2165 which was found abandoned at Hammersmith." There followed the same description of her hair and her dress. And her fur jacket.

It was horrible that those policemen had been hurt. But at least they were not on her conscience. She was free to reflect that it was a little thrilling to be the "mystery girl" of a newspaper story.

She no longer felt any fear of being found by the police. Glenday would protect her—in spite of his assertion that he would do nothing of the kind.

"He'd feel an awful fool, really, if I got into trouble for obeying his orders." And somehow she just could not imagine Glenday feeling an awful fool.

She had, in fact, forgotten all about Hendricks, the porter, and was startled when he knocked on her door and came in.

"What is it, Hendricks?" she asked formally, for this was a breach of routine.

But Hendricks was unabashed. He was grinning as if he were vastly pleased with himself.

"There's the little matter of your car, Miss Clayton. As I daresay you know—or p'raps you don't—my orders are to take the numbers and description of all cars of executive and staff parked in the staff garage."

"O!" exclaimed June.

"Quite so, Miss," grinned Hendricks. "'Mostyn Baby sedan, same as yesterday' I says to myself when you drove in. And the number?—'Hullo,' I says to myself, 'the number's not the same as yesterday.' There was the book in front of me with yesterday's entry—DV 2165, Miss Clayton."

"If that's all that's troubling you," laughed June, "this one is only borrowed. Mine was stolen last evening—"

"By a young lady with fair hair," grinned Hendricks. He strode forward, picked up the paper and pointed to the picture of the Morstyn. "If I was you I'd tell the police."

"I have," lied June.

"Then there'd be no harm in me telling them what I know, would there, Miss Clayton?"

This was a new and altogether terrifying Hendricks with an oily threat in his voice.

She reached for her bag. Hendricks nodded and smiled.

"Thank you, Miss Clayton. Make it the same again and I'll blot out the record, so's no one can read that—DV 2165."

June took out another five pound note, fingered it. She must not ask Glenday's help for dealing with this man. She must deal with him herself.

"I'm not robbing this place, Hendricks, so your job is not in danger if you keep your mouth shut."

"Quite so, Miss. You needn't worry."

"I don't. You've found out that I have friends who can use a gun, Hendricks." She thrust the second note at him. It was Hendricks now who saw a new and terrifying Miss Clayton. "You'll earn that tenner by blotting out the record and by keeping your mouth shut. And if you don't earn the tenner, Hendricks, I shall tell my friends with the gun that you're dangerous. Understand?"

"Yes, Miss Clayton," gasped Hendricks. "I only thought—"

"Get out, Hendricks," said June and was astounded when he meekly obeyed her.

So that was the way to deal with blackmailers! Pay them a little and frighten them a lot. Every minute she was learning something that fitted her for her new work as a secret service girl taking orders from Glenday.

At 1 o'clock June went out to lunch. Parked on the curb was a high powered sports model and lolling in it was Rawlings.

"Will you let me take you out to lunch?"

She hesitated.

"It's very nice of you——"

"I thought we'd run down to the river—it's such a gorgeous day. I suppose you couldn't possibly wangle the afternoon off?"

Spoiled Child Is Disliked and Unattractive

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

They are two of the finest people. The husband is highly intelligent, capable, and pleasing in personality. The wife is, well, the consensus of opinion is that she's "swell." They have a little girl of 6, and, of coruse, every one thought she'd turn out to be an unself-conscious darling. But she's simply, well, the reports we got were anything but! Nobody [except her parents] can stand her. What a surprise, with the fine people she has for parents.

It's getting so that nobody likes the child, and she is really an intelligent, physically attractive little girl. And nearly everybody is blaming Sheila [the little girl] and it's just too bad, because the farther away she gets from the little girl years, the more she is going to be at a disadvantage with children, as well as grownups.

It's hard while you are looking at a child being disagreeable and showing off, and being thoroly annoying, to say to yourself: "It isn't her fault at all, but entirely the fault of her parents." But we should keep this in mind, because it is true. A child who makes herself objectionable to every one is really the victim of her grownups; and in the long run is going to be a greater sufferer than they.

It is all too bad, because it isn't difficult to manage a very little boy or girl, or a 5 or 6 year old, as Sheila is. All it takes is intelligence applied, and thoughtfulness on this subject, and real consistency.

What are some of the mistakes that parents of a little girl like Sheila make?

They promise good things and don't keep their promises.

They promise deprivations and discipline sometimes, and don't keep those promises, either.

They reprove her for an action one day and the next day laugh at it.

They deluge her with attentions, hugs and kisses and admiration. They never find her in the wrong.

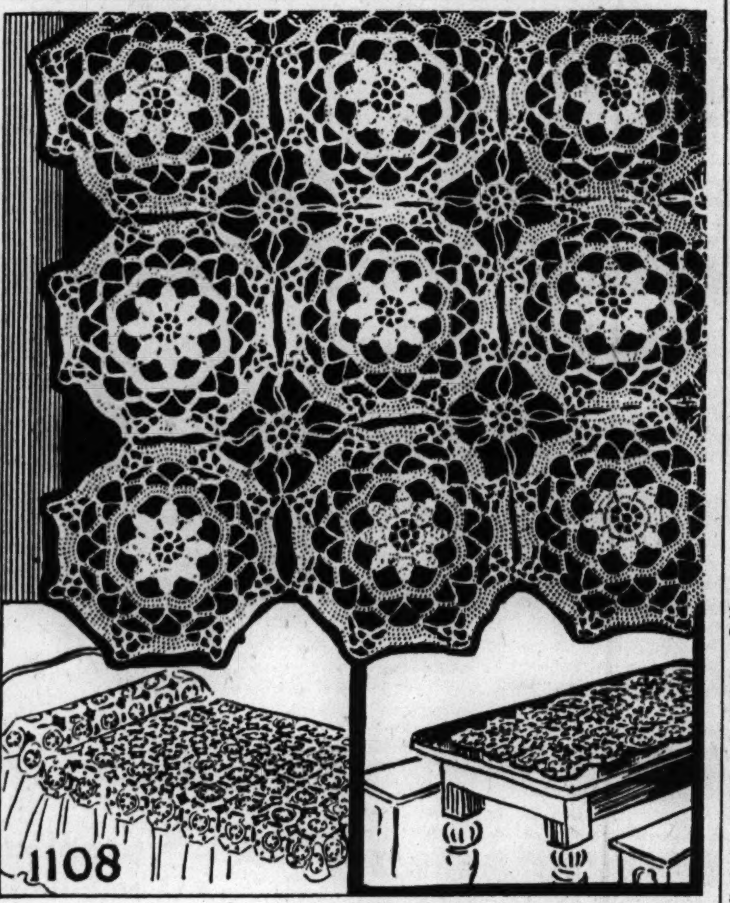
Star Design Tablecloth



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Star motifs in crocheted tablecloths are popular favorites because the patterns are so simple to execute, yet the beauty of design is unmistakable. This same motif may be used for a bedspread when a heavy weight of bed cotton is the medium.

For instructions in crocheting the star tablecloth, No. 1108, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Fashion Turns to Quebec for Print Designs

BY REA SEEGER.

International borrowing gets better and better from the fashion angle. We didn't depletb the supplies in South America, sources of color contrast and combine plus the silhouettes, flounces, and hats, before we treked north for a new theme. This time it's the colorful country of Quebec. All the new cottons featured in a spring and summer collection of suits, dresses, play clothes, and party dresses have been inspired by the printed patterns of the handwork and apparel of the women of Quebec in typical provincial French color schemes.

The printed designs are particularly crisp and refreshing, twigs from the blue-green pine trees, salmon to recall the gastronomic delights of the Gaspé, tall spired churches, the crown of France, spinning wheels, leaves and flowers of the countryside. You'll find these Quebec prints by the yard in all-over patterns. You'll find green and yellow combines, red and bright blue, yellow with big bright designs of red, all the gayest imaginable cotton for your summer street hours and country clothes.

Dresses and suits ready-to-wear right out to win envious approval, also are made of these good looking Quebec patterned cottons. There are smooth tailored two piece suits for street with yellow background spattered in tiny designs in leaf-green, red, and blue. There's a love of a young party dress made of the same print with a peasant apron of bright green, with a huge pocket at the side. This apron doubles for a cape and it's one of the most unusual of all the collection.

Play clothes feature the gathered-at-the-belt skirts and peasant top blouses with a draw string yoke line. If you want something new, bright, cheerful, and vastly different from any cotton prints in former years, hurry down to see these gay Quebec prints.

Thru the Looking Glass

It's fun, and probably good psychology, to be a little less than sternly practical on Mother's day in 1942. Mothers are inclined to be sacrificial by nature, and a purely frivolous present, the sort of thing they'd never dream of buying for themselves, will please them immensely. You can be sure that the more self-effacing the mother, the more she'll cherish the kind of gift that pays her subtle tribute by classing her with the glamor girls. She'll stand for it—and love it—at least once a year.

She may not be consistent about keeping her nose powdered, but give her a compact and see how proudly she'll flash it. Or give her a lipstick, or a jar or two of the kind of creams that she'd buy if she didn't have the sacrificial urge to spend her money on things she thinks more essential to the well-being of her family.

We know one mother, hard working as any woman could be, who was thrilled to tears when one of her boys gave her, for a Mother's day gift, a jar of pink, perfumed hand cream. She'd never dreamed, until that day, that her children thought her hands were pretty enough to be treasured and the flattering suggestion gave her more pleasure than spoken words ever did!

Then there are perfumes, colognes, and toilet waters. The woman doesn't live who disdains them, no matter how inarticulate she may be on the subject. The very presentation of them will make her feel pampered, and when a gift does that it serves its purpose. Fine, scented soaps have the same charm as gifts; they'll be her treasures, put away for special occasions and cherished because they pay a curious, unspoken tribute to the femininity that she—and her children—are too often inclined to forget.

This year, more than ever, it's a special kind of obligation to give many mothers a special kind of buildup. The gift that implies beauty of person and taste, as cosmetic gifts do, is one of the best to consider.

Annual Conference on Adult Education to Be Held Today

The Adult Education council will hold its annual public meeting and conference today in the Hotel La Salle. The session will open with a luncheon meeting at noon at which Rabbi Jacob J. Weinstein of K. A. M. temple will discuss "The Responsibilities of Adult Education in the War." There will be two sectional meetings in the afternoon.

Mrs. Aletha M. Coffman of the Association for Family Living will preside at a community life conference, and the speakers will be Miss Mary Murphy, director of the Elizabeth McCormick Memorial fund; Paul Misner, superintendent of the Glencoe schools, and Mrs. Edwin Eells, director of the Sunset Camp Service league.

NOVICES CROWD LINKS TO STUDY FUNDAMENTALS

Pro Teachers Give Valuable Tips.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The 10th annual free golf school conducted by THE TRIBUNE, oldest and biggest of all group instruction systems in American sports, last night struck its old stride, thanks to more than several kindly glances from the weather man. The W. M. had been none too generous for last Tuesday's opening classes on the four courses of the Chicago park district, bringing out a batch of frigid breezes that restrained the first night's attendance to 15,000, a goodly crowd in any league, but not quite up to the par of past schools.

Total May Hit 400,000.

Last night's enthusiastic throng enabled the school to pass the 350,000 mark in aggregate number of lessons given since it was founded in 1933. Prior to Tuesday's 1942 inaugural, a total of 329,000 gratis tips on the ABC's of golf had been given by the PGA members over a nine year span. Tuesday's 15,000 and last night's 17,000 raised the 10 year score to 361,000.

The professors in charge of the school feel that, given perfect weather for next week's final two lessons on Tuesday and Thursday, the attendance may well crowd the 400,000 figure. Two crowds approximating 20,000 on each of these two nights [and the school has attracted more than that number for a single lesson in the past] would turn the trick.

Eight Profs at Diversey.

Memo to Turf Fans: Alsab's Still a Threat

Baltimore, Md., May 7 (AP).—This is just to let you know that Alsab is getting more than a little bit weary of being called a bum.

So it might be a good idea for the name callers to start hedging off right now, before the game little colt from Chicago makes them eat their words.

This could happen Saturday in the 52d running of the Preakness at Pimlico, because in the last few days 1941's juvenile champion looks more like himself than at any time since his third birthday.

Of course, this is not to say that Good Goods' son is a cinch to beat the nine others, any of which may win.

Don't Forget Whitney Entry.

To begin with, there's Mrs. Payne Whitney's one-two punch of Shut Out, which won the Kentucky Derby, and Devil Diver, which was supposed to. They still stand as the ones to beat.

You don't have to look much farther to realize it's going to take a good horse to win the mile and three-sixteenths race, which may lure as many as 50,000 customers.

But despite the opposition Alsab looks about ready to get going again after adding an eight straight losing streak this year to the 10 in a row winning streak he piled up in 1941.

Runs Wide in Derby.

He gave definite indication of that in the Derby last Saturday by winding up a bangup second after running so wide on the turn that a lot of folks thought he was going to climb the

STREATOR PAYS TRIBUTE TO DALE, 24 YEAR COACH

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Streator, Ill., May 7.—The citizens of Streator tonight celebrated the silver anniversary of service of Lowell [Pops] Dale, director of athletics for the high school and coach of the basketball team. The basketball squad of 11 boys, who last winter broke the scoring record for the state of Illinois while winning 31 games and losing two, shared the spotlight with their popular coach.

Three hundred gathered in the Spalding Lyceum for dinner at 6:30 o'clock and twice that number would have attended had it been possible to accommodate them. A reception was held afterward in the Elks' club.

Dale has coached Streator's young men for 24 consecutive years. Immediately after graduation from Wabash college, Crawfordsville, Ind., Dale spent a year at Duquoin, Ill., and thus this spring he will complete a quarter of a century as athletic coach.

24 Straight Years as Coach.

In 24 years Dale's basketball teams have won 457 games and lost 186. This last season Streator piled up an average of 53.3 points per game, erasing the mark Centralia High school set the preceding season. Streator was beaten only by Thornton Township High school of Harvey, Ill., in the regular season and then was whipped by Paris, Ill., in the semifinals of the state tournament.

Among those who came tonight to honor Dale was Ward [Piggy] Lambert, who coached Dale when he was a member of the Lebanon, Ind., High school team and who this winter celebrated 25 years as head coach of Purdue university's basketball teams. Others included Ray Eliot, recently appointed head football coach at the University of Illinois; Fred Young, sports editor of the Bloomington Pantagraph; John [Dutch] Meinen of Bradley Tech, and Jack Ryan of Chicago.

Score of Prep Coaches Attend.

A score of high school coaches joined in Streator's celebration. Among them were Gay Kinter and Smock Taylor of Decatur; Ray Anderson, Lincoln; Dick Baxter, Peoria, Ill., Manual Training High school; Bron Bacevich, St. Bede's academy; Bob McKay and Homer Hankinson, Ottawa; John Pace, Dwight; Anton Kresl, Toluca; Ted Crawshaw, Marseilles; Butch Nowak, Howard Fellows, and Walter Tyler, of La Salle.

Lyle [Dutch] Clarno of Batavia, a Western conference official, and Frank Lang of Peru, Ill., who assists Streator in its annual Golden Gloves tournament, were other guests. H. K. Whittier, superintendent of the Streator schools, was official representative of the community.

In the Wake of the News

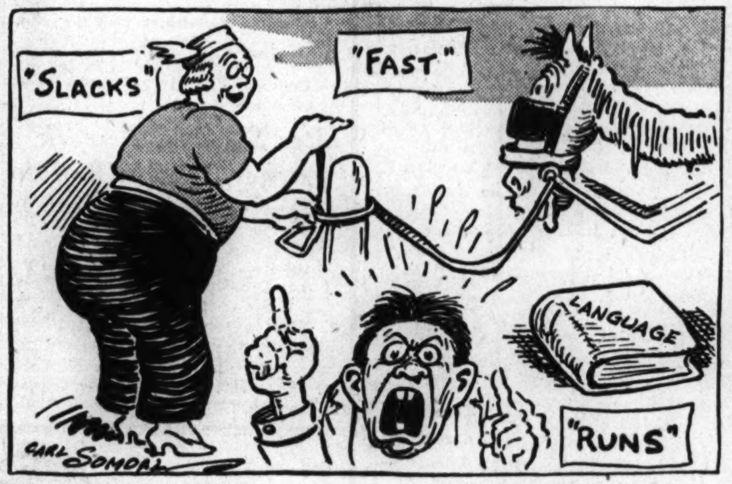
BY ARCH WARD.

CLINT BROWN says he left 4,000 chickens virtual orphans when he reported to the Cleveland Indians this spring. . . . He closed down his new chicken farm as soon as possible because he couldn't find a hand of a mind to tend the fowl. . . . Johnny Colan, who will fight Anton Christoforidis in Chicago Stadium May 20, is a former 50 yard swimming champion of New York state's public schools. . . . San Francisco State college authorities are wondering what Jim Keating, all-around athlete, would do if he became interested in football. . . . Earlier this year he scored 187 points for the State basketball team and later batted .455 on the college nine in 13 games. . . . He won two sprint races in a track meet and on the same day pitched both games of a baseball double header, getting credit for victories in each.

The Detroit Lions plan to use some of the Chicago Bears' man-in-motion offense next fall. . . . "If we're ever going to beat it," says Coach Bill Edwards, "we have to know something about it and the best way to learn it is to use it." . . . New York newspapers during the time of the Giants' last visit to Chicago blasted Wrigley field fans for the manner in which, it was claimed, they kept foul balls knocked into the stands, thus failing to contribute them to men in service. . . . Ted Lyons, involved in shutouts in all of his first three starts, didn't have a hunch bet on the Kentucky Derby winner. . . . Helper D. H. of Decatur, Ill., has a sure fire system to beat the Derby, by the way. . . . The day before the 1940 Derby she picked Gallahadion, because it was listed fourth in THE TRIBUNE'S list of probable starters and the race was run on May 4. . . . Last year she picked Whirlaway, because Warren Wright's great colt was listed third and the Derby was run on May 3. . . . This year her choice was Shut Out, because it was listed second and the Derby was run on May 2. . . . Simple enough. . . . But we're not guaranteeing it will work in 1943.



Works of Chance.

There is no God! The stars that shine by night
In the pavilion of the purple sky,
The sun that fills the universe with light.
And with its brilliance blinds the human eye,
Are works of chance. The seasons that rotate,
The cooling rains that make the woodland bloom,
Are the result of undirected fate
Evolved out of a vast primeval gloom.

Was ever word of mortal more unsound?
Chance cannot make an ordinary lamp,
For even the unlettered swain has found
That this device is marked with reason's stamp;
And to a heart that is not wholly blind
"The lamp of day" proclaims the Master Mind.
—T. E. B.

Well, Look Who's Back!

We certainly speak a curious language. We make a horse fast when we tie it up so it can't even crawl away. A man runs for office by standing still and making a speech. And a woman broad of beam will say she's wearing slacks.

DODGERS LEAVE BUT PITTSBURGH MOVES IN TODAY

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Cubs, who waited in vain for two days to have their first glimpse of the Champion Dodgers, will have something different to look at today and, according to the percentage column, it is almost equally as good. The "it" in the case will be the Pittsburgh Pirates, whose manager Frankie Frisch, now that he is up among 'em, has mellowed slightly. He is known to have smiled several times within the last week.

Frisch is traveling around with a club that nobody, himself excepted, is taking seriously. Some of the managers say it won't have the pitching over the stretch. Others point out that you can't win with an outfielder playing third base, altho Frisch has done it. Some of them even say the Pirates are hitting over their heads. But they are pressing Brooklyn for the lead, a situation so pleasing for Frisch that he just can't get mad—except at the sight of an umpire.

Cubs Know About Pirates.

The Cubs, thus far, have had just enough of the Pirates to appreciate that Frisch may have something. He kicked them around fairly well in California this spring and in league competition a couple of weeks back did it some more by taking two decisions of a three game set. Since then, the Pirates have continued to look good, if not better, whereas the Cubs haven't enjoyed much good fortune in their home stay. They lost 6 of 8 without playing Brooklyn, and it is Frisch's intention to prolong this proportion.

The now affable Frankie is going to turn loose Truett [Rip] Sewell against the Cubs in today's opener, and Sewell usually can cause them trouble. Jim Wilson, who had Johnny [Lefty] Schmitz ready for use in the weather bound series with the Dodgers, has returned the kid to the stable and switched to Jake Mooty as today's master of ceremonies. Tomorrow Bill Lee will take over and for the Sunday double header it will be Claude Passeau and Paul Erickson.

Olsen's Nearly Ready.

It may not be long now, before Southpaw Vern Olsen, who hasn't turned a competitive wheel since he cracked two of his pitching fingers stabbing at a drive off Myril Hoag's bat in a spring game, reappears in a box score. Wilson's pitching isn't half as pressing as the base hit or fielding problems, but an extra mound worker always is welcome, especially if of the left-handed variety. Olsen has already pitched in batting practice so his conditioning may be timed to make him available for the series opening in Brooklyn May 17.

Yale Bound

Howard Odell, who has been recommended for the head coaching job at Yale university. The Yale corporation is expected to act on the suggestion tomorrow.

Thornton Lee Ready to Join Sox in St. Louis

Thornton [Lefty] Lee, who has been of no use to the White Sox this season because of torn shoulder ligaments, may join the team tomorrow in St. Louis. It depends on the judgment of Manager James Dykes who is scheduled to stop off in Chicago today on his way from Boston to St. Louis. It is possible, however, that Dykes may pass up the St. Louis series to engage in a bit of scouting.

Lee has been throwing in Comiskey park for the last several days and declared that his shoulder felt greatly improved, but that he would welcome an order to go to St. Louis "where the warm weather would help."

Outfielder Taft Wright, the Sox's best hitter, who suffered an abdominal muscle strain several days before the season opened, has been taking daily exercise in the park, but is not back to his normal running stride and there is some doubt as to whether he will make his scheduled appearance in the lineup on Tuesday when the Sox return home.

John Rigney of the Sox staff, returned to Class 1-A on Tuesday by his draft board, visited the Great Lakes training station yesterday to discuss the possibilities of an enlistment in the navy. He was rejected by army physicians last summer because of a chronic ear condition. Rigney talked with Lieut. Mickey Cochrane, among others, and declared he would be back for another visit next week. Rigney expects to join the Sox tomorrow.

ADVISORY BODY PUTS UP NAME OF BADGER AID

Act Tomorrow on Recommendation.

New Haven, Conn., May 7 [Special].—Howard Odell, 31 year old assistant to Coach Harry Stuhldreher of Wisconsin, has been recommended by the Yale graduate football advisory committee to succeed Emerson [Spike] Nelson as football coach at Yale university, it was learned tonight. His name will go before the Yale corporation Saturday.

The advisory committee decided on Odell, one of the youngest and least experienced ever called to the helm of a major college eleven, after considering some 20 coaches, among whom were Lou Little, Clark Shaughnessy, Dr. Mal Stevens, and Ivan Williamson. Nelson was the first nongraduate to get the coaching post in the history of Yale. Odell would be the second.

To Pick Own Staff.

Odell is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh, where he later served as assistant to Jock Sutherland. Leaving Pitt, Odell served under Dick Harlow at Harvard and George Munger at Pennsylvania before going to Wisconsin. He joined Stuhldreher there last February. He will come to New Haven from Madison on July 1.

Odell will be allowed to select his own staff at Yale, subject to the approval of the board of control, and will start practice with the opening of the college summer term on July 6, continuing thru Sept. 8. Freshmen entering in July will be eligible for varsity competition this fall.

Williamson conducted a short spring practice at Yale. The only holdover from the old régime, Williamson, former Michigan captain, probably will enter the armed service. He recently took his physical examination and hopes to be commissioned shortly.

Munger Likes Him.

George Munger, head coach at Pennsylvania, under whom Odell worked from 1938 thru 1941 and who took over at Penn himself as a comparative unknown and put the Red and Blue at the top of the Ivy, has a high opinion of his former assistant's coaching ability.

As a former aid to Harlow at Harvard, in 1936 and 1937, Odell should have a pretty fair idea of how to meet Harvard's attack, and if the Blue can beat the Crimson it will go a long way towards satisfying any alumni disgruntled over the fact that

7 TO 1 SHOT WINS FEATURE PURSE AT SPORTSMAN'S

Relius Scores by Five Lengths, Pays $16.40.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Relious, the longest priced horse in an evenly distributed betting field, won the Chicago Heights purse, a seven furlong dash which headed yesterday's program at Sportsman's Park. Despite the fact that he was the most lightly regarded in the field of six, he was held at a little better than 7 to 1 odds, paying off at $16.40, $7.60, and $4.20 across the board.

He won like a stake horse, getting home five lengths in advance of Daybreak while Ballinderry was taking third place. The fans had diagnosed the race as a contest between Book Plate and Ballinderry. So they bet the former down to 2 to 1 and the latter to 3 to 1.

Book Plate Runs Out.

Ballinderry went right out to make the pace with Book Plate close behind. On the first turn, however, Book Plate ran out. But, Johnny Oros brought him back into contention and rushed him up toward the leaders as they went into the second turn.

Then along came Relious as they were half way down the back stretch. He raced to the front with determination and began drawing clear as they went into the last turn. Here Daybreak went up between Ballinderry and Book Plate into second place. Relious came breezing on home and Daybreak had no trouble at all in keeping Ballinderry at a distance.

Those who follow any number system in their hunch betting could hardly have resisted Axelson. This horse was No. 7 in the 7th race at 7 furlongs. He closed at 7 to 1 in the betting. There were 7 letters in his name and the date was May 7. The only reason the hunch bettors missed him was because they figured he was a cinch to finish seventh. But he didn't. He finished first and paid off at a little better than his closing quotation of 7 to 1. His price was $17.20, $5, and $3.60 across the board.

Pays $22.20 to Place.

A succession of popular choices finished in the money as Joe Fisher and Even Tan won the first two races to make up a $22 daily double, after which Greenock's Coin and Downy Pillow scored in the third and fourth. All of these were well backed.

The best investment in these races turned out to be a place ticket on Roadmaster in the second. This 4 year old gelding, which never went to the post until last January, has been no better than seventh in the six starts of his career.

In yesterday's second race, a seven furlong maiden event, he took command quickly, led for a half mile, then relinquished first place to a daughter of Equipoise, Even Tan. This filly won by four lengths and paid $6.20, $3.60 and $2.40, but the long shot Roadmaster had no trouble at all with the others and paid $22.20 and $7.20 for place and show.

Time, :24 1-5, :49 2-5, 1:02 4-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Joe Fisher, $7.00 straight, $4.20 place, $3.20 show; Tusco, $5.40 place, $4.00 show; Braxton, $3.80 show. Winner trained by O. Burton. Went to post at 2:17. At post 1 minute. Start good from gate. Won easily, place driving.

JOE FISHER, a forward factor in the early stages, took command rounding the final bend and, under mild urging came on to win going away. TUSCO, always within striking distance of the pace, moved up strongly in the final quarter mile while saving ground, finished gamely in the final drive but was no match for the winner. BRAXTON BELLE took command soon after the start, set the pace to the last quarter mile, then weakened.

SECOND RACE—Seven furlongs. Out of chute. Purse $800. Net value to winner, $625; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25.

Time, :24 3-5, :50 1-5, 1:18 2-3, 1:33. Two dollar mutuels paid: Even Tan, $6.20 straight, $3.60 place, $2.40 show; Roadmaster, $22.20 place, $7.20 show; Sir Kiev, $2.60 show. Winner trained by H. Trotsek. Went to post at 2:47½. Off at once. Start good from gate. Won easily, place driving.

EVEN TAN, well up from the beginning, stayed close to the pace to the final quarter mile then, under pressure, rushed up to take command, drew away steadily in the final furlong to win as the rider pleased. ROADMASTER rushed into the lead soon after the break came, set the pace for the first half mile then gave way when the winner challenged but was much the best of the others. SIR KIEV, always in a contending position, closed some ground in the final furlong. SONG MASTER showed good early speed, was tiring near end. WAR JOE closed some ground in the final quarter mile. CHOICEALE tired after showing speed for the first half mile. GROUND CLIPPER lost his rider going to the first turn when he bore out badly.

Time, :25 3-5, :50 2-5, 1:17 2-5, 1:46 3-5, 1:53 1-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Black Time, $6.80 straight, $4.80 place, $3.40 show; Firing Pin, $11.00 place, $5.80 show; Connie Ann, $3.40 show. Winner trained by S. S. Tracy. Went to post at 5:39½. At post ½ minute. Start good from gate. Won easily, place driving.

BLACK TIME, a factor early, stayed close to the early pacemaker to the final bend, then forged to the front, and, withmild urging, came on to win going away. FIRING PIN, well back in the early stages, closed steadily while saving ground, then finished with a belated rush. CONNIE ANN, having early speed, set the pace for the first three-quarter mile, then tired when pressed.

HOWARD ODELL TO BECOME HEAD COACH AT YALE

They'll Act Tomorrow on Badger Aid.

Not Looking for Names.

Yale was in no position to lure a big name coach, and Ogden Miller, the director of athletics, had said in the past that such a coach was not being sought. Yale is said to be limited in the amount it could offer, a salary believed to be much lower than that commanded by Little. Shaughnessy, after being interviewed by the committee, accepted an offer from Maryland. Yale is said to be retrenching because of the war and its effect on income.

It is understood that the terms of the agreement call for Odell to coach the team in 1942, without any provisions thereafter. Reggie Root probably will remain as coach of the freshmen.

ODELL NOT INFORMED.

Madison, Wis., May 7 (AP).—Howard Odell, Wisconsin back field coach, said tonight he had no information on a report his name would be presented to the Yale university corporation council as the athletic advisory committee's choice for head coach.

"It naturally pleases me immensely to be considered," Odell said. He stated he had made no application for the Yale position but had been interviewed by a Yale committee which also had talked to more than a score of other coaches.

Odell said he had an understanding with Harry Stuhldreher, Wisconsin athletic director, before he took his present job last February that "should such an offer be extended I would be free to go. I hate to think of leaving but it would be a grand chance for me to go places in the coaching field."

Born on a farm near Clarinda, Ia., he was graduated from East High school, Sioux City, Ia.

He entered the University of Wisconsin in 1929 but transferred to Pittsburgh the following fall. At Pitt his weight prevented him being a regular on the football squad until his senior year, when he weighed 150 pounds as a running back.

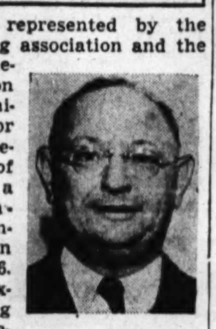
Chicago Bowlers to Fete Veteran CBA Official



Al Sindelar.

Bowling, as represented by the Chicago Bowling association and the Bowling Proprietors' Association of Greater Chicago, will honor Albert L. Sindelar, secretary of the CBA, with a testimonial dinner at the Congress hotel on Saturday, June 6. The event is expected to bring officers and directors of the national governing groups of the sport as well as many of the nation's outstanding bowlers to Chicago.

Sindelar has been secretary of the Chicago Bowling association and Illinois Bowling association since 1926, having taken over on a full time basis then after having served part time from 1908 as assistant secretary while being employed at the Commonwealth Edison company.

Largely because of his efforts the Chicago Bowling association has become the largest local association in the American Bowling congress, its membership having grown to more than 83,000 individuals who compete in 1,897 leagues. Until recently the city and state associations' business was handled from Sindelar's home at 4357 West Cullerton avenue, but the groups opened an office at 32 West Randolph street during the past winter.

outside fence. Some observers estimated he lost as much as half a dozen lengths by going by way of Peoria.

However, on top of his Derby drive, Alsab got out on Pimlico's soft strip today and really gave the railbirds an eye opener by speeding a mile in 1:40 3-5. This was as good a drill as has been turned in by any candidate to date.

He had a lot of company from the other Preakness probables. Every one of the 10 expected to be entered thru the secretary's office tomorrow morning had some kind of drill, but none came close to Alsab's showing.

Trainer Ben Jones galloped Warren Wright's Sun Again a mile and, altho insisting the high quartered chestnut was still an uncertain starter, he was more optimistic about his chances of getting to the post than at any time this week.

The probable starting field follows:

Horse.	Jockey.	Owner.
*Shut Out	W. Wright	Greentree Stb.
*Devil Diver	E. Arcaro	Greentree Stb.
Alsab	B. James	Mrs. A. Sabath
Colchis	G. Woolf	Sterling Clark

Walter Stewart, Newark Pitcher, Dies in Buffalo

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 7 (AP).—Walter Stewart, 25 year old pitcher for the Newark Bears of the International league, died today in Millard Fillmore hospital. Dr. M. A. Hershey said Stewart, who lived in Elizabeth, N. J., entered the hospital May 1 suffering from uremic poisoning. He was in Buffalo with the Newark team. Stewart came to New Jersey from Eureka, Cal.

GOLF SCHOOL HITS STRIDE AS 17,000 LEARN TO SWING

PGA Professors Provide Valuable Tips.

individual instruction on the grip, the stance, and the backswing.

Glynn emphasized the purpose of the school, which is to acquaint the beginner with the first principles of the game rather than to bewilder him with a maze of technical information.

Explain Mashie Shot.

Jerry and his colleagues hammered at the grip and the stance again, while getting their pupils into the backswing. Willis Foland of North Shore, assistant to Alex Cunningham, president of the Illinois section, gave a ball hitting demonstration in which he broke the mashie shot down into the simpler phases, the sort that will aid the novice.

Highlight of the Marquette park session was the question box which followed it. After Tom Walsh of Westgate Valley; Seaman Chuck Blasgen of Great Lakes; Harry Kinnell of Edgewood Valley; Maurie White of La Grange, and Packey Walsh of Marquette had finished with their teaching duties, they rallied the bulk of the class of 4,000 around them and asked the students to fire questions at them. Commonest query was the kind of ball cover to ask for in the interests of wartime conservation. The class itself seemed to think that a hard cover ball was the one to order, but the professors soon convinced them that for the average golfer, the soft cover type would withstand more punishment.

Advocates Hitting Down Action.

A question box also was the big item of the evening at the Jackson park class, where more than 5,000 turned out. Matt Matteson of Ridge, secretary-treasurer of the Illinois PGA, again handled the mike at the big south side course. Personal teaching was given by John Bird of South Shore; his two assistants, Bob Shires, and Frank Lovrine, and Bud Matteson of Ridge. The leading question in the general forum that followed the regular lesson was on how to minimize topping. The pros pointed out that the hands should be used more in a hitting down action. Too many average golfers, the pros told their students, attempt to lift the ball off the ground.

Bill Gordon of Tam O' Shanter, the section's tournament chairman was at the mike in Columbus park, whereat more than 4,000 west siders appeared for the free lesson. Bill was aided by his own assistants, Bill Cunningham and John Chovanec; Pete Thomas of Park Ridge, and Hank Foley of the home club. The Columbus park faculty gave a review of the grip and the stance, as outlined in the first lesson Tuesday, and then progressed to the first stages of the swing.

Crimmins, Chicago Schlitz Scheduled at ABC Tourney

Columbus, O., May 7 [Special].—Johnny Crimmins, who won the All-Star eliminations, sponsored jointly by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and the Bowling Proprietors' Association of America last December, will headline tomorrow's card in the American Bowling congress tourney. Paul Krumske and his Schlitz team from Chicago will share the spotlight with Crimmins, who is scheduled to roll with the Paris Cleaners of Detroit.

PIRATES DEFEAT GIANTS, 2-1; THEN ARE BEATEN, 6-2

Wilkie and Carpenter Pitch 11 inning First Game.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 7 (AP).—The New York Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates had the major league stage entirely to themselves today and divided a double header. The Pirates plodded to a 2 to 1 victory in 11 innings in the first game and then were set down, 6 to 2, in the nightcap which Rookie Buster Maynard enhanced with a three run homer. Weather forced postponement of all other games.

COCHRANE MEETS MARINE TONIGHT IN BENEFIT SHOW

Boston, Mass., May 7 (AP).—Welterweight Boxing Champion Freddie [Red] Cochrane, now a boatswain's mate at the Newport Naval Training station, and Garvey Young, a marine from Akron, O., will meet in a 10 round nontitle bout for the benefit of the navy relief fund tomorrow night in the Boston Garden.

Both battlers have donated their services and General Manager Walter Brown has provided the Garden. As a result, the Navy Relief society has high hopes of attracting a 15,000 crowd and realizing about $20,000 for the fund.

Cochrane, who will have Former Champion Mickey Walker, one of his Elizabeth, N. J., neighbors, in his corner, has been made a 7 to 5 favorite over the rugged marine, who has put together a long series of victories since being assigned to the Charlestown navy yard. Cochrane expects to weigh in at 148, a pound over the welterweight limit, and Garvey at 150.

White Sox Get Break at Last; Boston Final Is Called Off

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., May 7.—The final game of the first White Sox eastern invasion, with the Red Sox, was postponed today and a pity it is there weren't nine earlier postponements. We mean those three days the Sox lost in Washington, the one on which they lost in Philadelphia, the three days in which they lost four games in New York and yesterday, when they lost here.

We remember coming east with the Cubs one year when they were unable to play a game during the first seven or eight days of May and those were in the era when they wanted to play 'em. But no such luck for the Sox. They didn't have anything that looked like a postponement setup until today. It was a cinch the home club wasn't going to let our fellows escape if play was possible.

They Were Glad to Leave.

The boys got an early train bound for St. Louis. Boston to St. Louis is the longest hop in major league baseball, ande one which, 'tis said, a Chicago ball club has been called upon to make only once or twice in 20 years. But the lads were joyous at escaping the final here. Rigors of travel meant naught to them.

Saturday the Sox will seek to end their current losing streak at six straight when Bill Dietrich and the first string infield face the St. Louis Browns in the first of three games to be played over the week-end.

It may be recalled by sadistic fans that the Browns whipped the Sox three straight in the opening series of the season. A little later the Browns had a nine game losing streak but have been able to remain well ahead of the Sox, who have scored four victories in their 22 games to date. These triumphs were by scores of 1 to 0, 3 to 1, 3 to 1, and 5 to 2. The two 3 to 1 victories were over the Detroit Tigers, a source of great humiliation to the Detroiters, tho they have beaten the Sox three times.

Those Sad Old Days.

There are high hopes this team may escape the label of being the worst Sox team ever thrown together. For instance, the 1934 team, Jim Dykes' first as manager, finished last with 53 victories and 99 defeats. The 1932 club, tho it escaped the cellar, won 49 and lost 102. It will be noted that neither of these teams completed the full schedule of 154 games, which was a blessing, as we recall it. The 1931 team finished last with 56-97.

The first Sox cellar team in history was the 1924 outfit. That team had one losing streak of 13 straight, Bill Barrett, a member of that team, recalled in the press box here yesterday.

Smugness Proves Costly.

We didn't travel with the 1924 team. We did with those other sad crews mentioned in the foregoing. In the face of everything, we say the present Sox are better than the teams of 1929, 1930, 1931, 1932, 1933, and 1934, and almost as good as the sixth place bunch of 1938.

Smugness led the Sox into the seedy state of the club today. And just now the smugness has been rather shockingly dissipated. It's pretty hard to be cocky about winning the city series when you lose 18 of the first 22 games in your own league.

Chicago Teachers vs. Eureka in Ogden Park.
Wilson vs. Herzl in Ogden Park.

Madison, Wis., May 7 [Special].—The University of Iowa baseball team, beaten only once in eight Western conference starts, will meet undefeated Wisconsin here in a two game series tomorrow and Saturday.

Ed Schiewe, formerly a shortstop, and Walter Lautenbach, a sophomore, hurled the Badgers to two victories last week in their first conference games.

This pair will have formidable competition from Iowa, however, for the Hawkeyes have Dick Hein, with four straight victories, for service in the opener, and Chuck Schiller and Bob Faber, with three victories between them, for the second game.

MICHIGAN MEETS N. U.

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 7 [Special]. —Michigan's baseball team will face Northwestern here tomorrow and Saturday in a pair of games which may have considerable bearing on Wolverine chances of repeating as conference champions. Michigan has won three games and lost one in Big Ten competition.

The Wolverines will be without the services of Don Boor, sophomore first baseman from Dearborn, who suffered an injured knee in the first game with Notre Dame April 29, and either Art Bergreson or Bill Cartmill will take his place. Starting pitching assignments for the Wildcat series probably will go to Irv Boim of Chicago and either Mickey Fishman, Detroit, or Bill Cain of Forest Hills, N. Y.

MAROONS FACE GOPHERS.

Chicago's Maroons, in the Big Ten baseball cellar with half their schedule played, will face Minnesota's nine on Greenwood field this afternoon in the first of two games which are regarded as the best victory chances Chicago will have this season. The game is scheduled to start at 3:30 p. m.

Norm Gallup or Bill Anderson probably will be the Gophers' starting pitcher, while Coach Kyle Anderson's selection is Bob Meyer. Chicago has lost all six of its conference starts, while Minnesota's lone victory was an 8 to 7 triumph over Northwestern last week.

INDIANA AT PURDUE.

Bloomington, Ind., May 7 [Special]. —Indiana will make its final appearance before "home fans" tomorrow and Saturday against Purdue. Only once in the 17 year period from 1925 thru the 1941 season have the Boilermakers won a series from the Hoosiers. That was in 1928, when Purdue won the only contest not rained out. Four other series have been split during that time, and the local variety of Hoosiers have swept the remaining series.

2,964 RED CROSS WAR FUND GOLF TOURNEYS LISTED

New York, May 7 (AP).—The United States Golf association today listed an honor roll of 527 clubs, public courses and associations which had planned 2,964 tournaments for the benefit of the American Red Cross war fund up to May 1.

Altho the list includes only about one-tenth of the nation's golf organizations, the program already arranged surpasses the number of tournaments held in 1917-'18, which raised $210,000 for the Red Cross. The USGA has asked every course to hold at least three Red Cross benefit tournaments during the week-ends of Memorial, Independence, and Labor days as well as miscellaneous events.

Lo Presti, Blackhawks' Goalie, Now a Sailor

Sam Lo Presti, goalie for the Chicago Blackhawks of the National Hockey league, began his basic training yesterday at the Great Lakes Naval Training station. The 25 year old hockey star arrived Wednesday with a large contingent from Minneapolis, where he had been sworn in an an apprentice seaman. Lo Presti's home is in Eveleth, Minn.

Clarke College Girl Is Queen of Iowa Meet

Dubuque, Ia., May 7 [Special].—Miss Virginia Mitchell of Sioux City, Ia., will reign as queen of the Iowa conference track meet in Loras college stadium here tomorrow and Saturday.

Virginia Mitchell.

The attractive brunette was selected by Loras athletic officials, who are sponsoring the event for the second straight year. Miss Mitchell is a senior at Clarke college, local Catholic girls' school.

Miss Mitchell will be crowned queen of the meet at 1:15 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The court of honor, composed of Clarke college students, includes Lillian McDonnell of Dubuque; Ceil Bacom of Rock Island, Ill.; Margaret Boesen of Des Moines, Ia., and Joanne McDonnell of Fort Dodge, Ia.

Preps to Hold Trials Today in State Track

The list includes Austin, Bowen, Crane, Calumet, Du Sable, Hyde Park, Lake View, Lindblom, Phillips, Sullivan, South Shore, Senn, Tilden, and Von Steuben.

Four men in each event will qualify for the state meet, which will be held at the University of Illinois on May 15 and 16. The two top teams in the qualifying are also allowed to take along any of their men who place fifth in the scheduled events.

The events include 100, 220, and 440 yard dashes, 880 yard and one mile run, 880 yard relay, 120 yard high hurdles, 200 yard low hurdles, high jump, shotput, pole vault, broad jump, and discus. The discus event has drawn only two entries.

20 TEAMS AT KANKAKEE

The Kankakee district trials for the state track meet will attract 20 schools. Preliminaries will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock, and the finals are slated for 8 o'clock tonight.

The following schools will compete:

AA ATTENDANCE TROPHY IS GIVEN TO INDIANAPOLIS

Columbus, O., May 7 (AP).—President George M. Trautman of the American association checked the opening day attendance figures today, and announced the President's trophy for 1942 had been won by the Indianapolis club. The award goes annually to the city which boasts the largest opening day attendance in proportion to the population.

Actually, the Indianapolis attendance was the second largest, some 4,300 short of the 15,546 attracted at Milwaukee, but the Indiana city won because of the difference in size of the cities.

Milwaukee, despite the large crowd attracted there, finished fourth in the President's Trophy race, Louisville taking second and Kansas City third. St. Paul, Toledo, Columbus and Minneapolis finished in that order to fill out the second division.

Here are the opening day figures on which the award was based:

City.	Population.	Attendance.	Percentage.
Indianapolis	386,972	11,546	2.98
Louisville	319,077	9,105	2.85
Kansas City	399,178	11,218	2.81
Milwaukee	587,472	15,546	2.63
St. Paul	287,736	6,894	2.39
Toledo	282,349	5,480	1.94
Columbus	306,087	4,844	1.25

WEST. MICHIGAN NINE DEFEATS WILDCATS, 7 TO 4

Kalamazoo, Mich., May 7 [Special]. —Western Michigan college defeated Northwestern university's baseball team, 7 to 4, today. The Broncos broke a tie with three runs in the eighth to win their third in a row. Fred Stevens and Bob Dresser led the Western Michigan hitters, each getting three singles in five trips. Steven's single in the eighth drove in the winning runs. Score:

COE SEEKS 4TH TRACK TITLE IN MIDWEST MEET

Four Others Have Chance to Win Tomorrow.

Monmouth, Ill., May 7 [Special].—Altho Coe college, seeking its fourth consecutive title, is the favorite in the 22d annual track meet of the Midwest conference Saturday, four, possibly five, teams have an outside chance.

Grinnell defeated Coe in a dual meet, showing strength in hurdles, dashes and some power in the field. Beloit, winner of the Beloit relays, has a powerful combination led by Dick Radant in the dashes and broad jump, and Lawrence, with James Fieweger, hurdle champion and record holder, cannot be counted out.

Others Are Threats.

Monmouth, Knox, and Cornell all have individual stars who will keep them in the meet and Ripon, the eighth member of the conference, probably is the most improved team.

Given good weather and a fast track, records may fall in as many as five events. Dave Clutterham of Cornell is believed capable of setting new marks in either the one mile or two mile run, altho it is not likely that he will be able to do both.

Play Golf and Tennis, Too.

Golf and tennis meets will be held in connection with the track meets. Beloit, defending golf champion, expects plenty of difficulty, as Lawrence, Ripon, and Monmouth all are much better than last year.

The business meeting of the conference, scheduled for tomorrow evening, faces three decisions in addition to the usual conference business, and election of officers. Due to the war time difficulties in transportation, it is likely that there will be a demand for revision of schedules, doing away with longer trips. The same emergency, with the resulting smaller squads, has brought some agitation for a liberalization of the strictly enforced one year resident freshmen rule.

Augustana college of Rock Island, now a member of the Illinois College conference, has applied for membership in the group, and a committee investigating the application will make its report.

CONSTANTINO IS OUTPOINTED BY CHALKY WRIGHT

New York, May 7 (AP).—Lulu Constantino, pride of the east side, tonight lost an eight round decision to Chalky Wright of Los Angeles, New York accepted featherweight champion, before 6,000 in St. Nicholas arena. It was a non title bout. Each weighed 128 pounds.

For Constantino it was the first defeat in 57 fights as a professional. One judge called it a draw, while Referee Arthur Donovan and the other official voted for Wright. Donovan took one round from Wright for hitting low.

It was a fast, hard fight. Wright, a flat nosed little Negro of a reputed 34 years, had an advantage in the infighting. When they got close he plastered Lulu's ribs, and that undoubtedly was how he won. Constantino fans had figured Lulu's speed would tire Chalky and make him an easy mark in the late rounds.

EXPECTS 50,000 TO WATCH HALE AMERICA GOLF

Some 50,000 fans are expected to watch the four day Hale America Open golf tournament at the Ridgemoor Country club beginning June 18, Tom McMahon, president of the Chicago District Golf association, said last night.

Slightly ruffled by Professional Ed Dudley's comment in Philadelphia that the tourney may be abandoned because of lack of player interest, McMahon commented: "What Dudley is trying to do evidently is to encourage more players to enter. We are satisfied with the entries—1,163—to date and by the time the list closes May 13 more than 2,000 players should be enrolled."

Dudley is president of the National Professional Golfers' association, which is coöperating with the United States Golf association and the CDGA in the presentation of the Hale America Open.

FORCED TO QUIT LONG RUN, HE'LL DANCE TONIGHT

William Watts of Loyola university was out there trying yesterday, but his legs just wouldn't come thru. Watts, who had wagered with four fraternity brothers that he could run the 27 miles to school from his home at 1233 West 96th street, got as far as 1100 north on the Outer drive when a cramped muscle forced him to quit. He began the journey at 3 o'clock yesterday morning.

Watts tried and completed 18 miles of the trip. His classmates had only praise for his gallant attempt. He's not thru yet, however. Tonight he plans to attend the senior ball at Chicago Teachers college.

Kelvyn Park Routs Austin, 14 to 6.

Schurz remained undefeated in the north section of the Public School Baseball league by nosing out Amundsen, 1 to 0, in an eight inning battle in Kilbourne park yesterday. Bruce Canatsy of Amundsen had a no hit game going into the eighth inning when Mike Graczyk got a home run on a hit that bounced over the right fielder. Ed Nolan, Schurz pitcher, yielded only three hits and fanned 11. It was Schurz's seventh consecutive league victory and enabled it to remain in a first place tie with Lane.

Kelvyn Park routed Austin in a west section game, 14 to 6, in Hanson park in their battle for second place. Pete Coorlas, Kelvyn Park's shortstop, drove in five runs with a home run and two singles. Richard Pranke yielded Austin only five hits in recording his fourth league victory. It was Kelvyn Park's seventh victory in eight games and Austin's second defeat in eight.

Kelly Beats Englewood.

Kelly defeated Englewood, 8 to 7, in 10 innings in McKinley park in a central section game. Trailing at one time, 5 to 0, Kelly rallied to score three runs in the fourth and four in the seventh to tie. Then in the 10th Art Bruck singled and came home with the winning run when Pitcher Anton Uckockis hit a triple. Englewood outhit Kelly, 15 to 8. Scores:

SUBURBAN LEAGUE

Steady pitching by Chuck Alstrin enabled Oak Park to remain in first place in the Suburban league with a 9 to 2 conquest of New Trier. It was Oak Park's seventh victory in eight league games. Bob Clainell, shortstop for Oak Park, hit a home run in the third inning with two men on and his teammate, Norman Dawson, connected for a homer in the fifth with one on.

Evanston, cellar occupant of the Suburban league, knocked Proviso out of a second place tie with Waukegan by winning, 9 to 8, on the Evanston field. Bob Lutz drove in the winning run with a single in the sixth inning. Bill Fewlkes of Proviso hit a home run in the second inning.

OLDEST CHICAGO TYPO UNION WILL KEEP 90TH YEAR

A Friend of The Tribune Since Founding.

Chicago's oldest typographical union, which has maintained an uninterrupted employé-employer relationship with THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE since the union was founded, will celebrate its 90th anniversary with a dinner and party in the Grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel tomorrow evening.

The National Typographical union was organized in Cincinnati, O., in 1852 and a few months later its Chicago local, No. 16, came into existence with 54 members. Among its first recruits were the entire force of Tribune compositors. The local now has more than 5,000 members, 496 of whom are Tribune employés. [The name of the parent union was changed to International Typographical union in 1869.]

90 Years of Harmony.

"We feel that much of our steady growth has been due to the attitude of THE TRIBUNE," the local's officials said in a statement. "There has been no interruption of the relationship, and not a single day's issue has been held up by any dispute between the management and the union."

One of the members of the union in pre-Civil war days was William H. Medill, brother of Joseph Medill, who acquired an interest in THE TRIBUNE in 1855 and was later sole owner for many years. William Medill was a worker in the composing room from 1859 to 1861. He recruited a cavalry company, of which he was captain, and served with distinction in several battles. He had attained the rank of major when he was fatally wounded in 1863.

Officers of Local 16.

The ITU takes in all the Chicago printers working on newspapers and those in union job offices. The present officers of local 16 are Thomas Canty, president; Robert D. Hogan, vice president; Ernest A. Patzke, secretary-treasurer; John J. Pilch, organizer, and H. Jeff Prewitt, sergeant at arms.

The 1852 records show that the original officers were Carver Butterfield, president; C. B. Langley, vice president; J. P. Woodbury, recording secretary, and Joel A. Kinney, secretary-treasurer.

Until a few years ago the ITU was affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. Since its withdrawal from the big organization it has operated independently.

CHALK UP THREE MORE DEATHS TO AUTO ACCIDENTS

Emil Stellmacher, 64 years old, 7510 Union avenue, a printer, died yesterday in Englewood hospital of injuries suffered earlier in the day when his car collided with one driven by Matias Ziegler, 52, 5626 South Damen avenue, a sanitary district employé, at Garfield boulevard and South Halsted street.

Timothy Keefe, 81, of 2417 South 52d avenue, Cicero, a notions salesman, died in County hospital of injuries incurred May 1 when he was struck by an automobile driven by John M. Crotty, 50, 7236 South Michigan avenue, at 31st street and Western avenue.

Daniel Lansberg, 62, 928 West 34th street, a janitor, died in Southtown hospital of injuries suffered last Sunday when he was hit at 4342 South Ashland avenue by an automobile driven by Walter Osowiec, 20, of 4917 Laflin street.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 282 persons had lost their lives in Cook county automobile accidents since Jan. 1. Of that number 222 were killed in Chicago, where 7,043 were injured.

Mrs. Delia La Porte Dies; Son a Kankakee Alderman

Kankakee, Ill., May 7 [Special].—Mrs. Delia La Porte, 75 years old, Kankakee, mother of Ald. Edmond J. La Porte, 3d ward, died last night at her home. She had lived here most of her life. Five sons and four daughters survive.

OBITUARIES

William J. FitzPatrick.

William Joseph FitzPatrick, former cashier of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, died yesterday in St. Francis' hospital, Evanston, after a lingering illness. He was 68 years old. Mr. FitzPatrick retired from the bank six years ago after 27 years' service. He is survived by his widow, Elizabeth, 917 Washington street, Evanston, and two sons and a daughter. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 10 a. m. in St. Nicholas' church, Evanston.

Henry Faulstich.

Funeral services for Henry Faulstich, pioneer Chicagoan who died Wednesday night in his home, 4930 North Keeler avenue, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the residence. Mr. Faulstich, who was 97, came to Chicago in 1861 from Detroit, Mich. He was a landscape gardener, but had been retired for 44 years. He is survived by two sons, John R. and Herman H., and a daughter, Emma.

Abe Pusstelnick.

Funeral services for Abe Pusstelnick, who died yesterday in his home, will be at 2 p. m. today in the chapel at 2235 Division street. He came to Chicago from Russia in 1907 and for the last eight years operated a newsstand at 63d and Halsted streets. He was 63 years old and lived at 2616 Iowa street. Survivors are his wife, Rebecca; one son, and two daughters.

Peter M. Mallon.

Policeman Peter M. Mallon, retired, died yesterday in his home at 3746 South Rockwell street, apparently of a heart attack. He was 67 years old. He had been stationed at Brighton Park for 29 years before his retirement in 1937. Two daughters and five sons survive. Services will be held at 8 a. m. in St. Agnes' church tomorrow.

Frank Collins Baker.

Urbana, Ill., May 7 [Special].—Frank Collins Baker, 73 years old, curator emeritus of the museum of natural history at the University of Illinois, died early today following an operation. He had been ill for several months. He had served at the university for 20 years.

Caleb Dean Hammond.

Maplewood, N. J., May 7 (AP).—Caleb Dean Hammond, 55 years old, president of C. S. Hammond & Co., New York map publishers, died today at his home after a short illness. He was born in New York City and had headed the publishing firm since the death of his father 12 years ago.

G. Carl Plump.

San Francisco, Cal., May 7 [Special].—G. Carl Plump, 71 years old, vice president and director of the Clorox Chemical company, died yesterday. Mr. Plump was associated with the company 26 years.

FRANK S. RIVERS, WELL KNOWN IN STAGE LIFE, DIES

Funeral services for Frank S. Rivers, widely known in Chicago theatrical circles for more than 50 years, will be held at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 318 North Central avenue. Mr. Rivers, who was 69 years old, died in Oak Park hospital Wednesday.

Mr. Rivers entered the theater business at 14 as a messenger for John A. Hamlin's Grand Opera house, became an usher at the old Haymarket theater, managed several other theaters, and served as auditor for Kohl, Castle & Middleton when that firm operated the principal loop playhouses, including the old Chicago Opera house, the former Palace, and the Majestic.

As paymaster, Mr. Rivers knew many of the nation's greatest stars. He gave Will Rogers his salary when the drawling comedian was getting $75 a week. He stuffed greenbacks in envelopes for Sarah Bernhardt, Louise Dressler, Charlotte Greenwood, Sophie Tucker, Al Jolson, Edgar Bergen, Ed Wynn, Richard Mansfield, Gloria Swanson, George M. Cohan, and Charlie Chaplin.

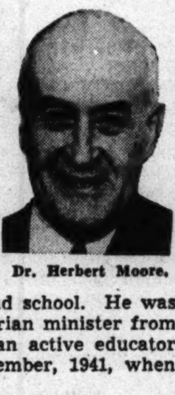
SHOOTS OFF ROBBER'S HAT.

Albert Rothenbaum last night turned over to Lawndale police a bullet scarred hat which he said he shot off the head of one of two gunmen who robbed his dairy store at 1631 South Pulaski road as they were escaping in an automobile after robbing him of $15.

DR. H. McC. MOORE OF LAKE FOREST COLLEGE IS DEAD

Revered Educator Served School 21 Years.

Dr. Herbert McComb Moore, president emeritus of Lake Forest college, died yesterday of a heart ailment in Alice Home hospital in Lake Forest after an illness of several months. He was 65 years old. He retired as president of the college in February.



Dr. Herbert Moore.

Dr. Moore's career was almost evenly divided, in length of time, between church and school. He was an active Presbyterian minister from 1901 to 1920, and an active educator from 1920 to November, 1941, when he became ill.

Admired as Leader.

Friends last night paid tribute to his leadership at Lake Forest college. In 1920, when he accepted the presidency, the institution, like many others of its size, was experiencing financial difficulties. It had an enrollment of 167 and debts of $200,000. Dr. Moore agreed to take the job for one year only. He stayed on, however, and when he relinquished his duties the college had an enrollment of 344—and the $200,000 debts were wiped out.

Dr. Moore was born in Macomb, Ill., educated at Lake Forest college, the McCormick Theological seminary [now the Presbyterian Theological Seminary of Chicago] and in Edinburgh, Scotland. He was ordained a minister in 1901, and held pastorates in Goldfield, Colo.; Milwaukee and Appleton, Wis., and Ithaca, N. Y. In the latter city he was university pastor of Cornell university.

Funeral Services Monday.

In 1917 and 1918 Dr. Moore served as a YMCA secretary with the army in France. After the war and until he went to Lake Forest he served as director of religious education at the University of Pittsburgh. Dr. Moore is survived by his widow, Abigail; a son, Herbert, of Milwaukee, and a daughter, Miss Lindsay Moore. The Moore home is on the college campus.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon in the Presbyterian church, Lake Forest.

WIDOW'S AWARD IN ESTATE ASKED BY MRS. MORRIS

Mrs. Constance Lily Rothschild Morris filed a petition in Probate court yesterday asking a widow's award from the estate of her husband, Ira Nelson Morris, former minister to Sweden, who died Jan. 15.

A stipulation was filed by the executors, including Mrs. Morris, that the petition be heard by Judge John F. O'Connell rather than by some one delegated by him. The other executors are reported opposed to the granting of a widow's award, which might amount to $75,000, on the ground that Mrs. Morris had been amply provided for.

The action was seen as another indication of a possible fight by Mrs. Morris against her husband's will. In March, in another action, she made a stipulation that she was not waiving her rights to renounce the will or to contest it. Mrs. Morris receives the income from one-third of Mr. Morris' estate, in addition to the income from a trust fund of $1,200,000 established for her in 1926.

Tax Receipts Will Exceed Last Year's, Toman Says

County Treasurer John Toman predicted yesterday that final tabulation of collections on 1941 property tax bills received by the May 1 penalty date will show an increase over the $100,299,000 collected last year. Receipts tabulated thru yesterday amounted to $90,755,596, up 2.2 per cent over the $88,910,778 tabulated for the corresponding period last year. Toman said the complete count will be made within ten days.

SEDITION INQUIRY JURY ISSUES 25 MORE SUBPENAS

Twenty-five additional subpenas have been issued by the federal grand jury investigating alleged sedition in the Chicago area, William J. Connor, assistant United States attorney, disclosed yesterday. Twelve of those named, nine of them women connected with pre-war anti-intervention organizations, appeared yesterday morning for brief interviews, but did not testify.

Among others summoned were Nelson E. Hewitt, formerly of the intelligence section of the naval reserves, and Joseph F. Gonnelly, principal of the Hyde Park High school.

Albert W. Dilling, husband of Elizabeth Dilling, author of "The Red Network," made his second appearance before the jury. The nature of his testimony was not disclosed, but it is believed he was questioned regarding the financial setup of his wife's Patriotic Research bureau, 8 South Dearborn street. In hearings of Mrs. Dilling's divorce suit against him, he testified he helped purchase equipment for the office.

J. Albert Woll, United States attorney, was in Washington yesterday to confer with Attorney General Francis Biddle on the progress of the inquiry. He is expected to return early next week.

OPEN CAMPAIGN FOR USO FUNDS HERE ON MONDAY

John D. Rockefeller Jr. will be the principal speaker at a dinner in the Stevens hotel Monday night inaugurating the 1942 nation-wide campaign of the United Service organizations for $32,000,000.

Chicago's quota is $1,749,432. Holman D. Pettibone, president of the Chicago Title and Trust company, is general chairman of the USO drive here. Among the 1,500 guests expected at the dinner will be Gov. Green, Mayor Kelly, and army, navy, and marine officers.

Rockefeller is honorary chairman of the nation-wide campaign. His speech will be broadcast over the Mutual Broadcasting system at 9:15 p. m. A feature of the dinner will be the appearance of Lieut. Eddie Peabody and his Great Lakes Naval Training station band.

IRON LUNG GIVEN TO HOSPITAL BY COAL DRIVERS

Members of the executive board of the Coal Drivers' union, local 704 [AFL], presented an iron lung to St. Anthony's hospital yesterday. The iron lung was purchased at a cost of $700, donated by the 4,000 members of the union.

"Because a number of the union members have been seriously ill and have been saved by the use of the iron lung, the entire membership thought it would be appropriate to purchase one, so that others might benefit," explained John Bray, secretary-treasurer of the union.

SYPHILIS HITS 1 OUT OF 10!

That is why everyone should be tested for this disease!

Since it is estimated that syphilis hits one out of every 10 U. S. adults at some time in his or her life, every person should arrange to be examined for it. Organized by public-spirited citizens as a corporation "NOT-FOR-PROFIT," the Public Health Institute makes a full examination for syphilis and gonorrhea at very low cost, and gives individual treatments at fees so small as to be within the reach of every wage earner.

G. M. RETRACTS UNDER FIRE AND EXTENDS WAGES

Denies Attempt to Discredit Board.

Washington, D. C., May 7 (AP).—The General Motors corporation capitulated today to the War Labor board's order for temporary extension of its wage contract, including Sunday double time payments.

Charles E. Wilson, president of the corporation, which holds billions of dollars in war contracts, yielded with dramatic suddenness at a crowded and tense public hearing which the board called after Wilson had telegraphed, "We protest and do not agree to comply," and charged "this order was based on ex parte consideration."

Unaware of Meaning.

For more than two hours the public and labor members of the tripartite board pleaded, denounced, and cajoled until Wilson receded from his position. He said finally his understanding of the board's intent had been clarified satisfactorily.

Board Chairman William H. Davis then pressed him for a retraction of the ex parte charge, asserting he had led the public to believe the board conducted a proceeding with one side represented and not the other.

"I don't know what an ex parte hearing is myself," said Wilson, pleading with Davis not "to force me to take a position on that one."

"The trouble is," said Davis, "that the American people know what an ex parte hearing is, and you don't."

Wilson explained he did not mean any unfair advantage had been taken and he meant no reflection on the board; Davis accepted the explanation, and the session ended amid applause from board members.

The contract with the CIO United Automobile Workers which expired April 28 provided for double time pay rates for Sunday and holiday work, as such, even when falling within the 40 hour week.

Apply President's Formula.

In recent weeks AFL-CIO leaders agreed with President Roosevelt to forgo these premium rates. A formula was worked out, and applied by the board recently in the International Harvester case providing for double time only for the seventh consecutive day of work week.

That formula was considered in negotiations for a new General Motors contract but a deadlock developed over demands for a $1 a day wage increase and union shop and the dispute was certified to the board on April 27. On the same day General Motors notified the union it would continue the wage agreement, except the double time feature, until a new contract was negotiated. The effect of that was to pay only time and one-half rates for overtime.

The union would not agree and the board decided to deal with that issue promptly to avoid any possible interruption of production. General Motors officials were represented as maintaining that the Harvester formula was not acceptable to them because it did not fit into a complex system of shifts in General Motors plants.

The board then turned to the status quo and on May 1 ordered General Motors to continue in effect the old contract, including existing Sunday rates, until May 18. It was against that decision that the firm rebelled.

The board said today there was no question that its order would be superseded immediately by any other formula the union and management might work out before May 18. Wilson said this was satisfactory. The issue was given right of way in mediation panel hearings which began in private after the public hearing ended.

A tense development in the hearing occurred when Wayne L. Morse, one of the four public representatives of the board and dean of the University of Oregon law school, addressed Wilson.

"As a lawyer," Morse said, "it is my judgment that the General Motors corporation stands in contempt before a tribunal set up by the President of the United States. In my opinion General Motors stands before the American republic today as a corporation of employers engaged in a sitdown strike against the best interests of this country at war."

OPA to License All Dealers in Scrap Materials May 20

Washington, D. C., May 7 (AP).—Price Administrator Leon Henderson announced today that all dealers selling waste, scrap, or salvage material to investors or consumers would be licensed by the government automatically on May 20.

A formal registration of each such junk dealer with the Office of Price Administration will be required on or before June 20, Henderson said. Meanwhile, any dealer violating price schedules or regulations on waste or scrap materials may, after May 20, have his license to operate suspended as provided in the price control act.

First Industry Licensing.

Altho retailers and wholesalers generally will be licensed by the government under provisions of the universal price ceiling, OPA said today's licensing order marked the first application of the new licensing authority to a specific industry.

Effective control of dealings in junk materials is imperative, Henderson declared, adding that "the flow of scrap materials into essential production must be kept free of disruptive price and grading practices."

The order covers all junk dealers selling materials now covered by OPA maximum prices and, in the case of iron and steel scrap, extends to a dealer who sells either to a consumer or to a consumer's broker.

Finds No Hoarding

Washington, D. C., May 7 (AP).—A house military subcommittee formally reported today that it was "able to uncover little evidence in support of the allegation" of scrap metal hoarding made by Philip Murray, CIO president, "and others."

In a report climaxing several weeks of hearings, the committee said that Murray was "repeatedly asked either to appear in person or have a representative appear to substantiate his charges or to file a statement."

The committee added that it "is convinced that such charges resulted from incomplete knowledge of the circumstances and consequent illogical deductions."

Price Ceilings Handicap City Clothing Trade

Many manufacturers and retailers of men's clothing—for which Chicago is one of the nation's centers—face a difficult problem in trying to meet requirements of the recent price fixing order, Bertram J. Cahn, chairman of the board and president of B. Kuppenheimer & Co., Inc., said in an interview yesterday. The industry, he said, is hopeful that the Office of Price Administration may make a ruling early next week which will help solve their difficulties.

Cahn explained that the industry is one of two seasons, selling clothing in April and May for fall and winter wear, and in October and November for spring and summer wear. The various lines are priced on a basis of costs of materials and labor at the selling time and prices are not changed during the selling seasons, he said.

Prices Established Earlier.

The OPA in its price fixing order directed that manufacturers and retailers use March, 1942, prices as a ceiling for their present schedules of prices. But many clothing manufacturers and retailers had last established their prices in 1941, Cahn said.

After the October and November, 1941, selling season came the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor and the likelihood that the war will be a long one, Cahn continued. After Pearl Harbor many manufacturers sold out their supplies because of their belief that wool stocks would be difficult to replenish. A large part of the wool is imported from Australia and it is apparent that there will not be much for civilian needs, the executive said.

Upon our entry into the war, Cahn said, a large number of manufacturers realized that prices would go up, for three reasons: [1] The supply would be less than the demand. [2] Refusal of the Washington administration to put a ceiling on labor costs. [3] An increase of 50 to 60 cents a yard in the price of cloth because of the scarcity of wool.

Wage Increases Effective.

Then on Monday wage increases ranging from 12 to 15 per cent became effective.

Meantime, Cahn said, a few companies, including his own, fearful of the inflationary threat last fall, maintained prices at the old levels, refusing to take advantage of the upward trend that had appeared even then.

So when the April selling season arrived this year the only increases put into effect were designed to cover costs of material, labor, and certain other items—increases which ranged from $4 to $5 a garment.

The March price ceiling, he said, did not take into account the increases to cover material, labor, and other costs which were added to the April prices. Cahn said that if the manufacturers were forced to sell on a basis of the March prices they would lose $3 to $5 a garment.

Retailers Also Are Hit.

Retailers to whom the manufacturers sold would also be forced to sell at a loss and of course could not stay in business indefinitely under such circumstances, he commented.

The clothing executive said there are several remedies which OPA might provide. For example, some manufacturers raised prices $3 to $5 in March. Therefore all manufacturers should be permitted to raise their prices accordingly. Another would be for OPA to recognize the injustice of choosing March as a basis for setting prices and make it April.

He said that if there is no remedy for the situation those who sought to profiteer will benefit from the price freezing order, while those who tried to prevent inflation by maintaining prices at old levels would suffer. Possibly the best thing would be to go back to levels of last October and November, he said.

ST. LOUIS, MISSOURI, ENGINEER DISTRICT, 816 U. S. Court House and Custom House, St. Louis, Mo., announces a large war construction program within the limits of that district, which program must be completed at the earliest practicable date. The District Engineer has decided that due to the urgency of this work, advertising for lump-sum bids will not be practicable in all cases. Negotiated lump-sum contracts and negotiated unit-price contracts will be considered when the urgency of the work so indicates. The District Engineer is desirous of distributing such contracts equally among competent contractors experienced in the type of work indicated. Contractors who are interested in participating in this program are invited to appear in person at the office of the District Engineer for the purpose of interview and for furnishing specific information relative to their qualifications, organization, and financial status. The District is particularly interested in contractors experienced in building construction, both reinforced and frame, earthwork, grading, paving, railroad construction, water distribution systems, electrical distribution systems, purification plants and sewage disposal plants, well drilling, plumbing, heating, electric wiring, painting, roofing, etc.

GEIST, ONCE ERRAND BOY, NOW PRESIDENT OF ALLIS-CHALMERS

Milwaukee, Wis., May 7 [Special].—Walter Geist, 48 years old, was elected president of the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company by its directors today, Chairman Max W. Babb announced. Geist succeeds W. C. Buchanan, who resigned 10 days ago because of his health.

Walter Geist.

At the age of 16, Geist quit school to become an errand boy for the company, and advanced steadily in the business. One of his achievements was the development of a V-belt drive which has brought the company more than 30 million dollars worth of business since 1925. He was named vice president in 1939, and later became executive vice president.

In 1940 the Massachusetts Institute of Technology awarded Geist the "plaque of a modern pioneer" for research and original work in the transmission field.

UNIONS ASKED TO RELAX RULES FOR WAR DRIVE

Organized labor was asked yesterday to relax its rules to permit the mass employment of nonunion men in vital war industries. Eugene J. Brock, chairman of the WPB labor supply committee for Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin, made the request, in a letter to Victor A. Olander, secretary of the Illinois Federation of Labor.

Brock said that problems developing over various policies and traditions of trade unionism "which however justifiable during peace times, if continued will have a retarding effect on our effort to achieve a stable and orderly labor market."

He recommended that no workers be brought into local labor markets until local sources are exhausted; that union members then be brought in from the outside, and finally, that nonunion men be offered jobs. Brock also urged opening up more union jobs to Negroes. Brock's letter was written in reply to one from Olander asking what labor could do in the war effort.

War Jobs Boost Building Work to All-Time Record

New York, May 7 (AP).—Heavy expansion in war construction lifted engineering construction volume for the past week to $434,955,000, highest level in history, Engineering News-Record reported today. This was a gain of 45 per cent over the previous high of $298,718,000 for the week of July 10, 1941.

Final Payment Authorized to Morgan Park Depositors

Arthur C. Lueder, state auditor of public accounts, yesterday authorized a final 6½ per cent distribution amounting to $35,820 to approximately 4,500 depositors of the Morgan Park Trust and Savings bank.

Commodity Price Index Continues Steady Advance

Washington, D. C., May 7 (AP).—The labor department's commodity price index rose 0.1 per cent last week to 98.7 per cent of the 1926 average, the highest livel since late in 1926.

ODT PUTS LAKE GRAIN TRAFFIC UNDER PERMITS

Diverts All Possible Vessels to Ore.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 7.—Joseph B. Eastman, director of the Office of Defense Transportation, today banned grain shipments on the Great Lakes except by special permit, to devote all possible vessels to iron ore deliveries.

The order, effective May 15, brings under ODT control 340 ships with a gross carrying capacity of nearly 3 million tons. The edict defines the type of vessel barred from the grain trade as "any ship, whether or not self-propelled, having a gross register tonnage of 1,000 tons or more, documented under the laws of the United States or owned by a citizen of the United States, which transports or which is capable of transporting cargo in bulk, but shall not include ships equipped with self-unloading devices." There are 35 of this latter class shown in the registry.

Record Move in Prospect.

"Diversion of grain tonnage to the railroads," Eastman said, "will be necessary in order to assure maximum carrying capacity for iron ore. Certain readjustments will probably have to be made in railroad operations to handle the added burden, but thus far the railroads have met every freight emergency with remarkable efficiency. I am confident that I can count on them in this instance."

The prospect of an unprecedented movement of ore tonnage, estimated at nearly 90 million tons for the season, prompted the issuance of the order, Eastman said. He indicated that a number of lake carriers had already taken steps to adjust their movements to conform with it.

For the first time in the ore fleet's history, Eastman pointed out, operations began in March of this year, and the fleet, up to May 1 had hauled 8,585,740 tons as compared with last year's 6,954,793 for the same period, an increase of nearly 24 per cent. The April movement alone, according to Eastman's figures, shows a 12 per cent rise over April, 1941.

Canadian Ships Loading.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 7 (AP).—Twelve Canadian lake ships have in the last week entered the iron ore trade between Duluth, Minn., and Lake Erie ore docks to supply American steel mills, A. L. W. MacCallum, director of shipping, announced today.

"It is anticipated," he said, "that additional steamers will arrive at the American ore loading docks within the next few days."

LAKE MOVEMENT LOW

Chicago grain dealers were inclined to discount the effect on the grain business of yesterday's order by the Office of Defense Transportation regulating shipments. Altho in the past, they said, the lakes have been one of the major factors in the movement of grain, shipments last year were among the smallest of record. Only 26 million bushels moved out of Chicago by boat, as against 46 millions a year earlier and 161⅛ millions in the record year.

Lake shipping officials estimated that around 25 or more boats now operating on the lakes cannot be used for the movement of ore because of their construction and may be made available for carrying grain.

Export Bank Grants Big Telegraph Company Credit

Washington, D. C., May 7 (AP).—The Export-Import bank today authorized a 5 million dollar credit to be used by the International Telephone and Telegraph corporation "to acquire outstanding debentures and continue the development of its operating properties in the western hemisphere."

Bank Clearings Largest in Nearly Two Months

New York, May 7 (AP).—Bank clearings at 24 cities during the last week were the highest in nearly two months at $7,411,603,000, an increase of 9.1 per cent over the preceding week and 13.6 per cent over the corresponding week of 1941, Dun & Bradstreet reported today.

Illinois Firms Sell 17 Million of New Bonds

Approximately 17 million dollars of 2½ per cent long term treasury bonds have been sold in the first three days of the drive of 273 Illinois investment houses to market as many of the bonds as possible. Announcement of the total was made yesterday by Thomas E. Hough, vice chairman of the Illinois committee of the securities industry for war financing and connected with the investment house of Halsey, Stuart & Co.

The United States treasury department reported that a total of $533,656,800 was subscribed in two days. The issue is for sale in an indefinite amount and for an indefinite period.

Use Normal Sale Method.

Hough said the approximately 1,000 employés and officials of the participating Illinois investment houses are using the methods regularly employed in sales of large security issues of industrial companies. Illinois insurance companies, trust funds, and individuals have been purchasers of the bonds.

Hough said an interesting part of the campaign has been the success of the group in selling bonds to persons who had never before purchased government obligations. A considerable number of persons bought war savings bonds, he said.

Part of National Drive.

The Illinois drive is a part of the nation-wide campaign by investment houses to sell the treasury bonds. They receive no compensation, engaging in the sale on a patriotic basis. Thus far, the large eastern insurance companies have been among the largest purchasers.

Meantime, Alfred T. Sihler, vice president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported yesterday that war bond sales in the 7th reserve district totaled $3,974,000 Wednesday, raising the total since May 1, 1941, to $870,521,000.

Ernest J. Kreutgen, postmaster, reported that war bond sales thru the postoffice on Wednesday totaled $124,162, bringing the total since May 1, 1941, to $33,754,387. War stamp sales totaled $143,105 on Wednesday, bringing the total since May 1, 1941, to $15,400,462.

NATIONAL INCOME HITS ANOTHER NEW PEAK; 106 BILLION IN MARCH

Washington, D. C., May 7 (AP).—The steady growth of national income in the United States continued to new records in March.

Allowing for seasonal factors, the commerce department said that national income in March was at an annual rate of 106 billion dollars.

"This is the highest ever recorded," the department said today, "and compares with annual totals of 92 billions 90 millions for 1941 and 82 billions 587 millions for 1929."

While national income has climbed month after month as the war program has developed, the department said that the March increase was particularly noticeable in payments of salaries and wages—mostly in war industries.

March payments totaled $8,654,008,000, which was 21 per cent more than in the similar month last year. The total for the first quarter of 1942 rose to $25,065,080,000, which was nearly 25 per cent more than in the similar period of last year.

Plant Worker and Boss Win Praise in Arms

Under the current arms program, the Chicago ordnance district has let contracts for nearly five times as much work as it handled during the World war and the volume is rising at a rapidly increasing rate, Col. Donald Armstrong, deputy chief of the district, reported yesterday. He spoke at the 20th anniversary meeting of the Chicago post of the Army Ordnance association in the Palmer House.

Col. Armstrong cited figures comparing World war accomplishments with those of the present program, and declared two major factors have helped this area in handling more contracts than any other district in the nation.

"No other district in the United States has anywhere near as good a labor record as the Chicago district," he said. "Likewise, the management of industry in the area also has an outstanding record of coöperation.

Help When It Is Needed.

"The management has not been out playing golf when we needed its help. In some cases company officials have stayed up all night to help us. So have labor officials."

Comparing the district's World war work with what has been done since the present program began with a few "educational" orders in July, 1940, Col. Armstrong made these observations:

The ordnance district's total business in the World war was 450 million dollars. Today the total is more than 2¼ billion. In 1918 the district office had 40 telephone lines, handling an average of 4,500 calls daily at the peak. Now there are 117, handling a daily average of 10,700 calls. The largest monthly disbursement during the World war was 29½ millions, made in December, 1918. Last month disbursements were $37,700,000. Peak employment at district ordnance offices in the earlier war was 3,200, compared with 4,200 today.

The ordnance contract load per square mile in the district was $759 in 1918. Today it is $5,223.

Cites Production Gains.

Observing that censorship regulations prevent announcement of production figures, Col. Armstrong said:

"We have produced already 25 per cent more trench mortars, after a few months of war, than were produced in the district during the World war. We have produced nearly 2½ times as many guns for the field artillery. We have made more gun carriages of a more intricate type. The number of recoil mechanisms produced is nearly twice as large as for all the World war period. We are about to produce more tanks and tractors in one month than were made here in the World war period."

The district not only ranks first in number of prime contracts—1,724—but it ranks second in dollar volume, he said. Sharing in the work are 13,874 subcontractors.

SHIPYARD HUMS A BLARING TUNE OF AREA AT WAR

Other Philadelphia Plants Busy.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., May 7.—The empty tanker rode high out of the water in the shipyard wetbasin. Rust streaked the side plates and hid the craft's name, but nothing could hide the huge, gaping hole with jagged edges extending from water line to deck and big enough to drive a 10 ton truck thru. It was caused by the explosion of an axis torpedo recently as the tanker, loaded with crude oil, wallowed up the Atlantic coast.

The question "How did the ship make port here?" leaped to the lips of every onlooker. And John Pew Jr., son of the president and founder of the Sun Shipbuilding and Drydock company, in whose yards she was moored, grinned a moment before replying: "Her main bulkheads held."

Pew Tells Ship's Story.

Pew told the story to the assembled group—25 newspaper men, army, navy, and maritime commission officers visiting the yard under the guidance of the National Association of Manufacturers—as they crowded around him on the dock.

"She was coming north with a full load—enough to supply gasoline to keep 135,000 average private automobiles rolling for a full month," Pew recounted. "The first warning was the torpedo blast that shook her and turned her from her course.

"The chief engineer bellowed thru the speaking tube to the bridge: 'What the hell was that?' The captain, on duty, shouted back: 'The hell with what that was! Open your throttle wide!' And the lookouts reported the second torpedo missed her, as she jumped under full power, by less than 20 feet."

Pew said the crew expected the tanker to sink momentarily, but a quick investigation showed the main aft compartments were not leaking. She steered crazily, he said, with the bow almost under water, but she came to land at a 14 knot clip.

All-Welded Construction.

The boat, he explained, was one of the new all-welded and partially prefabricated tankers his company launched about a year ago. She is one of a fleet of sister ships about 90 of which still are on order for the country's merchant marine and several oil companies.

Do Your Securities Receive Regular Attention?

INVESTMENTS always need watching—and more than ordinary attention is advisable in times of rapid business and economic change.

By opening a Supervised Agency account at The First National Bank, you can obtain a careful, unbiased analysis of your securities by the same experienced investment organization that supervises our trust investments. Regular supervision follows—with definite recommendations whenever it is felt your investment position can be improved.

The bank assumes custody of your securities and furnishes records of all transactions under this advisory arrangement—but you retain complete ownership and control, and make all final decisions. You benefit from the broad sources of information available to the bank and from its investment studies.

A Supervised Agency account is particularly useful to those whose time is occupied with increased business activities or with defense work. Further information will be given promptly upon request.

STOCKS RESUME RISE ON LARGER TRADING VOLUME

Industrial Favorites Gain a Point or More.

New York, May 7 (AP).—The stock market did a quick come-back today, after yesterday's slight stumble, with selected industrials advancing fractions to more than a point.

Encouraging from a brokerage slant was that volume, while still under a paying figure, was the best in more than a week.

Forward-leanings predominated at the start. Prices, highest around mid-day, retreated here and there after noon and closing marks for most favorites were under the tops.

Sales Largest in Week.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up .4 of a point at 33.8. Transfers of 343,250 shares were the largest since April 29 and compared with 267,890 Wednesday.

Analysts attributed the resumption of the swing partly to the persistent belief the market still was oversold. Other factors included the failure of any real selling to come out on the fall of Corregidor.

A number of blue chips retained the widest improvement. Rails, utilities, aircrafts, coppers, and mail orders were narrow. Most steels and motors just about halved early advances.

Among new 1942 highs were those of Chrysler, Postal Telegraph preferred, and Colgate-Palmolive. Curtiss-Wright, on the other hand, slipped to new low ground for 1942.

TREND UP IN CHICAGO.

Prices advanced unevenly on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday in contrast with the preceding day's moderate declines. Of 75 issues involved in transactions of 13,000 shares, 35 issues advanced, 19 declined, and 21 closed unchanged. Of the more active stocks, Central and South West and Commonwealth Edison advanced fractions, Chicago corporation was unchanged, and Berghoff Brewing declined ⅛.

Butter and Egg Futures Mark Up New Price Gains

Butter futures advanced .2 cent and egg futures .3 cent yesterday on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. November butter closed at 39.65 cents a pound and October eggs at 33.8 cents a dozen. Trading was begun in November egg contracts with the starting price the highest for 17 years. Wholesale prices of farm run eggs advanced ¼ cent.

Commodities

Cotton futures closed 40 to 75 cents a bale higher yesterday, finishing at the day's best levels. Activity was stimulated by new opposition to the administration's plan to cut ceilings on farm prices from 110 to 100 per cent of parity, traders said. Grease wool and wool tops were both unchanged. Cottonseed oil, coffee, and cocoa remained at ceiling prices.

RAIL-AUTO TRAIN HAILED AS HELP IN WAR EFFORT

Designed for Service in Hauling Explosives.

East St. Louis, Ill., May 7 (AP).—Finishing touches were being put on a new type dual purpose auto-train that runs either on rails or highways today. The train is scheduled to go into service next week hauling high explosives at some unannounced ordnance plant.

Flanges Used on Rails.

It runs on 42 rubber tires and is adapted to rails by means of steel flanged wheels which serve merely as guide or pilot wheels. The rubber wheels run on the tracks and for highway operation the steel wheels are retracted and the train travels as an automobile.

The change from rail to highway, or visa versa, requires only a few minutes. Gross capacity of the train is 90,000 pounds.

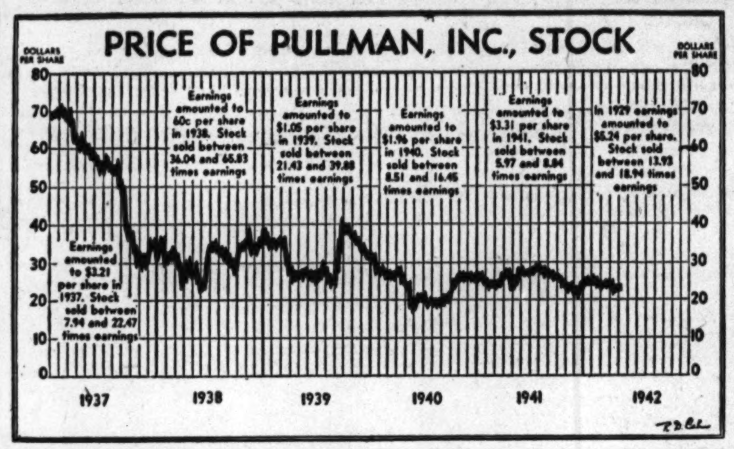
Similar one car vehicles have been in use for the last seven years, but this is said to be the first full train of its kind. The smaller models are used by several railroads for inspection and track maintenance work.

Economy In Materials.

"The construction is of lightweight materials and eliminates large quantities of steel and other essentials necessary in the building of standard locomotives and freight cars," a company spokesman explained. "It is also more economical to operate."

He said the army has found it "invaluable for military purposes."

The train will be previewed by company and government officials Monday, after which it will be sent to an undisclosed destination.



RAIL FREIGHT TRAFFIC SAGS; LESS THAN CAR MOVEMENT OFF MOST

The nation's railroads handled 858,904 carloads of revenue freight during the week ended May 2, a drop of 2,449 cars from the preceding week, but an increase of 64,605 cars over the corresponding 1941 period, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday. The decline was due mainly to a falling off in shipments of less-than-carlot merchandise. Ore shipments continued to rise.

	Wk. ended May 2.	—Change from— Prec. wk.	Yr. ago.
Misc. freight	383,211	+ 778	+24,296

Army Aid Says Bill to Help Small Firms Is Not Needed

Washington, D. C., May 7 (AP).—Maj. George C. Smith of the Army Procurement Office told the house banking committee today there was no apparent need for legislation of the nature of the senate-approved small business bill. He said he could find nothing in the bill that would accomplish anything that "cannot be accomplished with existing machinery." He added that there has been no discrimination against small concerns in awarding contracts.

DAY by DAY on the FARM

By BOB BECKER

More Signs of Spring.

May 7, 1942.

EVERY succeeding visit to the farm brings additional evidence of spring's intrusion. This week, despite several days of cool weather, the barn swallows added an inch of mud to their nests in the sheep barn. The spring beauties, most abundant of the earliest spring flowers, passed out of the May scene to give the beautiful blue phlox dominance of the woodlots. One hundred seventy-five new Plymouth Rock chicks, covered with downy yellow fuzz, chirp and patter in and out of their snug brooder house. Sandpipers arrived to wade and feed in the shallow water at the edges of the farm ponds, and oak trees opened their new leaves to add more green to the woodlots.

Flowers Begin to Blossom.

When we hiked thru the east woods the other morning we wandered down a seldom traveled trail to check on the spring wildflowers. Shadows made by the towering oaks, many over 100 years old, were patterning the woodlot floor with a sort of half shade as their leaves are not fully developed. Spring wildflowers, responding to the sun's rays, were opening their blossoms and replacing the dead brown of last year's fallen leaves with more vivid shades.

We saw common violets, yellow violets, a few trilliums, and the first wild geraniums of the year. We also found one white mandrake flower hidden under the big umbrella leaves of a colony of "May Apples."

Sandpiper Gets Meal.

Two pairs of gaily feathered goldfinches flew alongside the little creek which winds thru the woodlot, and in the pool under the creaking windmill a solitary sandpiper stood in the water, its muddy beak testifying that it had been spearing a meal.

There has been no action around the three nesting boxes put up alongside the creek for the prothonotary warblers. These birds may arrive in Chicagoland as early as April 28, but their average arrival date is May 6.

The Baltimore oriole, one of our most beautifully plumaged birds, has arrived for the summer season. We first heard the insistent notes of this handsome summer resident several days ago.

BANK EXAMINERS TO URGE FASTER PAYING OF LOANS

Instalments Favored in New Regulation.

Washington, D. C., May 7 (AP).—Another step to spur people to pay off their debts was taken today by the three federal banking agencies.

A joint statement by the controler of the currency, the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, and the Federal Reserve board said that their bank examiners hereafter will be instructed to encourage all banks to provide for the regular repayment of individual loans, especially by arranging periodic instalment payments. This would change the usual bank practice of lending money on a single payment basis.

Follows New Regulations.

The statement said the joint action was taken in accordance "with that part of the President's special message to congress of April 27 which urged paying off debts as a restraint upon rising living costs."

The action followed by two days the imposition by the Federal Reserve board of new regulations on charge accounts, instalment credit, and certain types of small cash loans to individuals.

Examiners Included.

The statement continued: "The examiners for the respective agencies are being instructed to pay particular attention in the course of their examinations to individual debt to determine whether it is being reduced and to the circumstances which may be preventing its reduction or being put on an amortization basis.

"The examiners are likewise being instructed to include in their reports of examination comments as to the extent to which the bank has cooperated in the program for reduction of personal indebtedness incurred for nonproductive purposes, and as to the results achieved."

MARCH RETAIL MILK PRICE SET AS CHICAGO TOP

Paul A. Potter, secretary of the Associated Milk Dealers, said yesterday that the Chicago milk industry already had been notified that retail milk prices must not go above the March levels—15½ cents a quart, doorstep delivery, and 12½ cents a quart in most stores. Present prices, which are on a temporary basis, are a half cent a quart less.

Potter added that an uncertain future governmental policy on milk prices was complicating negotiations with the Milk Wagon Drivers' union for a new wage scale. The union is asking a flat $5 a week increase and other concessions.

"The government sets the milk prices that must be paid to farmers," he said, "and no ceiling has been placed on them. The dealers recently cut their prices a half cent when the farm price went down seasonally. There is just so much cost that the dealers can absorb between the farmers and the consumers, and we can't see how any wage increase can be granted now if we are to stay in business."

DAIRY DEFEATED IN FIGHT AGAINST MARKET ORDER

The federal milk marketing administration won the final round yesterday in its long fight with the Wrightwood Dairy company, 2942 North Ashland avenue, when a decision of the federal Circuit Court of Appeals upheld the validity of the Chicago marketing order.

The dairy in 1940 refused to file reports with the federal marketing administration, contending it was exempt because it was engaged only in intrastate business. The fight was carried to the United States Supreme court, which last February reversed rulings of Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward and the Circuit Court of Appeals and directed the company to file the reports.

Yesterday in a decision written by Judge Otto Kerner and concurred in by Judges Will M. Sparks and Sherman Minton, the Circuit court upheld Judge Woodward's original ruling that the marketing order was valid and not in conflict with state and federal law as the dairy had charged.

Zinc Output Is Smaller in April than for March

New York, May 7 (AP).—Total output of slab zinc of all grades was 77,034 tons in April, the American Zinc institute reported today. This compared with 79,139 tons in March and 68,543 in April, 1941.

Unions Finish Case Against Peoria Road

The railroad brotherhoods involved in the Toledo, Peoria and Western railroad labor dispute completed presentation of their case yesterday in the War Labor board arbitration hearing which has proceeded three days without a management representative. Justice Benjamin C. Hilliard of the Colorado Supreme court, arbiter named by the WLB, ordered another session today for additional testimony.

The hearing, in the Stevens hotel, is considered unique in that management has not been represented despite a number of invitations.

McNear Refuses to Attend.

George P. McNear Jr., president and principal owner of the 239 mile road, whose rejection of federal orders to arbitrate a strike of 102 employés led to government seizure of the railroad March 22, has stated he would neither participate in arbitration nor accept the findings of an arbiter.

The unions finished their uncontested case yesterday by placing in the record a copy of the proposed contract which the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen attempted unsuccessfully to negotiate with McNear in behalf of conductors, brakemen, and yard employés. Like the contract proposed by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, the proposals were described as being based on "standard principles" and involving wage scales in effect on eastern class 1 railroads.

Revenues Are Cited.

Earlier, statistics were introduced to support the brotherhoods' contention that the railroad's operating revenues, shown as ranging from $1,715,625 in 1934 to $2,775,366 in 1941, make it a class 1 road. The unions contend wages and working conditions should be adjusted accordingly.

Frank Coyle, trainmen brotherhood vice president, testified that when McNear took over the railroad in 1926 he placed substandard wages and working rules into effect to "tide over" the road, but subsequently refused to make adjustments after assuring the employés he would "take care of them." The dispute over wages and working rules led to the strike last Dec. 28.

WAR CUTS PROFIT OF TIDE WATER ASSOCIATED OIL

New York, May 7 [Special].—Operations of oil companies in the Atlantic coast areas generally are not profitable because of increased costs brought about by the war, W. F. Humphrey, president of Tide Water Associated Oil company, told stockholders today at the company's annual meeting.

He expressed hope that Tide Water operations on the Pacific coast and in mid-continent will enable the corporation to reverse the downward earnings trend brought about by the eastern situation, and that "there may be some way of overcoming these excessive costs" in the east. The company's earnings, he said, have dropped each month this year.

MONEY IN CIRCULATION RISES 122 MILLIONS, BANK REPORTS SHOW

Money in circulation in the United States increased 122 million dollars in the week ended Wednesday to a total of 11 billion 845 million dollars, the federal reserve board reported yesterday. Federal reserve note circulation rose 95 million dollars to 8 billion 876 millions. The Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported a rose of 15 million dollars in its federal reserve note circulation to a total of 1 billion 838 millions.

The reserve board said excess reserves of member banks of the system were down about 130 million dollars for the week to 2 billion 690 million dollars.

WARNS AGAINST 'FOOL RULES' ON FARM WAR AID

O'Neal Promises Growers Will Do Their Part.

Moline, Ill., May 7 [Special].—"American farmers will meet the needs of Americans and their allies if congress won't make durned fool rules to stop us from what we intend to do, and will do," declared Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm bureau in an address before more than 300 city and rural representatives at a luncheon today.

"We'll buy our share and more of defense bonds, too," asserted the farm bureau leader, "but it's up to you city men in the midwest to have a little influence with those codfish and bean eaters in the east. Educate them."

Production Satisfactory.

The speaker, referring to the American farmers, asserted "we must and will do our job. But we must be of one mind—to unselfishly protect the interests of agriculture under these conditions in such a manner so that in years to come we will not find we have molded an economic policy that will destroy the great fundamental industry of agriculture."

All phases of farm production are progressing satisfactorily, O'Neal said, with the exception of a few minor enterprises. The vast amount of surplus wheat is now moving into live stock feeding channels, he said.

Speaking of the surplus cotton now stored and being held from the open market, O'Neal expressed belief that the farm bloc will never let it go into open trade channels.

Expects Corn Price Rise.

In regard to the production of more hogs in the corn belt, O'Neal hinted that perhaps the price of corn might go up a little and that the price of wheat might come down a little so that bushel for bushel and dollar for dollar, the two commodities would be about equal.

"The farm bureau knows inflation must be controled," said O'Neal, "and that it can be done only by placing ceilings on wages, industrial prices and prices of farm products, but congress and the administration seem to be afraid of labor."

CATTLE AND HOGS SLUMP DESPITE SMALL RECEIPTS

Farmers held shipments of hogs and cattle below normal again yesterday, but failed to maintain Wednesday's small price gains. Hogs fell mostly 10 cents, while steers declined 15 to 25 cents after a steady opening. Buyers contended that current ceilings on pork and the beef ceiling to go into effect next Monday do not warrant the prices farmers have been getting.

The hog average for the session declined 10 cents to $13.95 a hundred pounds, equaling the lowest basis since April 3.

Soon after a scattering of sales of fall pigs had been made at $14.10 and $14.15, it was difficult to get more than $14 for similar kinds.

Fat lambs soared 25 to 50 cents more, reaching the highest level since July, 1929.

War Perils Food Traffic, Says Wickard; Parity 'Peg' Opposed

Slows Deliveries

Washington, D. C., May 7 (AP).—Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard declared today the war's strain on the nation's distribution system was placing "serious obstacles in the way of getting food to American consumers."

"In transportation—by rail, truck, or ship—the situation is so tight," he said, "that we cannot afford to move anything that is not absolutely essential. In fact, there is so much to be moved that usually it is a case of which essential product has priority over other essential goods."

Shortage of steel and other materials, the secretary said, are preventing construction of many new food processing plants that are needed. He mentioned specifically food dehydration and pork processing equipment.

Many Difficulties Unavoidable.

In a speech before a conference of governors and other state and federal officials on governmental laws and regulations which restrict the war effort Wickard said many of the difficulties confronting the food industry were unavoidable.

"The federal government, no less than the state and local governments, is responsible for laws and regulations which undoubtedly hinder the free flow of supplies to farmers and hamper the processing and distribution of farm products after they have been produced. We must remove every impediment of food distribution that can be removed."

Farm Stand Told

Washington, D. C., May 7 (AP).—Representatives of farm organizations and state agricultural officials expressed opposition today to President Roosevelt's proposal for fixing a ceiling of 100 per cent of parity on the prices of farm commodities.

They told an informal meeting of senators, called by Sen. Elmer Thomas [D., Okla.], that agriculture should be protected by the present 110 per cent of parity provision written into the price control act until congress fixed a formula for determining "true parity."

Would Retain "Safeguards."

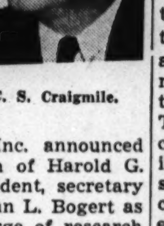
R. A. Trovatten of Minnesota, president of the National Association of Commissioners, Secretaries, and Directors of Agriculture in the states, said that organization was against removing the safeguards now fixed by law to protect agriculture but which "do not yet assure true parity."

Trovatten declared farmers had been "grossly misrepresented as making selfish demands" because the general public had been "led to believe" that prices determined by the department of agriculture give farmers the same purchasing power they had during the base period of 1909 to 1914.

"This is in no wise true," he said. "True parity as provided in the agricultural adjustment act is much above the parity price as determined by the secretary of agriculture."

People and Events

Charles S. Craigmile, vice president in charge of production of the Belden Manufacturing company has been elected to the newly created position of executive vice president. Craigmile is president of the Greater Chicago Safety council and of the Chicago branch of the National Metals Trades association.



C. S. Craigmile.

Standard Brands, Inc. announced yesterday the election of Harold G. Cutright as vice president, secretary and treasurer, and John L. Bogert as vice president in charge of research and development.

Methods of preventing damage to machinery moving by rail to ordnance plants will be discussed by key transportation inspectors of more than 30 midwestern railroads Monday and Tuesday in the Hotel Sherman. Edward Dahill, New York, chief engineer of the freight container bureau, Association of American Railroads, will preside. The bureau is sponsoring the conference.

John G. Searle, president of G. D. Searle and Co., Chicago, was reelected president of the American Drug Manufacturers association at its annual convention in French Lick, Ind.

MACHINE TOOL SHIPMENTS FAR ABOVE YEAR AGO

Washington, D. C., May 7 (AP).—William H. Harrison, WPB production director, reported today that the value of new machine tools, presses, and other metal working machinery shipped from factories during March totaled $108,600,000. Shipments of machine tools alone represented a total value of $98,400,000 compared with $84,355,000 in February.

"Production of metal working machinery has reached a rate of approximately 1 billion 300 million dollars a year and is steadily on the increase," Harrison said.

"Last year, the value of metal working machinery was about 840 millions and the present going rate represents an increase of 55 per cent.

"Compared with the same month last year, the March value for all metal working machinery is an increase of 73 per cent."

STEEL INDUSTRY FAILS TO REACH MARCH'S RECORD

New York, May 7 (AP).—Production of 7,122,313 tons of steel ingots and castings in April was announced today by the American Iron and Steel institute. This was slightly under the record output of 7,392,911 tons in the longer month of March but 5½ per cent higher than production of 6,754,179 tons in April, 1941.

American mills in the first four months of 1942 produced 28,161,202 tons, against 27,030,888 tons in the 1941 period.

The industry operated at an average rate of 97.7 per cent of capacity in April, compared with 98.2 in March and 97.6 in April, 1941.

GRAIN, OILSEEDS UP; TRANSPORT ORDERS A FACTOR

BY PHILIP WARDEN.

Wartime threats to food transportation as expressed yesterday by Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard and in the order affecting lake movement of grains attracted wide attention on the Chicago Board of Trade. The principal market factor, however, continued to be the steadily growing industrial demand for grain and oilseeds. Markets closed higher with corn and soy beans sharing the driver's seat.

Wheat was up ⅞ to 1 cent a bushel with July futures contracts closing at $1.25¾. Corn rose ½ to ¾ cent; oats, ⅛ to ⅝ cent; rye, ¼ to ⅝ cent and soy beans, 1⅛ to 2¾ cents a bushel.

Announcement of a revision in cottonseed oil price ceilings was a factor in the higher soy bean prices. Dealers hoped for an advance in soy bean oil ceilings shortly. Purchases of 150,000 bushels of corn were made in the country for shipment to Chicago.

Call Kansas City Meeting.

The department of agriculture is expected to present its plan for controling grain shipments during the wheat harvest at a special meeting in Kansas City Monday, called by J. E. Wells, special assistant to the administrator of the Agricultural Marketing administration. Committees on grain storage from all terminal markets have been requested to attend.

Because of the shortage of storage space, grain men say railroads may have to embargo all shipping of grain to terminal markets when wheat starts to move next month unless shipping is controled. The Chicago storage committee was meeting yesterday to work out a control system when it received a telegram from Wells calling the special session.

William C. Engel, chairman of the Chicago storage committee, said he would attend the meeting, probably accompanied by a representative of the Commodity Credit corporation and other members of the committee.

Canada Lifts Tariffs.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 7 (AP).—Removal of tariffs on crude castor oil and soy bean oil entering Canada was announced today by the finance department.

The oils are used chiefly in processing leather, manufacturing paints, and varnishes, and processing textile fabrics. Removal of tariffs will allow their sale under the price ceiling. Previous tariffs as high as 25 per cent were imposed.

BUICK WILL TRAIN LARGE FORCE OF AIR MECHANICS

The Buick division of the General Motors corporation will conduct an extensive training program for ground troops of the army air force designed to create a supply of well trained aircraft engine mechanics, W. F. Hufstader, Buick general sales manager, announced yesterday.

Details of the course have been worked out by Buick with the cooperation of air force officials. Col. James D. Givens, chief of staff, air force training and operations section, and Lieut. Col. Dallas M. Speer, a former Chicagoan and widely known aviator, announced the program jointly with Hufstader.

The school will be conducted in a Buick service plant at Flint, Mich., and the men will be housed in a big Flint auditorium. They will be selected for the course after aptitude tests. The first group will enroll on May 18, and graduate in July.

Eight Stores of Hartman Drug Chain Sell for $40,000

Eight stores in the Hartman Drug Stores chain were sold yesterday at a bankruptcy sale. Maurice Klein, receiver, 110 South Dearborn street, said approximately $40,000 was paid by various buyers. Two other stores are expected to be sold soon, he said. The chain, with offices at 418 South Wells street, filed a bankruptcy petition in Federal District court last month.

CHOCOLATE SALES UP.

The census bureau says that March sales of manufacturers of confectionery and competitive chocolate products were 6 per cent larger than February and 28 per cent more than March of last year.

U. S. GYPSUM NET PARED BY LARGER TAX PROVISIONS

Profit for Quarter Equals 84 Cents on Common.

United States Gypsum company earned less in the March quarter than in the corresponding period a year ago after providing for federal taxes on the basis of anticipated increased rates, the big Chicago building products manufacturer reported yesterday.

E. N. Hurley Jr. tells war business gains.

The company's profit was $1,141,894, equal after preferred dividends to 84 cents a common share, compared with a revised profit of $1,266,773, or 94 cents a share, in the first 1941 quarter. For the 12 months ended March 31 the company earned $6,908,750, equal to $5.32 a share, against $7,581,826 or $5.88 a share in the preceding 12 months.

Washer Maker Has Gain.

Electric Household Utilities corporation, Chicago, had larger sales and earnings in 1941 than in any year since 1930 and has war orders on its books equal to three times the company's annual volume normally, Edward N. Hurley Jr., president, said in the annual report for the year ended Dec. 31. The company's peacetime production consists mainly of electric washing and ironing machines.

Net income of Electric Household and subsidiaries for the year was $701,665, equal to $1.81 a share, compared with $247,321, or 64 cents a share, in 1940. Provision for federal income and excess profits taxes was $775,000, against $69,867 in the preceding year.

Hurley said the company was low bidder on four major war projects, which either already are in production or will be soon. He explained that because of the heavy volume of war work directors had discontinued dividend payments last December "until our ability to finance our operations is better understood."

Hurley Paid $50,000.

A proxy statement in connection with Electric Household's annual meeting May 28 disclosed Hurley was paid $50,000 by the corporation last year and that the aggregate of pay to directors and officers of the corporation and its subsidiaries was $144,916. It showed Hurley and members of his family owned 64,210 shares, or 16.6 per cent, of the company's stock and that nominees for places on the board each held less than 2,000 shares.

American Cyanamid company, large New York chemical products corporation, announced its March quarter earnings after provision of $250,000 for contingencies were $1,127,927, equal to 38 cents a share on combined Class A and B common. In the first quarter of 1941 the company's profit was $1,120,505, equal to 39 cents a share, after a $250,000 contingency provision.

Provision of American Cyanamid for federal taxes was $4,133,782, more than twice the $2,021,834 provided in the 1941 quarter.

SALES IN CHICAGO BIG STORES LESS; CLIMB IN NATION

Belief that merchandise prices will be lower when federal price ceilings become effective probably accounted for the decline in sales of Chicago area department stores last week, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported yesterday. The drop was contra-seasonal and amounted to about 4 per cent in Chicago proper and to a little more than 1 per cent for the entire district.

Dollar volume of sales of stores in the district, which comprises all of Iowa and major parts of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, and Wisconsin, showed a 4 per cent increase over the corresponding period last year. In Chicago the dollar volume was slightly smaller than a year ago. The federal reserve board said department store business was up 8 per cent in the nation as a whole.

WALGREEN SALES AT RECORDS FOR APRIL, 4 MONTHS

Spiegel Volume Smaller in Both Periods.

Dollar sales volume of the Walgreen company was larger in April and the first four months of 1942 than in any corresponding periods in the company's history, the nationwide retail drug chain reported yesterday from its Chicago general offices. But Spiegel, Inc., Chicago mail order house, announced declines from the 1941 levels for both periods.

Walgreen's April sales aggregated $7,519,833, a 15.1 per cent gain over April, 1941. The total for the four months was $29,785,523, or 13.4 per cent above sales in the corresponding 1941 period.

Spiegel volume for April was $4,381,103, a 15.7 per cent decline from a year earlier. Four months' sales were $15,053,658, a drop of 6.4 per cent from the 1941 period.

Bond Stores, Inc., men's clothing chain, reported its April sales volume was $3,459,696, a 26.4 per cent decline from a year earlier. Sales in the first four months of the year, however, exceed last year by 56.3 per cent.

Lane Bryant, Inc., women's clothing chain, announced April sales of $2,014,540, a gain of 27.6 per cent, while four months' sales were 45.8 per cent above last year.

AMERICAN CAN COMPANY.

Answer: Output of all cans and containers for foods and other products by the American Can company represents about one-half the domestic production, and about double the output of its nearest competitor. Manufacturing plants and machine shops are located in all parts of the country.

Incorporated in New Jersey in 1901, the company has a capitalization of 2,473,998 shares $25 par common outstanding, 412,333 shares $100 par 7 per cent preferred, and 10 million dollars in debentures 2s. Both classes of stocks are listed on the New York Stock exchange, and the common also is traded on the Boston, Philadelphia, and San Francisco Stock exchanges.

The company said in its 1941 report that in addition to normal operations certain types of machine tool work have been produced in company shops for government war work. Two wholly owned subsidiaries have been organized for war work. The American Can corporation will produce torpedoes and the Ammunition Container corporation will make fiber shell containers. The effect of government regulations on the 1942 business volume this year was not estimated in the report, but it was stated that a substantial part of the company's regular products is considered essential by the government.

Many Other Philadelphia Plants Stepped Up.

ships almost identical were growing hourly toward completion under rivet guns, welding torches, and hammers of thousands of workmen. As the visitors went thru the Sun plant, largest tanker shipyard in the world, Pew, a young and vigorous executive who knows every detail of the yard's work, explained how engineers have applied mass production methods to the ancient art of building ships.

They begin with the enormous lofts where full sized wooden cutting dies are accurately shaped and the rivet holes in every hull plate drawn on blue prints. These measurements are transmitted to drilling machines that cut rivet holes in 10s and 20s in huge steel plates, and to great steel tables where whole bulkheads are pieced together and welded.

Create Uniform Work.

The automatic welding machines turn out work that over a period of time is more uniform and therefore preferable to hand welding.

These prefabricated parts are lifted by 100,000 ton cranes, carried out thru shop doors and handed over to even larger cranes. Then they are shifted and finally placed into position over the steel keel of a new vessel where an army of welders quickly sew the metal into one homogenous whole with their acetylene flames.

The yards where this work is done make a casual visitor's head swim. The scale of operations is gargantuan. Cranes and hoists tower 200 feet into the air. Men at work on the decks of vessels are dwarfed by their surroundings. Men, literally in the tens of thousands, are lost amid the profusion of presses, trestles, cranes, the ways and the ships themselves.

Employment Up Sharply.

"In peace years we had 4,200 men here," Pew said. "Now I'd hate to tell you how many times that number we have, and we already need another 8,000. We're hiring men from 18 to 68 years old and asking draft deferment for those who have worked with us six months. It's hard, grim work. Not every man can stand it. But we've had a wonderful spirit among our men. They work long hours, even seven days a week. CIO and AFL men work side by side without bickering. They're too busy, and the ships damaged by enemy torpedoes and shells are too close to them."

The shipyards were but one of three important defense plants in the Philadelphia area visited. The other two were the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company's steam division and the Baldwin Locomotive works. Baldwin's recent history reflects the economic and war production story of the entire Philadelphia area. From the depths of depression the company has come back—with defense and lend-lease business—and now has the largest pay roll in its history.

Swing to New Tank.

At the moment its chief output is that of medium tanks, and its production lines are shifting from the M-3 model to a new medium tank.

A hush-hush job at this plant is the new 60 ton heavy tank, the first model of which is undergoing road tests. Production of this weapon on a mass basis is commencing soon, officials said, and this will round out a field of arms productivity that ranges from ordnance to large numbers of locomotives.

Westinghouse is one of the navy's prime propulsion unit producers. Almost every type of steam propulsion unit—with emphasis on the turbine—for naval vessels from capital ships to destroyers is created there. The Westinghouse works, like others, are in the midst of vast expansion and a lack of skilled labor is the chief bottleneck. Men of all ages have been employed, trained, and put to operating machine tools. Instead of teaching them to become all-around mechanics, they are made into "single job" men, the only means for rapid production expansion.

Even a few 80 year old experts, long retired by the company, have been called back to teach the youngsters and supervise sprver but less experienced workers.

DEVELOPS WOOD PIPE SUBSTITUTE FOR OIL DRILLING

Springfield, Ill., May 7 (AP).—A new method of eliminating the use of steel pipe in oil well casing by substituting pipe made of molded wood fiber has proved successful in a southern Illinois test, Dr. M. M. Leighton, chief of the Illinois geological survey, announced today.

Dr. Leighton, stressing that oil well drilling has been curtailed because of the wartime steel shortage, said the new method "may prove to be of great importance to the oil industry" by permitting more drilling operations. He said the fiber pipe material is available in unlimited quantities at only a fraction of the cost of steel pipe.

The wood fiber casing proved successful, Dr. Leighton reported, in a test conducted April 28 at a shallow well belonging to the Dinsmoor Oil company in Clark county. The operation in the 460 foot drill hole was completed in 12 hours.

The originator of the process is Frederick Squires of Champaign, petroleum engineer for the state geological survey.

Year's Production of Coal Increased by 33 Per Cent

Bituminous coal production in the week ended May 2 was 11,425,000 net tons, the National Coal association estimated yesterday. Production for 1942 to date was placed at 192,319,000 tons, 33.8 per cent more than a year earlier.

9 ADVANTAGES of Getting YOUR LOAN
from 'PERSONAL'

1. Loans made to all employed men and women whether single or married.
2. Business women and those working in defense plants borrow here "on your own."
3. A special plan provides loans for defense workers and others on a new job or who have just moved into the community.
4. Between pay-day loans for small amounts and short periods made as readily as other loans.
5. Loans made for purchase of tools, uniforms, car or home repairs, medical or dental attention, payment of old bills, etc.
6. Your account here establishes NATION-WIDE Cash Credit at any of more than 400 "Personal" offices.
7. Monthly payments arranged that you can comfortably afford. Take up to a year to repay.
8. Complete privacy. Loans made on signature, furniture, or auto. No wage assignments. Outsiders not involved.
9. Quick, friendly service. No waiting for a "Board" or committee to pass on your loan.

More people from coast-to-coast borrow from "Personal" than from any other similar company. If you need $10 to $250 or more phone or come to our nearest office today.

SIGNATURE LOANS

Persons with established employment records will welcome Commonwealth's signature loan plan. Just imagine getting from $10 to $300 without putting up stocks, bonds, furniture or real estate as collateral. Of course, if you are on a new job and even if you have just moved into the city, you, too, can get a loan here, for Commonwealth has a loan plan to fit the needs of any one who can make regular payments. Don't borrow any place until you investigate Commonwealth's various loan plans. Phone for complete details.

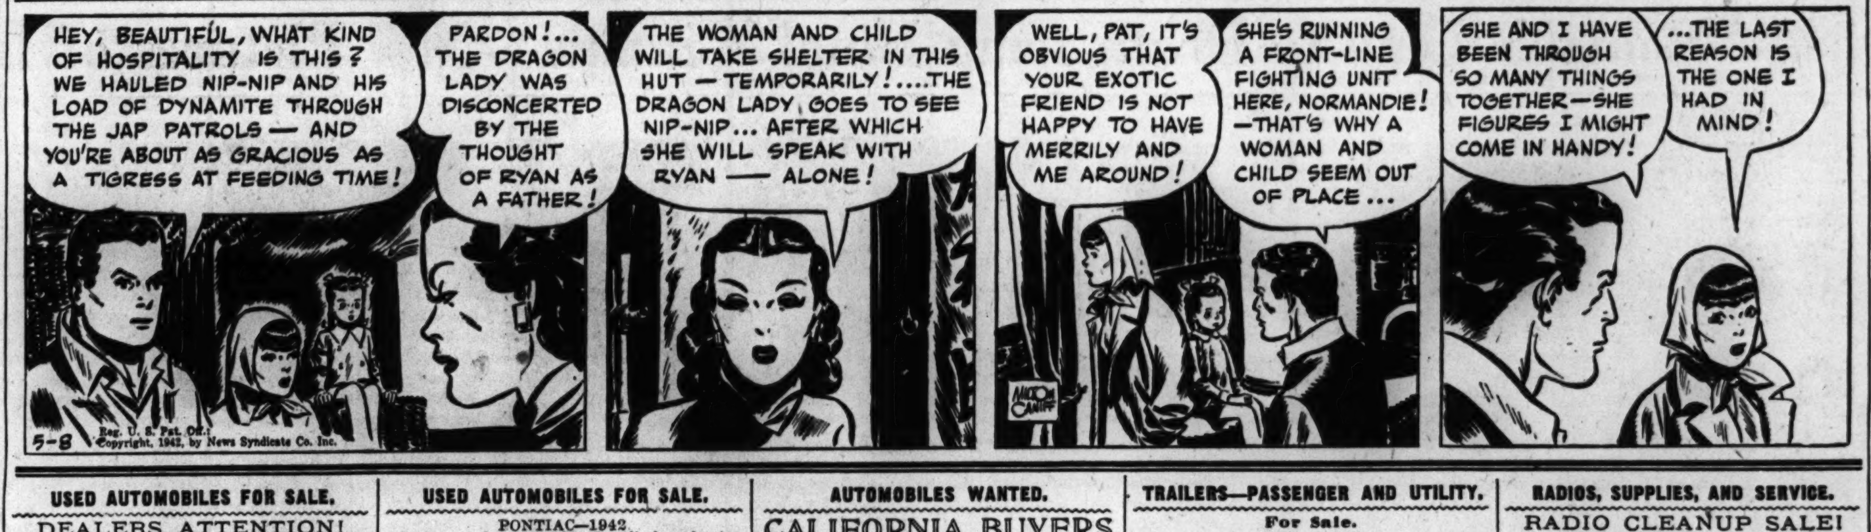
TERRY AND THE PIRATES—WHERE THERE'S POKE THERE'S IRE



HEY, BEAUTIFUL, WHAT KIND OF HOSPITALITY IS THIS? WE HAULED NIP-NIP AND HIS LOAD OF DYNAMITE THROUGH THE JAP PATROLS — AND YOU'RE ABOUT AS GRACIOUS AS A TIGRESS AT FEEDING TIME!
PARDON!... THE DRAGON LADY WAS DISCONCERTED BY THE THOUGHT OF RYAN AS A FATHER!
THE WOMAN AND CHILD WILL TAKE SHELTER IN THIS HUT — TEMPORARILY!....THE DRAGON LADY GOES TO SEE NIP-NIP... AFTER WHICH SHE WILL SPEAK WITH RYAN — ALONE!
WELL, PAT, IT'S OBVIOUS THAT YOUR EXOTIC FRIEND IS NOT HAPPY TO HAVE MERRILY AND ME AROUND!
SHE AND I HAVE BEEN THROUGH SO MANY THINGS TOGETHER—SHE FIGURES I MIGHT COME IN HANDY!
...THE LAST REASON IS THE ONE I HAD IN MIND!

STATE OF ILLINOIS
DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS AND BUILDINGS.
DIVISION OF WATERWAYS.

Sealed proposals for furnishing a used all steel nonpropelled ferry barge with all appurtenances and fittings necessary for ferry use will be received by the State of Illinois, Department of Public Works and Buildings, Division of Waterways, 201 West Monroe-street, Springfield, Illinois, until 10:00 A. M. Central War Time, May 20, 1942, and then publicly opened and read.

As an alternative, sealed proposals for furnishing all equipment, labor, materials, equipment and transportation and for doing all work necessary to construct a new all steel nonpropelled ferry barge will also be received at the same address and at the same time.

The proposed purchase of a new steel barge shall be without prejudice to the State and shall not be construed to be in violation of any existing Federal regulations concerning the use of critical materials.

The ferry barge shall conform to or be constructed in accordance with specifications, on file in the office of the Division of Waterways, 201 West Monroe-street, Springfield, Illinois, and in the Lockport office of the Division of Waterways, 855 State-street, Lockport, Illinois, where together with official bidding blanks, such may be obtained free of charge by interested parties.

Each proposal shall be accompanied by a Bank Cashier's Check or Bank Draft in the amount of at least ten [10] per cent of the total amount of the bid.
